On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. JOHNSON. We now have before us House Bill 909 with the new printers No. which is before us for immediate consideration. I believe that in the last three or four months I have persistently brought before this House what we stood for, that we stood for a broad base tax as the one way to balance the Governor's budget.

Today we are calling this bill up for a vote. I have every confidence that it will pass with Republican votes. I feel that today will be a great triumph for the Republican party and I am asking that this bill be brought to an immediate vote, and that the Republicans stick with us and pass it as Republicans and as a Republican measure so that we can end this Session and go home feeling that we have done the job that we were sent here to do.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I agree with the Majority Leader that there is no occasion for continued oratory at this time concerning this bill.

You know old Bill Brown was stumbling down the street. He was the town drunk. Somebody asked him, "Where are you going, Bill?" He said, "I am going down and I am going to get tight and Gosh, how I hate it."

So you are passing a sales tax bill of sorts, and Gosh, how some of you hate it or have hated it. You know you can lead a donkey to the trough, but you can't make him drink. It is a different case with an elephant; he will drink if you lead him to the trough often enough.

I want to congratulate the leadership of this House on the majority side for a performance which from their standpoint has been too long delayed. However, the delay has not been without reward as far as the general public is concerned.

I can remember a general sales tax reputedly loaded to raise $170 million. I remember that. It is quite a jump from the $170 million sales tax to the measure which we now consider.

By the way, Mr. Majority Leader, just what is it expected that this particular bill, which we now have the pleasure of considering, will raise? That might be interesting to the gentlemen of the Press. They will not have to guess if you tell them.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I will be glad to answer that query.

I believe I stated when we were considering the sales tax bill that with the very best type of collection which would be comparable to the state of California, which does an excellent job of collecting their sales tax, the one percent sales tax would raise during the full two-year period $170 million.

The way this bill is now drafted, it will not go into effect until September 1, so we of necessity have lost three months' revenue, which represents $18 million which we will not receive, which reduces the bill correspondingly. Taking clothing out of the bill, and shoes and restaurant meals will amount to between $25 and $30 million dollars. We estimate that the bill will now for the balance of the biennium take in, with very effective collection, possibly $125 million.

Mr. ANDREWS. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, a jump from $170 million to $125 million is some stride. We have during this period of delay, frustration and confusion, seen an executive budget reduced to the tune of at least $30 million. Those are considerable accomplishments for which somebody is going to take credit. As to where that credit belongs will be a matter debated at some considerable length during the months to come.

However, the supreme accomplishment is contained in a sentence expressed by the Majority Leader. He says that this bill has become a Republican party bill, that it expresses party philosophy, and that is exactly as it should be. We have had a period when the bill was perhaps the Speaker's bill, or the Majority Leader's bill, or was it by chance the Governor's bill, when it wandered around an orphan.

You have, or are about to have, judging by your smiling faces, reached a point where you have established party responsibility.

You say that your party philosophy is represented in this bill. We say that our philosophy at this time is represented in opposition to this bill. We would not have done it that way at this time. Some of us believe that taxes should be more equitably divided between the consumer who pays directly and the profits made by business, but that is a matter for future discussion, a matter that can be carried to the people.

I want to congratulate again the Majority Leader and the Speaker who, by some means or other, perhaps with some little assistance from this side of the House, have brought the Republican majority into his chamber as a party, as a team, accepting responsibility for Republican party policy as we accept responsibility for Democratic party policy.

I am sorry, as you all are sorry, that ailing Members of this House have found it necessary, because of their devotion to their party, to foreather with us today. My sympathy goes out to them. I congratulate them. I hope for their early recovery and the time when they can be with us, not intermittently, but every day. And so, Mr. Speaker, we go to a vote, and I still do not know just why it took nearly seven months to travel the weary trail that apparently ends today.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

HOUSE BILLS 1140, 1240 AND 1390 MADE SPECIAL ORDER

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, there are three very important bills on the calendar. Owing to the lateness of the hour, it is felt that these bills should be passed over this evening and taken up tomorrow.

Therefore, I want to say to the Membership that it is planned that we come back tomorrow morning at 9:00 a. m. Standard Time, 10:00 Daylight Saving Time. I am shortly going to move that these three important measures be made a special order of business for tomorrow morning at 9:30 a. m. Standard Time or 10:30 a. m. Daylight Saving Time.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I have been requested to announce that it is quite likely that there will be a call of the House tomorrow because of the extreme importance of these three measures, and the desirability that all Members be here to vote upon these very important bills.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I understand that those words should be more serious than "quite likely"—that there will be a call of the House at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow morning. Is that thoroughly understood by the Majority and Minority Floor Leaders?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, had I not been so rudely interrupted, I was about to say that I would amend what the Majority Leader had to say by adding that there would be a call of the House tomorrow, and that we will request that those Members not properly absent be sent for.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

RESOLUTION

CONDOLENCE

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES offered a resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, July 8, 1953.

The recent death of the Honorable Hiram B. Ganser, a former State Legislator from the Second Legislative District of Montgomery County is a great loss to his family, friends and community.

Mr. Ganser is survived by his wife, the former Ellen Oberholtzer, as well as by three daughters, two sons, five grandchildren, three great-grandchildren, and three brothers.

Mr. Ganser was a lifelong resident of Montgomery County. He was born at Zieglerville, spent several years at Lansdale and was educated in Bridgeport before moving to Norristown.

In addition to having been a telegrapher in the Reading Railroad yard early in life, Mr. Ganser spent thirty-five years as an employe of the Post Office Department.

His services to the community included active membership in many fraternal orders, membership in a fire company, and as an official of various baseball leagues in the area in which he lived.

During his long residence in the borough of Norristown, Mr. Ganser held many offices and was the recipient of many honors. Among these were: secretary, Knights of Friendship and chairman of the 50th and 75th anniversaries of this organization whose convention was held in Norristown; member General Grant Council, No. 82, Junior Order United American Mechanics and chairman of their State Convention held in Norristown; a member for 44 years of Norris Hose Co., 28 years its secretary and two years its president; chairman, executive committee, Montgomery County Firemen's Association; member executive committee, Pennsylvania State Firemen's Association; treasurer for 12 years of Norristown Firemen's Union and Relief Association; chairman, Valley Forge Memorial Museum of Pennsylvania Firemen's Association, whose objective was to erect a new museum at the Valley Forge Chapel; member Charity Lodge No. 190 F. and A. M.; secretary Norristown Lodge No 213 Loyal Order of Moose in which organization he had held every executive office at some time.

Mr. Ganser's long and useful career was a credit to himself and to his community, and earned the respect and appreciation of his many friends and neighbors; therefore be it

Resolved, That this House of Representatives hereby extends its heartfelt sympathy and condolences to Mrs. Helen Oberholtzer Ganser, and to Mr. Ganser's children on their recent bereavement; and be it fuorther

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to Mrs. Ganser and to the children of Mr. Ganser.

CONDOLENCE

Mr. HALL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to present a privileged resolution in memory of the Honorable John F. Stone, who will be remembered by the older members on the other side of the House as a man serving in the 1931-1933-1935 Sessions and who died at his home in Coudersport on Sunday. On behalf of his friends and relatives, I present this resolution.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, July 8, 1953.

Unquestionably one of Pennsylvania's finest citizens, John F Stone, passed away at his home in Coudersport, June 7, 1953.

He was born March 2, 1862 in Harrison Township, the son of the late Levi and Hannah Stone.

His life was typical of the success of an Horatio Alger hero. At the age of 12, he began earning his own living. Borrowing time from his leisure hours, he attended high school and business college. Realizing that he was destined for greater things, he began the study of law and was admitted to practice before the courts of Pennsylvania in 1896.

Drawing upon his vast wealth of knowledge and experience he organized and became president of six banks. He was one of the original gas prospectors in Pennsylvania and, was in addition president of several gas, water and chemical companies.

John Stone's life was not devoted solely to the financial world, but rather his success in the art of finance formed a typical pattern for his other activities.

He was a man with an unfathomable feeling of loyalty to his fellowmen. He devoted most of his life and ability toward alleviating the adverse circumstances of the unfortunate, the ill and the bereaved.

To his community church and fraternities, he was the perfect member, he was never too busy or too tired to serve.

He faced life with a firm belief in God and the sure knowledge that right and principal were not to be sacrified upon the altars of necessity and expediency.

The reflection he cast upon the mirror of time shall not diminish with its passage, but shall forever shine as an example to all men of the man they shou'd be; now therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives adopt this resolution as a memorial tribute to the late John F. Stone and to the full and good life that was his; and be it further Resolved, That the Clerk of the House of Representatives send a copy of this resolution to Mrs. Chester Sheffer, 2103 North Third Street, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania and Miss Marion Stone, Coudersport, Pennsylvania.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. GOODLING asked and obtained unanimous consent to adress the House.

Mr. Speaker, it seems to have become the custom of this House to attack the distinguished gentlemen who face us as we sit in our seats. I want to continue that procedure just briefly this morning.

Several weeks ago in a Rebublican caucus in speaking about the sa'es tax bill, and speaking for the organized farm organizations, I made this statement. I said it was the opinion of this group that if industrial machinery was to be exempt under the sales tax, farm machinery aso should be exempt. If, on the other hand, industrial machinery was to be taxed, we definitely wanted farm machinery to be taxed.

The bill as written definitely states that farm machinery is taxed. Apparent'y practically every newspaper in Pennsylvania this morning carries a statement saying that farm machinery is exempt under this bill. I again checked with the proper authorities this morning and they have again reassured me that farm machinery is taxed under the bill, and I trust the distinguished gentlemen of the Press will make that correction when they write their next article.

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, that has been the custom in past Sessions and will be the procedure for this Session.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

RECESS

The SPEAKER. The Chair at this time without objection will declare a recess for one-half hour for the purpose of holding a Democratic Caucus and a Republican Caucus.

The Chair would request that the Members go promptly to their respective caucus rooms.

The Chair hears no objection, and a recess is declared for one-half hour.

RECESS

The SPEAKER. Due to the fact that the Republican Caucus is still in session, without objection the Chair will declare a recess until 2:00 o'clock EST. The Chair hears none, and a recess is declared.

AFTER RECESS

The time of recess having expired, the House was called to order.

The SPEAKER (Charles C. Smith) in the Chair.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. KELLER asked and obtained permission for the Committee on State Government to meet during the session of the House.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, we passed First Reading bills earlier today, and the bills were not on file. I do not know whether there was an agreement with anybody to do that or not, but certainly it is not the Rule of the House that bills should be passed when they are not on file. There are several bills not on file that are on the calendar, Senate Bills.

The SPEAKER. At the time the Chair took up the First Reading calendar the members were informed that the Chair was going to do so. The Chair was not informed that the bills were not on file and at that time no Member objected.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. YOUNG asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, last Monday on the floor of the House in reply to an interrogation by the Minority Leader, I stated "you give me the money and I will give you the bill"—we were discussing House Bill 1165, commonly known as the FEPC bill.

I could weasel out of that agreement very nicely by saying "You did not give us the money, we got it ourselves," but I made the statement and I shall fulfill my promise.

Accordingly I am advising the Members of the Labor Relations Committee that I will call a meeting next Monday for the consideration of House Bill 1165, the FEPC bill.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to thank the gentleman for his frank and consistent attitude in this particular situation, and to express the wonder whether in getting the money he would at least credit us with an assist.

SPECIAL ORDER ON HOUSE BILL NO. 1140

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Sec. 1, page 11, line 2, by striking out "one member" and inserting in lieu thereof "two members".

Amend Sec. 1, page 11, line 4, by striking out "two members" and inserting in lieu thereof "one member."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I would like briefly for the information of the Members of the House to explain this amendment.

The amendment merely gives two Members in the City of Altoona, and one to the rest of the county at large. That makes the two districts in Blair County.

My reasons for presenting the amendments are these, which I trust the Members throughout this House will find just and equitable and vote accordingly.

According to the 1950 census, which is the Federal census on which reapportionment is based, and according to the unit, they can have by the Constitution of Pennsylvania 52,400 per assembly district. Blair County at large including the City of Altoona, has 139,514. Altoona City exclusive of Blair County had 77,177. That means the population in Blair County outside of the City limits of Altoona is 62,337.

On the basis of the unit on which reapportionment is based of 52,400, this makes a hangover in the county over the basic unit of 52,400 of 9,937. In the City of Altoona, considering the same basic unit and considering the population of the City of Altoona, it makes a hangover over the basic unit of 24,777. In other words 15,000 more of a hangover than is in the rest of the County.

Yet in the bill as it stands now, without it being amended, the rest of Blair County outside of the City of Altoona, gets two Members and the City of Altoona only gets one Member.

I could, Mr. Speaker,—and I talked to numerous lawyers beside myself about it—very seriously raise the question of constitutionality on this bill, on this particular section as it stands now.

However, I am not going to do that. I am simply going to appeal to the fairness, justice, and the reasonableness of the Members of this House, as to whether they consider that method of reapportionment fair or not. And to ask you to vote for this amendment, so that the reapportionment in Blair County will be really equitable according to the figures as I have cited them.

Mr. GEORGE E. JONES. Mr. Speaker, I oppose this amendment for different reasons. Altoona City a few years ago had just one Representative and later they took in a lot of territory around the outside of Altoona and the district remained the same.

As it is now Altoona really has three Representatives and of course part of that district is in our district. I oppose this simply because I think, it is maybe a little personal matter, we have something to go on.

It will not be very long until Altoona is going to be just a suburb of Hollidaysburg, by the way, and you know Hollidaysburg, we are very proud of. There is not another post office or town in the whole United States by that name, and we are proud of it. Mr. Erb and I are both from Hollidaysburg, and I know we will both oppose it. We would like everybody else to oppose this amendment.

Mr. WEIDNER. Mr. Speaker, you have heard from Mr. Auker the description of the present districts as they have been laid out in Blair County at the present time. That is, that the City of Altoona is number one district with one Representative, and the rural area number two with two Representatives.

At the present time in district two, in addition to boroughs and townships, there are also several wards from the city connected with that district and represented by these rural Representatives.

As you know, reapportionment of legislative districts has not been accomplished since 1921, and many annexations to cities and boroughs likewise have been made, causing many of the present Members to be in the same position as that of the rural Members of Blair County.

In setting up House Bill 1140, wards and rural districts that are to be included, it leaves the City of Altoona with a higher population than the rural districts at present.

However, since the population in the City of Altoona is decreasing continuously and the rural area has increased and is considerably increased, ever since the 1950 census, it was deemed advisable, and it is not unconstitutional to let the districts as the bill provides at the present time.

I, therefore, ask all the Members of this House to vote down this amendment that have been presented by Mr. Auker.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Chairman, it is rather embarrassing, for me to get into a conflict with my fellow Members from Blair County. As a matter of fact, I and one other Member slept in the same room last night, and we were glad enough to get that after things turned out the way they did. I want to assure the Members of the House and my two colleagues especially, that whatever happens to these amendments, I shall bear personally no ill feelings whatsoever, and my feelings toward everybody will be just the same as they are now.

As to the growth of Altoona City and as to the growth of Blair County, again we must go back to figures and, of course, there is the old adage that "figures won't lie, but liars will figure"; but in the case of the 1950 Federal census and as of any Federal census, I think we can take it as a matter of fact and as a basic truth that figures do not lie in this case, and liars have not figured in this particular instance.

In 1940 the population of Blair County was 140,358 and the population of Altoona was 80,214, a difference of 60,144. Over a period of ten years from 1940 to 1950, there was a gain in the County over the City of 2,193 or an average per year of 219 people. If you carry out that formula, certainly in the next ten years the rest of Blair County will not even begin to gain equality in population with the city of Altoona. Certainly in this tremendous increase in population in the county over the city has taken place at all, it has taken place since World War II started and up until 1950. I believe we can assume with some reasonableness that the apex of population growth in the area such as the central part of Pennsylvania has possibly been reached.

Therefore, I say to you that the arguments of the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Jones, and the arguments of the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Weidner, do not hold water, and that these figures that I have previously cited to you do hold water. I sincerely ask you, on the basis of the argument that I previously made, and on the basis of the rebuttal that I am making here as to why they have let the reapportionment down in Blair County remain as it is, should not prevail, and these amendments that I have offered should prevail. Again I honestly and sincerely ask the Members of this House to vote the way they feel, constitutionally, in equity and fairness on the basis of these 1950 figures.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, having heard the issue presented as far as the minority is concerned I presume it will vote its individual convictions, upon the merits of the case, as that case has been presented by the protagonists.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring.

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, for many years there has been a need for a purely objective approach to the problem of legislative reapportionment. The experience of the years showed us the manifest defactions of the purely political approach to this very important problem.

Early in the session it was my opportunity to introduce a resolution, still in the custody of the Rules Committee, which would have established a non-partisan committee or commission which would have been directed to report for the consideration of this General Assembly a reapportionment plan.

We suggested in that resolution that someone representing the department of political science of the University of Pittsburgh, the University of Pennsylvania, Pennsylvania State College, Temple University, the State President of the League of Women Voters, the President of the Pennsylvania Bar Association, two Members of the Senate to be appointed by the President pro Tempore of the Senate, one member from each of the major political parties, and two Members of this House to be appointed by the Speaker of this House, one member from each political group.

It was our thought that such a commission would be able to prepare for our consideration a reapportionment in which the equities of each situation would be measured without any reference to the personal equation. In its wisdom, or its discretion, it pleased the Rules Committee not to report that resolution, with the result that we have before us a reapportionmen bill that comes through the usual channels and shot with the usual defects of reapportionment that comes through those channels.

It is my conviction that no Democratic political group, purely Democratic in its political affiliations would form a fair reapportionment plan, and it is also my conviction that no purely Republican group is very likely to present a reapportionment plan purely objective in its outlines.

There has been a need for Legislative reapportionment. For what reason? To cure existing inequalities. But you do not cure existing equalities by perpetuating and creating new ones.

After having given mature consideration to this bill, I find that in many instances I can commend the work of the committee, but when I look in other directions I find evidences of gross inequalities and injustices which it is proposed to write into our existing political situation for the next ten years, perhaps for the next twenty years. And because of the inequalities which the pending measure carries I find it impossible to support this bill, and I believe the Members of the minority group find it impossible not because of their own particular situations, but because in some instances members of the minority group have been benefited politically by this bill. But if the benefits strike unjustly at some other group it is not going to lead us in the right direction.

So I am regretfully, on the basis of what I believe is the long range need of this Commonwealth, requesting the Members of the House to defeat this bill and maintain their position until we have a better bill presented for our consideration.

Mr. WEIDNER. Mr. Speaker, I think all of you Members realize and know the fact that House Bill 1140 was referred to the Elections and Apportionment Committee on April 15th. On May 27th this Committee had a meeting and reported this bill out with quite a number of amendments to it.

Several of these amendments were correctional amendments and the other amendments were concessions made to the minority party.

Up to the present time I think you will agree that there has been sufficient time for anyone to bring in requests or complaints, whatever they may have been, to this Committee in the form of amendments that could change whatever plans they had in mind.

Yes, I can truthfully tell you that I had many requests by word to change possibly a township or a borough from one district to another without its being in printed form.

As I told you this bill has been on the calendar for a number of weeks. I think you will also agree that a few weeks ago at the request from one of the members of a group of the minority side, that a compromise should be made. I think you also realize that this compromise was permitted on this side of the House.

Immediately after the Session ended on that day I approached the leader of that group and asked him for his plan. I did not receive a plan from that particular leader until a few days ago, and in the plan he submitted, he left out three wards and a borough, which automatically would have been unconstitutional in this bill.

I also remind you of this fact that an agreement had been made between majority and minority parties, that any request coming from the minority side should be cleared through a representative from your state organization.

I am sorry to say that very few requests went to that particular person. Several conferences were held with this representative, and I can truthfully tell you that those requests as far as I am concerned, were practically all cleared up.

As you may recall, some of these requests were cleared up just this past Tuesday when the bill was called up on second reading, and I personally presented several amendments to this bill. Those amendments were added to House Bill 1140 which you have on your desk at the present time. This was agreed upon both by myself and this particular representative with whom I had this conference.

What other little differences there were, were very mild, I can assure you of that. And if any other requests were to be made through this source, they were not presented to this representative.

I want to say to you right now, due to the fact that this bill has been on this calendar for these many weeks, I feel that it was very unfair on the part of the minority to me, and to the members of this Committee, and especially the sponsors of this bill, who were responsible for drawing up this bill.

I say this because of the fact that you have not presented your requests or your arguments in writing to any of the members who were the sponsors of this bill.

I think at some time or other every Member in this House has worked on a jig-saw puzzle. There you simply had to take every little piece and tie it into the proper place. I want to assure every one of you Members of this House that in preparing a piece of legislation of this kind, it is one of the greatest jig-saw puzzles I have ever approached in trying to make a job of which I feel proud in House Bill 1140.

Many factors had to be considered in drawing up this bill from the constitutional standpoint. First of all let me assure you that several counties gained considerable population since the last reapportionment bill was established, while other counties decreased in population. When I started preparing this bill I had to apply and take all my figures from the 1950 census.

I found in screening the sixty-seven counties of this state we had thirty-three counties that are entitled to one Representative, and no more by reason of not having a greater population than the ratio allowed them as figured through this 1950 census.

I found that counties with more than one there was no change. Counties to lose one or more, there were eight, and counties to gain one or more, there were nine. Establishing the ratio as compiled with by the Constitution, we find that the ratio for each Member consists of 52,490.

There were other factors we had to consider in this measure. We found that counties with less than five Members could receive that additional fifth Member with more than a full half of a ratio. We also found that counties that has five Members and had more than half were not entitled because all counties with a membership of five or more Members would have to have a full ratio in order to gain that one Member.

I am just pointing out a few things to show you what kind of a job this has been, how much time had to be consumed in order to bring out this bill in such shape that it would meet the provisions as provided in our Constitution.

I think most of you Members can appreciate what it means to put together, as I have said, this big jig-saw puzzle. It had been suggested, as has been called to our attention before, about another group, outside, together with possible Members of this House and Members of the Senate to establish a bill of this kind.

In the very beginning of this particular job to which I was assigned, we agreed that it was the duty of this House to establish their own bill with legislation for the establishment of reapportioning legislative districts. It was the job of the Senate to reestablish the districts within their body. Se we started and worked from that angle.

I can assure you when I learned of all these factors that were involved, all these matters that had to be considered, in order to try to keep everything within the Constitution, an ordinary layman would not be in a position to tackle a job of this kind.

I am willing to believe that if a job of that kind would be established by the layman, it would remind me about what happened in our industries not too many years ago, when they called in outside men to become efficiency men to try to produce better results within the industry—and I do not have to tell you what the results were.

Again let me remind you of this fact. Some of the Members came to me and pointed out what they thought were inequities or irregularities as this bill is set up for the various individual counties.

When you approach the present setup, as some of these districts are established at the present time, you will find from one extreme to the other where one Member may represent as many as 150,000 in one district, while in the same county another Member may represent as few as or less than 10,000.

You may also find many districts, where two Members may represent approximately less than 60,000 in that district or a ratio of 30,000 per Member.

In other instances you may find, with counties that are divided up geographically in such a manner that possibly the few Members may be living within a small radius from its other end, the balance of the county had no true representation throughout that area. Something is bound to happen to the Members of this House, when you find these irregularities and equalities existing as they are today.

I tried to hold to three specific things. I want to assure the membership in this House, both minority and majority, that personalities did not enter into the discussion at any time while preparing this bill.

First of all, I tried to hold these districts to come as near to the ratio as possible. I tried to draw up this bill from a geographical standpoint, that it would make it more convenient to Members so that they need not cover too many territories in trying to represent their people in the proper manner.

More serious than anything else I tried to prepare this bill in such a manner that it would be constitutional when it reached the Governor's desk.

Finally let me say this again. I feel that I have been fair in every respect. I feel that I have been fair to the representative you had chosen to meet with me in trying to iron out these difficulties.

I again want to say that I believe in most all instances those difficulties and those things that were to be ironed out were met in most cases by mutual agreement.

I want to remind the Members of this House, both minority and majority, last year you made a promise to the citizens of your community, the districts you represent, you made a promise to the people of the Commonwealth that you would support and work for the passage of a legislative reapportionment bill. What is going to be your answer, if you cast your negative vote on this bill, when you get back home and tell the people that you did not support it.

I feel this is a fair bill to both minority and majority. I feel you will have many questions to answer if you cast your vote on the negative side.

Again let me say I have tried to do my best to wipe out the inequalities that exist in such a manner that it is going to be in the best interests of the people of every district in this Commonwealth and the Members who represent it.

Sincerely and seriously I want to ask every Member of this House to support House Bill 1140.

Mr. VAUGHAN. Mr. Speaker, my good friend from Pittsburgh, John Jones of the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette, had in his column today a statement made by the Minority Leader of the party from Allegheny County, Doctor Sarraf.

In this statement Mr. Jones writes,

> Representative George J. Sarraf, Pittsburgh Chairman of the Allegheny County Democratic Delegation, which has ceased saving amendments to offer, declared that the House leadership will not agree to anything. They want to jam through their bill, or nothing.

After reading this, I felt that I had to get up and answer that statement. I want the Members of this House to know that when this bill was introduced into the hopper, John Haudenshield was put in charge of the bill for Allegheny County to check and see that everything was O.K. Mr. Haudenshield at that time was ill and turned the assignment over to me, which I took back to a caucus of the Members of this House from Allegheny County and the Senate, and our county chairman.

We went over the bill and discussed the bill thoroughly. The bill looked O.K. to us, and we O.K.'d it. Then I called Doctor Sarraf and talked to him on the floor.

I said, "Doctor, I would like to get together with you on this bill?"

He said, "O.K."

I said, "When?"

He said, "I will see you."

Well, that went on for a time. The Doctor never showed up. I kept bothering him about it, and he still never showed up.

Finally, we were invited to discuss the bill on the radio with the League of Women Voters of Allegheny County. We discussed the bill, and during the discussion of the bill, we were asked questions pro and con on this particular bill, and especially about the city of Pittsburgh.

The wind-up was that at the end of our session on the radio, a lady—I forget the lady's name who was asking the questions—asked Doctor Sarraf what he thought of the bill.

Doctor Sarraf said it was a good bill, but he said, I want you to know, Mrs. "whatever her name was," that I am a statesman, not a politician, and I shall vote against this particular bill.

I got it reversed, but you know what I mean.

He said, "If I were a statesman, I would vote for it, but being a politician I have to vote against it."

However, in the meantime, Senator Barr came over to Mr. Weidner and mentioned that a certain part of the bill was bad pertaining to the county, and Mr. Weidner asked me about it. It was, I believe, the 10th District that the bill cut up into two portions. In other words, the four Members were to run in two sections, two to be elected from each. I told Mr. Weidner at the time that I thought if four can be elected from Ross Township, four from Mount Lebanon, why shouldn't there be four from the Wilkensburg area? We agreed to have that amended to read four from that district, which was done immediately.

To get on with this story about jamming the bill down their throats, finally the Doctor showed up the night before last with a program. No, it was a little ahead of that. He gave me a program about a week ago. After I looked the program over I called him and I said, "Why, Doctor, you are missing a few things here."

He said, "What is it?"

I said, "Well, what do we do with the 29th ward, the 30th ward, the 31st ward, the 32nd ward, Mount Oliver?"

He said, "Well, do not worry about it, kid, we will put it some place."

Well, the night before last—in all seriousness—the Doctor did come up with a program, that is the day Mr. Weidner offered the correctional amendments to the 10th district, and so on, and he came up with a program and asked—that was when permission was given on the floor to offer amendments on third reading and final pasage.

That afternoon we got together with a representative from the State Committee, Miss Blatt, and we sat in there and tried to straighten the thing out and found out that everybody was going to be fixed up but the Doctor, and what about him?

We have been figuring last night, and up to 2:00 a.m. this morning, Garret Richter set up trying to figure it out with him. I tried to figure it out, in fact, I came up with a bill as late as 11:00 a.m. today which one of the Members has over there now, that is, amendments, and so on.

The main thing I want to bring out is this, that the Doctor admitted to me, and he admitted to the radio audience and the League of Women Voters, that this bill, House Bill 1140, if it were voted on in the last election, the Democrats would have the same number of Democrats down here from Pittsburgh, and we would have the same number of Republicans from Pittsburgh.

Mr. SARRAF. Mr. Speaker, I am going to make this extremely brief.

Everything that Mr. Vaughan has said has been correct, especially the last item wherein he states the number of Demorcrats who would return to the House would be identical, the only difference would be that Doctor Sarraf may not come back, and Mr. Mihm may not come back, and Mr. Olsen may not come back, so that you would have Democrats, probably by the name of Vaughan —I mean Snyder, Jones, or others.

So thanks very much for all you did for me.

On the question, recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. LEVEN filed the following reasons for his vote on House Bill 1140:

In voting against this bill, I do so with the full knowledge of my responsibility as a member of this General Assembly. I know the constitutional requirements and I want everyone to know that a bill to receive my support would not necessarily have to be a bill of such perfection that no flaw could be found in it. But when such a monstrosity as this is to be pawned off upon the people of Pennsylvania, as a reapportionment bill, then I feel conscience and duty bound to have all of the members of the General Assembly to vote against it. There are many inequities in this present reapportionment of the Commonwealth but this bill not only fails to correct the inequity but creates a great many more.

The Constitution never intended that a member of the General Assemly in order to obey the letter of the Constitution would be compelled to violate the spirit of the Constitution.

When a bill before this General Assembly is unfair and not based upon a desire to serve the whole state of Pennsylvania then every member ought to cast his vote against it.

I will vote at any time for a fair representative reapportionment bill.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. JOHNSON asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I would just like to say now that the vote has been announced, despite the fact that the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Weidner, pointed out that the bill was eminently fair, had been given a great deal of study was an excellent job well done, and had been practically agreed upon in conference between himself and high-level members of the Democratic high command, yet there was not a single Democratic vote for this bill. I think that is significant, and I regret to have seen this bill go down today.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, it is significant, very significant, that we who have carried the banner for fair legislative reapportionment for 20 years should have voted against this bill! It is so significant that we will be very glad to carry this bill, with its defects, to the people of this Commonwealth and answer on every corner in the state the reasons why we took stand we did today.

SPECIAL ORDER ON HOUSE BILL 1240

Mr. KENT. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill 1240, Printer's No. 389, be made a Special Order of Business on third reading and final passage immediately.

The motion was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. The Chair lays before the House the Special Order of Business fixed for this time.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1240, as follows:

Article II

Oil and Gas Wells Located on Land Known to be Underlaid With One or More Workable Seams of Coal

Section 21 Well Operator's Responsibility Before and During Drilling (a) Before drilling for oil or gas at a location known to be underlaid with one or more workable seams of coal the well operator shall have a plat prepared by a competent engineer showing the political subdivision and county in which the tract of land is located the name and acreage of the same the proposed location of the well determined by survey the courses and distances of such location from two permanent points or landmarks on said tract and the number to be given the well and the workable coal seams underlying said tract which are to be protected in accordance with provisions of section twenty-four of this act and shall forward by registered mail a copy of the plat to the Oil and Gas Division and copies to the owner of the coal and to every coal operator if any operating said seams of coal beneath said tract of land It shall be the duty of the Oil and Gas Division to send notice of the fact that such plat has been filed within ten (10) days of the receipt of such plat to every other coal operator operating said seams of coal within one thousand (1000) feet of the proposed well who has mapped the same and filed his maps with the Department of Mines as required by law If no objections are made to such proposed location within ten (10) days from receipt of such plat and notice by such coal operators or owners the same shall be filed and become a permanent record of such location subject to inspection at any time by any interested person The notice may be given to the coal operator by delivering or mailing it as above to any agent or superintendent in actual charge of mines

(b) It shall be the duty of the well operator to carefully keep a true driller's log of the drilling of such well Such log shall show the character and depth of the formations passed through or encountered in the drilling of such well and show depth of the gas or oil bearing strata and the depth and thickness of the various coal seams The log shall show whether the well is gas or oil producing or whether it is a non-productive well

(c) A copy of such log shall be furnished to the Oil and Gas Division within thirty (30) days after the completion of such well The log shall be kept on file by the Oil and Gas Division

Section 22 Drilling Permit Agreed Location of Wells Docket of Proceedings (a) In case any location referred to in section twenty-one is made above or within one thousand (1000) feet of any abandoned coal mine or operating coal mine or coal mine already surveyed and platted but not yet being operated so that the well or the pillar of coal about the well necessary to the protection of the mine and of the well itself when drilled will interfere with or endanger such mine then the coal operator or operators affected shall have the right if the drilling of a well at such proposed location will interfere with or cause a dangerous condition in their mine or mines to file within ten (10) days from receipt of such coal operator objections in writing (on a form to be furnished by the division) to such proposed location with the Oil and Gas Division setting out therein as definitely as is reasonably possible the ground or grounds on which such objections are based and indicating the direction and distance from the location shown that the proposed well should be drilled to overcome such objections If no such objections are filed or are found to exist by the Oil and Gas Division within said period of ten (10) days to such proposed location the division shall forthwith issue to the well operator a drilling permit reciting the filing of such plat that no objections have been made by the coal operators to the location or found to exist by the division and that the location is approved and that the well operator is authorized to proceed to drill at such location

(b) If any objections are filed by any coal operator or are made by the Oil and Gas Division the division shall direct that a hearing be held in accordance with the provisions of section forty-one The notice of hearing shall contain a statement of the nature of the objections raised with respect to such proposed location At said hearing the well operator and such coal operators as are present or represented shall proceed to consider the objections and to agree upon the location as made or on such other location as will satisfy such objections and be approved by the division If such parties are unable to agree upon a location satisfactory to the division then the division shall by an appropriate order fix a location on such tract of land as near to the original location as possible where the well can be drilled safely in the judgment of the division taking into consideration the dangers from creeps squeezes or other disturbances due to the extraction of coal Such new location as agreed upon by the parties or as fixed by the division shall be indicated on the plat on file with the division and the distance and direction of the new location from the original location shall be shown and as so altered the plat shall be filed and become a permanent record Whereupon the division shall issue to the well operator a drilling permit reciting the filing of said plat and that the well operator is authorized to drill at such location The well operator shall not drill any well at a location different from that shown on said plan without the consent of the Oil and Gas Division

(c) The coal operator if any shall within sixty (60) days of commencement of drilling the well locate the well by a closed survey on the same datum as the mine workings or boundaries affected

(d) The oil and gas division shall number and keep an index of and docket each plat and notice mailed to it as provided in section twenty-one of this act entering in such docket the name of the well operator names of the coal operators notified and their addresses the date of receipt of any such plat and of all objections filed dates of hearings and all actions taken by division permits issued or refused This docket shall be open to inspection by the public and together with the papers filed shall constitute the record of each proceeding before the division

(e) Any party to the aforesaid proceeding before the division who has not agreed to the location as determined herein and who excepts to the order of the division issued hereunder may appeal to the court of common pleas pursuant to the provisions of section forty-one Any such appeal shall be expedited as far as is reasonably possible having regard to possible drainage or loss of title by the well operator through its failure to complete a well within the period fixed by the terms of the lease under which it holds The court may by an interluctory order stay the drilling of the well until a final decision on the appeal and upon the granting of such stay the court may in its discretion require the filing of a bond to the Commonwealth for the use of all parties aggrieved in such sum and conditioned as the court may by its order direct or may grant such stay upon such other terms and conditions as the court in its discretion may prescribe

Section 23 Coal Operator's Responsibility upon Approaching Wells Already Drilled or Located (a) Hereafter before removing any coal or other material or extending the workings in any coal mine within one hundred and fifty (150) feet of any well the coal operator shall forward by registered mail to or file with the well operator and the oil and gas division a copy of the parts of its maps and plans which it is required by law to prepare and file with the division and bring to date from time to time showing pillars to be left in place for protection of the wells in the projected workings The coal operator affected by this provision shall file his plan of mining showing the pillars to be left for the protection of the wells in the projected workings for approval by the division as far in advance of the time when he will be within five hundred (500) feet of such well as is practicable If in the opinion of any well operator such plan of mining showing the pillar or pillars to be left for the protection of the well or wells are insufficient in size to provide such protection or will endanger the well or wells or cause its or their abandonment then the well operator or operators affected may within ten (10) days from receipt by them of such notice file objections in writing (on a form to be furnished by the division) to such proposed plan of mining operations showing the proposed pillar or pillars to be left for the protection of the well or wells setting out therein as definitely as is reasonably possible the ground or grounds on which such objections are based and indicating what pillar or pillars should be left to overcome such objections If no objections are filed within said ten (10) day period or are found to exist by the oil and gas division the division shall forthwith issue a permit to the coal operator reciting the filing of said maps or plans that no objections have been made thereto and that the coal operator is authorized to proceed with his mining operations in the manner as projected

(b) If any objections are filed by such well operator or are found to exist by the oil and gas division the division shall direct that a hearing be held in accordance with the provisions of section forty-one The notice of hearing shall contain a statement of the nature of the objections raised with respect to such pillar or pillars At such hearing the coal operator and such well operators as are present or represented shall proceed to consider the objections and to agree upon a proposed plan of mining showing the pillar or pillars to be left for protection of the well or wells If such parties are unable to agree upon a plan of mining showing the pillar to be left with respect to each well in question the division shall by an appropriate order subject to the standards set forth in this section determine a plan of mining showing the pillar to be left with respect to each well which shall be as nearly as possible like the original plan filed by the coal operator as will provide sufficient protection for each of said wells taking into consideration the dangers from creep squeeze or other disturbances due to the extracton of coal Such new plan of mining showing the pillar to be left with respect to each well shall be indicated on the maps or plans on file with the division as provided in subsection (a) of this section and the division shall thereupon issue to the coal operator a permit to proceed with his mining operations in the manner projected upon such maps or plans

(c) Whenever a permit shall have been issued by the oil and gas division under this section approving or requiring a certain plan of mining for the leaving of a specified pillar for the protection of each of the wells in the projected workings and it shall thereafter be demonstrated by further mining operations in the area that the size of any pillar to be left is insufficient for the protection of any well then the oil or gas operator may file a petition with the oil and gas division to review such plan of mining showing the pillar to be left with respect to any well still to be protected in the course of the mining operations and following the procedure hereinabove in this section prescribed the oil and gas division may determine and order subject to the standards set forth in this section a different plan of mining showing the pillar to be left thereafter with respect to each such well which shall be as nearly as possible like the original plan filed by the coal operator as will provide sufficient protection for each of said wells

(d) Application may be made at any time to the oil and gas division by the coal operator to mine or remove coal or conduct his mining operations in a manner different from that shown on the plans filed pursuant to the preceding paragraphs of this section If any such application is filed the division shall hold a hearing thereon pursuant to the provisions of section forty-one Following such hearing the division may determine and order subject to the standards set forth in this section a different plan of mining showing a different size of pillar with respect to each well to be left thereafter

(e) In any proceeding to determine the pillar to be left with respect to any well the division shall not require the coal operator to leave a pillar in excess of one hundred (100) feet in radius except that in any such proceeding if it is established that a pillar of larger size is necessary to protect said well the division may require a pillar up to but not exceeding one hundred fifty (150) feet in radius The coal operator shall not without the consent of the division remove any coal or other material or cut any passageway so as to leave a pillar of less size or different location with respect to the well than shown on said plan as filed and agreed to by the well operator or as determined by the oil and gas division The well operator shall at all times have the right to negotiate and agree with the coal operator for the leaving of a pillar larger than that which the coal operator is required to leave by the provisions of this section

(f) The oil and gas division shall docket and keep a record of all proceedings under this section twenty-three substantially as required in section twenty-two and from any such final decision or order of the oil and gas division any dissatisfied party may appeal to the common pleas court of the county in which the well about which approval of such further operations is involved is located as provided in section forty-one

Section 24 Protective Devices (a) When a well is drilled through a coal seam from which the coal has been removed the hole shall be drilled at least thirty (30) feet below the coal seam of a sufficient size to permit the placing of at least a one quarter (¼) inch thick steel pipe liner The liner shall extend from a point not less than twenty-five (25) feet below the coal seam to a point not less than twenty-five (25) feet above the same The liner shall be fastened to the casing at the bottom end and the casing shall be centrally located within the liner The annular space between the largest casing and liner shall be filled with aquagel or pure hydraulic cement The casing shall be raised off the bottom of the hole at least the distance of one joint of casing then pure hydraulic cement grout shall be placed in the well through the casing to a depth of twenty (20) feet After grout has been placed the casing shall be lowered to the bottom In each case where cement is used to set casing strings at least forty-eighty (48) hours shall be allowed for the proper setting of the cement All casing strings shall be equipped with either approved packers or casing shoes and the annular space between all casing strings shall be closed at the surface with suitable casing head devices permitting the free flow of gas either to atmosphere or to pipe line and preventing dirt or debris of any type from falling into the annular space

(b) Should it be found necessary to drill through two or more workable coal seams from which the coal has been removed such liner shall be started not less than twenty-five (25) feet below the lowest such seam penetrated and shall extend to a point not less than twenty-five (25) feet above the highest such seam

(c) The district inspector of the Department of Mines and the coal operator shall be given at least forty-eight (48) hours notice by the well operator when the well is to be sealed through the coal seam

(d) A well penetrating one or more workable coal seams as determined by the permit issued under section twenty-two hereof shall be drilled to such depth and of such size as will permit the placing of casing and packers in the hole at such points and in such manner as will exclude all oil gas or gas pressure from the workable coal seam except such as may be found in the workable coal seam itself Each string of casing run in the hole shall be provided with a steel casing shoe or collar firmly fixed on the bottom of the string of casing The outer string of casing run through any workable coal seam shall be at least one quarter (¼) inch in thickness and shall be seated at least thirty (30) feet below such workable coal seam or if run through more than one workable coal seam then thirty (30) feet below the lowest of such workable coal seams in twenty (20) feet of neat hydraulic cement aquagel or other equally non-porous material and such casing string shall extend to the surface The space outside the largest diameter casing running through a workable coal seam shall be filled with neat cement aquagel or other equally non-porous material to the surface The district inspector of the Department of Mines and coal operator or owner shall be given at least forty-eight (48) hours notice by the well operator when the well is to be protected through the coal seam

(e) In the event that gas is found beneath a workable coal seam before the hole has been reduced from the size it had at the coal seam a packer or cement plug shall be placed below the coal seam and above the gas horizon and the gas by this means diverted to the inside of the adjacent string of casing through perforations made in such casing and through it passed to the surface without contact with the coal seam Should gas be found between two workable seams of coal in a hole of the same diameter from seam to seam two packers or cement plugs shall be placed with perforations in the casing between them permitting the gas to pass to the surface inside the adjacent casing In either of the cases here specified the strings of casing shall extend from their seats to the top of the well

(f) In the event that a well becomes productive of natural gas or petroleum all coal protecting strings of casing shall remain in place during the life of the well the annular space between the various strings of casing adjacent to workable seams of coal shall be kept open except as provided in subsection (e) of this section and the top ends of all such strings shall be provided with casing heads or such other suitable devices as will permit the passage of gas into the air or into a pipeline and prevent the filling of such annular spaces with dirt or debris

Section 25 Notice of Intention to Plug or Abandon a Well Prior to the abandonment of any well the well operator shall notify the coal operator or operators or owner or owners of workable coal seams to whom notices are required to be given by the well operator by section twenty-one of this act and the district inspector of the Department of Mines of his intention to plug and abandon any such well giving the number of the well and its location and fixing the time at which the work of plugging and filling will be commenced which time shall not be less than forty-eight (48) hours after the time when such notice is received or in due course should be received by the district inspector of the Department of Mines said operators and owners in order that a respresentative or representatives of the coal operator or operators and owner or owners of workable coal and of the Department may be present at the plugging and filling of the well Such notice may be waived by the district Inspector of the Department of Mines and said operators and owners and they may likewise waive their right to be present but such waiver shall be in writing and a copy thereof attached to notice of abandonment filed with the Department of Mines under this section Whether such representatives appear or do not appear the well operator may proceed at the time fixed to plug and fill the well in the manner hereinafter described When such plugging and filling have been completed a certificate shall be made (on a form to be furnished by the oil and gas division) by two experienced men who participated in the work in which certificate shall be set forth the time and manner in which the well was plugged and filled One copy of this certificate shall be retained by the well operator and another true copy shall be mailed to the oil and gas division

Section 26 Method of Plugging and Abandoning Upon abandoning or ceasing to operate any well which passes through a workable coal seam the owner or operator thereof shall plug the same in the following manner

(d) For all purposes of this act the outside boundaries of a storage reservoir shall be defined by the location of those wells around the periphery of the storage stratum which had no gas production in said stratum provided however that the boundaries as thus defined shall be originally fixed or subsequently changed where based upon the number and nature of such wells upon the geological and production knowledge of the storage stratum its character permeability and distribution and past operating experience it is determined in a proceeding under section forty-one that modification should be made

Section 32 Filing of Maps and Data by Persons Operating Coal Mines (a) The person owning or operating any operating coal mine shall file with the oil and gas division and upon the written request of any person who is storing or is contemplating the storage of gas in the vicinity of such operating coal mine furnish to such person a map showing the outside coal boundaries of said operating coal mine which map shall show the existing workings and the relationship of said boundaries to identifiable surface properties and landmarks If after receipt of such map the person who is storing or is contemplating storing gas in the vicinity of said operating coal mine shall notify in writing the owner of the operating coal mine that he desires to be informed of any change in the said boundaries of such operating coal mine by reason of the subsequent acquisition of additional coal properties or by reason of subsequent disposition of any portion or portions thereof additional maps shall be furnished at the time of such acquisition or disposition.

(b) The person owning or operating any operating coal mine which on the date of the enactment of this act is or which thereafter comes within ten thousand (10,000) linear feet of a storage reservoir shall within forty-five (45) days after the effective date of this act or the occurence of such event whichever shall be later file with the oil and gas division and furnish to the person operating such storage reservoir a map in the form hereinabove provided showing in addition the existing and projected excavations and workings for the ensuing eighteen (18) month period of such operating coal mine and shall also include the location of any wells of which said coal operator shall have knowledge Such person owning or operating said operating coal mine shall each six (6) months thereafter file with the oil and gas division and furnish to the person operating such storage reservoir an additional map indicating any additional excavations and workings together with the projected excavations and workings for the then ensuing eighteen (18) month period which may be within ten thousand (10,000) linear feet of said storage reservoir

(c) In determining whether the excavations and workings of a particular coal mine are or will be within any distance material under this act of any gas storage reservoir the owner or operator of such coal mine may rely on the most recent maps of storage reservoirs filed in accordance with section thirty-one

Section 33 Notice by Persons Operating Coal Mines (a) If on the effective date of this act gas is being stored in a storage reservoir which is under or within two thousand (2000) linear feet of an operating coal mine the person owning or operating such coal mine shall within ten (10) days thereafter notify the oil and gas division and the person operating such storage reservoir of such fact

(b) When any person owning or operating an operating coal mine expects within the ensuing nine (9) months period to extend such coal mine to a point within two thousand (2000) linear feet of any storage reservoir he shall so notify the oil and gas division and the person operating the storage reservoir

(c) Any person intending to establish or re-establish an operating coal mine over or within two thousand (2000) linear feet of any storage reservoir or which upon being established or re-established may within nine (9) months thereafter be expected to be within two thousand (2000) linear feet of any storage reservoir shall so notify the oil and gas division and the person operating such storage reservoir and such notice shall include the date on which it is intended the operating coal mine will be established or re-established Any person who wilfully and maliciously serves notice of an intention to establish or re-establish an operating coal mine under this subsection without intending in good faith to establish or re-establish an operating coal mine shall be liable for continuing damages to any person injured by the serving of such improper notice and shall be guilty of a misdemeanor under this article

Section 34 Operating of Certain Underground Gas Storage Reservoirs (a) The injection and storage of gas in a storage reservoir located under or within two thousand (2000) linear feet of an operating coal mine regardless of when such mine may be established shall be permitted only if the oil and gas division after an appropriate hearing held at the request of any interested party and in the manner provided in section forty-one shall find (1) that the person operating such storage reservoir by the use of every known method which is reasonable under the circumstances for discovering unknown or uncharted wells in that acerage within the outside coal boundaries of such operating coal mine which acreage overlies the storage reservoir and a surrounding area within two thousand (2000) linear feet of that acreage has in the judgment of the oil and gas division established that there are no unknown or uncharted gas oil or other wells extending into or through the strata occupied by such gas storage reservoir which wells are located in the aforesaid acreage (2) that the maps filed under section thirty-one or under this section by the person operating such storage reservoir are true and correct within the standards therein set forth and (3) that all known oil and gas wells except wells referred to in subsections (d) and (e) of this section extending into or through the strata occupied by such storage reservoir which wells are located within that acreage of such operating coal mine which acreage overlies the storage reservoir and in addition a surrounding area within two thousand (2000) linear feet of the boundaries of such acreage have been reconditioned or plugged and abandoned in the manner provided in subsection (k) of this section If the oil and gas division shall make the foregoing findings it shall thereupon by an appropriate order certify that the findings required by this subsection have been made It shall be the duty at all times of the person owning or operating such reservoir to take all necessary and reasonable precautions to keep all known wells in such condition and operate the same in such manner so as not to permit any leakage of gas therefrom to drill all new wells in the manner provided in subsection (k) of this section and to take all necessary and reasonable precautions to prevent any leakage of gas from such reservoir into such mine

(b) A certification issued as aforesaid shall be conditioned on the performance by the operator of such storage reservoir of the duties set forth in the following provisions As the operating coal mine is extended the known oil and gas wells referred to in clause (3) of subsection (a) which from time to time come within the acreage described in clause (3) of subsection (a) shall be reconditioned or plugged and abandoned in accordance with the requirements of subsection (k) of this section so that by the time the coal mine has reached a point within two thousand (2000) linear feet of any such well it will have been reconditioned or plugged and abandoned so as to meet the requirements of subsection (k) of this section

(c) If a storage operator in fulfilling the requirements of clause (3) of subsection (a) of this section reconditions or plugs a well within the area of two thousand (2000) linear feet outside the boundaries of the storage reservoir in reliance on the projections of the coal operator indicating that the mine workings will within a period less than eighteen (18) months be within two thousand (2000) linear feet of said well and said mine workings do not within a period of five (5) years after said projections have been filed come within two thousand (2000) linear feet of said well the coal operator shall reimburse the storage operator for the cost of said reconditioning or plugging provided such well is still within an area two thousand (2000) linear feet outside the boundaries of the storage reservoir

(d) Where a well located within the area of two thousand (2000) linear feet surrounding the acreage referred to in clause (3) of subsection (a) is a producing well in a stratum other than the storage stratum the obligations imposed herein with respect to such well on the person operating such storage reservoir shall not begin until such well ceases to be a producing well

(e) Where a well located within the area of two thousand (2000) linear feet surrounding the acreage referred to in clause (3) of subsection (a) has been previously plugged and the person operating such storage reservoir can produce information and acceptable records which will establish to the satisfaction of the oil and gas division that such plugging was done in substantially the manner required herein the obligations imposed by this subsection shall be considered fully satisfied if such well is replugged to a depth of forty (40) feet below the coal seam

(f) No storage reservoir certified under this section shall be repressed to a settled pressure in excess of ninety (90) percent of the theoretical hydrostatic pressure from the top of the storage stratum up to the lowest workings of said coal mine overlaying said reservoir unless the operator of said coal mine and the operator of said storage reservoir shall agree subject to the approval of the oil and gas division that a greater pressure is to be permitted but under no conditions shall the oil and gas division approve a pressure in excess of the original rock pressure or in the event there is no method of determining original rock pressure a pressure in excess of one hundred (100) percent of the theoretical hydrostatic pressure from the top of the storage stratum up to the surface

(g) The operator of any storage reservoir which on the effective date of this act is under or within two thousand (2000) linear feet of an operating coal mine may apply in writing to the oil and gas divisions for a certification of such reservoir at any time after the effective date of this act The operator of any other storage reservoir may upon receipt of a notice filed under section thirty-three or at any time thereafter apply in writing for such certification. If the notice provided for in section thirty-three is not given such storage operator may file such application at such time as the oil and gas division may authorize

(h) Unless a certification as provided in subsection (a) of this section has been issued and is in effect as to any storage reservoir which now is or which hereafter may be located under or within two thousand (2000) linear feet of any operating coal mine regardless of when such mine may be established the injection and storage of gas in such reservoir shall not be permitted The removal of gas from a reservoir which has not been certified hereunder shall be made in accordance with the following provisions Upon the giving of the notice provided in subsections (a) and (b) of section thirty-three to the oil and gas divison and to the person operating such storage reservoir the injection of gas into such reservoir shall thereupon cease and upon the giving of the notice provided in subsection (c) of section thirty-three to the oil and gas division and to the person operating such storage reservoir The injection of gas into such storage reservoir shall cease either upon the date upon which such notice is served or upon a date nine (9) months prior to the date specified in said notice for the establishment or re-establishment of said operating coal mine whichever date is later During the nine (9) months following the date for the cessation of the injection of gas as herein provided except as such nine (9) month period may be extended by the oil and gas division as provided in section forty-one the person operating such storage reservoir shall remove the maximum amount of gas in such storage reservoir that can be removed in accordance with recognized engineering and operating practices and insofar as existing physical facilities used to remove gas from such storage reservoir permit and thereafter the right to inject and store gas in such storage reservoir shall not be permitted until such time as such storage conforms with and does not violate any of the provisions of this act

(i) If a person operating a storage reservoir which on the effective date of this act underlies or is within two thousand (2000) linear feet of an operating coal mine shall within forty-five (45) days from the effective date of this act file an application for certification as provided in subsection (g) of this section and submits its case in support of such application within one hundred and eighty (180) days thereafter the period for computing the time within which the injection and storage of gas must cease under the provisions of this section if approval is not obtained shall be extended until such time as the oil and gas division has rendered its decision on such application If the oil and gas division is unable to hear all such applications within such one hundred and eighty (180) day period the oil and gas division shall with respect to all cases not then completed extend said period for such additional period as is necessary but not to exceed an additional period of one hundred and eighty (180) days and the period for computing the time within which the injection and storage of gas must cease shall be likewise extended

(j) If in the hearing respecting certification of such reservoir it is established that other conditions of approval have been met but complete approval cannot be granted for the reason that the requirements of clause (3) of subsection (a) have not been met as to all the known wells involved the oil and gas division shall grant the person operating such reservoir such time as is reasonably necessary to complete the reconditioning plugging and abandoning of such wells to fully meet the requirements of clause (3) of subsection (a) and shall certify said reservoir conditioned upon the performance of such obligation

(k) In order to satisfy the requirements of subsection (a) of this section oil and gas wells shall be drilled plugged or abandoned as the case may be as provided in Article II and when a well is required to be reconditioned to meet the requirements of subsection (a) of this section it shall be cleaned out to bottom and the casing strings shall be pulled and replaced with new casing using the same procedure as is applicable to drilling as provided in Article II except that in the case of wells to be used for gas storage the annular space behind each string of casing shall be filled to the surface with neat hydraulic cement or aquagel Application may be made to the oil and gas division in the manner prescribed in section twenty-seven of this act for approval of an alternative method of reconditioning a well which the oil and gas division may approve if it finds that the alternate method furnishes protection to the workable coal seams at least equal to that furnished by the method of reconditioning prescribed in this subsection

ing the advance shall approach a point where within ninety (90) days it is expected that such retreat work will be at the location of an active storage well the coal operator shall give notice of such approach to the storage operator and by agreement said parties shall determine whether it is necessary to inactivate said well temporarily by filling the same with aquagel or some equally effective substance in order to carry out the purposes of this act The operation of said well shall not be commenced again until a reasonable period has elapsed such reasonable period to be determined by the judgment of the parties with the approval of the oil and gas division In the event that the parties cannot agree then the matter shall be submitted to the oil and gas division for decision in accordance with the procedure for hearings hereafter set forth in section forty-one

(m) The number of wells required to be temporarily inactivated during the retreat period shall not be such as to affect the efficient operation of such storage pool This provision shall not preclude the temporary inactivation of a particular well where the practical effect of inactivating such well is to render the pool temporarily inoperative

(n) The provisions of subsection (a) of this section shall not apply to the injection of gas into any stratum where the sole purpose of such injection is to test whether said stratum is suitable for storage purposes subject however to the following provisions (1) At least ninety (90) days written notice shall be given to the oil and gas division that injection for testing purposes is to be made in that particular stratum (2) the maximum amount of gas necessary for testing purposes and the maximum pressure at which gas shall be injected shall be agreed upon between the person proposing to test for storage purposes and the person operating the operating coal mine subject to the approval of the oil and gas division and no gas in excess of such maximum amount or such maximum pressure shall be injected into said stratum pursuant to the provisions of this subsection

(o) Failure of the storage operator to carry out the provisions of this section shall be a basis for revoking such certification but only after proof of such failure has been established after a hearing thereon as provided in section forty-one before the oil and gas division

Section 35 Reliance on Maps Burden of Proof (a) In determining whether the excavations and workings of a particular coal mine are or will be within any distance material under this act of any gas storage reservoir the owner or operator of such coal mine may rely on the most recent maps of storage reservoirs filed in accordance with section thirty-one

(b) The person required to file any maps or data under sections thirty-one and thirty-two shall in any proceedings under sections thirty-four thirty-six forty-one and forty-two have the burden of proving that the facts required to be shown in said maps and data are true and correct

Section 36 Appropriation of Interests in Real Property (a) Any and all corporations empowered to transport sell or store natural and manufactured gas within this Commonwealth shall have the right subject to the following limitation to appropriate interests in real property for the injection storage and removal from storage of natural and manufactured gas in any stratum which is or previously has been commercially productive of natural gas if the original gas reserve therein is at least eighty (80) percent exhausted (but not including any coal measure whether or not being mined or any reservoir commercially productive of oil rather than natural gas) Provided That the stratum underlying the land wherein storage rights are proposed to be appropriated and the like stratum underlying adjacent lands are so interconnected as to constitute a geological reservoir having characteristics suitable for storage purposes And provided further That said corporation or two or more corporations each duly qualified hereunder acting jointly at the time it or they seeks to appropriate the interests in real property hereunder shall hold title in fee or have the right by grant lease or other agreement to store gas in at least seventy-five (75) percent of the total acreage of said reservoir

(b) Any corporation appropriating gas storage rights under this act shall designate by resolution adopted by its board of directors the particular stratum in which it intends to store gas

(c) This act shall be construed to authorize appropriation of the stratum to be used for storage of the gas reserve if any remaining therein and of any existing well or wells drilled into said stratum and further to authorize the appropriation of the right to enter upon and use the surface of lands for the purpose of working on and operating any existing or abandoned oil or gas well drilled into or through said storage stratum or within two thousand (2000) linear feet of the boundary thereof This act shall not be construed however as precluding the owner or owners of non-storage strata from drilling of oil and gas wells for the purpose of producing oil or gas from any stratum above or below the storage stratum appropriated by such corporation but the corporation appropriating or holding storage rights shall have access to and the right to inspect and examine any such drilling or completed well and the drilling logs and other records as to the drilling and equipping of such well for the purpose of determining whether the storage stratum is being adequately protected to prevent the escape of gas stored therein

(d) Any person drilling operating using abandoning or plugging any well through any stratum which shall have been appropriated under this act shall so drill case equip operate abandon or plug the same as to prevent any avoidable escape of gas that may be stored in the storage stratum The corporation storing gas shall upon demand accompanied by itemized cost statements reimburse such person or persons for the reasonable additional cost of protecting storage stratum against the escape of gas therefrom Upon failure neglect or refusal of such person or persons to comply with this section the court of common pleas shall have power to award injunction and other appropriate relief upon action brought by the corporation storing gas in the storage stratum

(e) Prior to any appropriation the corporation or corporations acting jointly shall attempt to agree with the owner or owners of the interests in real property involved as to the damage properly payable for the desired storage rights and remaining native gas reserve in the stratum appropriated and any existing well in or on his her or their property or of such other rights as are appropriated hereunder if such owner or owners can be found and are sui juris Failing to agree the corporation or corporations acting jointly shall tender to the property owner or owners a surety bond to secure him her or them in the payment of damages If the owner or owners refuse to accept said bond or cannot be found or are not sui juris said bond after reasonable notice to the property owner or owners by advertisement or otherwise shall then be presented to the court of common pleas of the county in which is situated the tract of land or the greater part of the tract of land involved for approval by it Upon the approval of the bond and its being filed the right of the corporation or corporations acting jointly to enter upon the enjoyment of its right to store gas and to enter on the property for the purpose of working on operating or properly plugging or casing of any existing abandoned or improperly plugged oil or gas well shall be complete

(f) Upon petition of either the property owner or owners or the corporation or corporations acting jointly said court shall appoint three disinterested freeholders of the county to serve as viewers to assess the damages proper to be paid to the property owner or owners for the rights appropriated by said corporation or corporations and shall fix a time for their meeting of which notice shall be given to both parties After the viewers shall file their report with the court said court shall fix reasonable compensation for the service of said viewers.

(g) Either party may appeal from the report of the viewers within twenty (20) days after the filing thereof with the court of common pleas and have a jury trial and the right of appeal as in ordinary cases

(h) Nothing contained in this section thirty-six shall relieve the person operating a storage reservoir from the requirements of section thirty-four

Section 37 Exemption (a) The provisions of this article shall not apply to any of the following types of coal mines

(1) Strip mines

(2) Mines to which the provisions of the act approved the ninth day of June one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 756) as amended do not apply as provided in section three of Article XXVIII thereof and mines to which the provisions of the act approved the second day of June one thousand eight hundred ninety-one (P. On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, today in front of us we have one of the most controversial measures that has come before the House this year.

We who come from the bituminous coal area of Pennsylvania and are supporting this type of legislation desire to present our case to you in this modern day and age as it exists in the coal fields of Pennsylvania.

We are not opponents of gas; we are users of gas. We believe that the gas industry is one of the best industries in our part of the state also. In the bituminous coal fields of Western Pennsylvania, under the modern system of coal mining as it exists today, you will find that as machines that are used in this industry endeavor to creep forth and dig out coal for the consumption of this nation, they seek no questions when they crawl forward.

Under the modern system of mining, you have before you a serious problem regarding the safety of individuals employed in the producton of coal.

House Bill 1240 in our opinion is the first step that has been taken in a great number of years to set up an established procedure regarding many items that are desired by both the coal industry and the gas industry. House Bill 1240, as it is printed in front of the Members of this House, consists of a plan for the plugging of gas wells, the recording of gas wells, and also mapping, which is most important.

Today and every day in the modern age of the mining of coal there has been occasion after occasion where these large machines have cut into casings in the production of coal. It has been the good fortune of those people working in that mine that those gas casings and wells had such low gas content. or none, that nothing happened. This has happened many times, which can be verified by the reports that can be found in the Department of Mines.

In my county, which is a developing county in bituminous coal industry, we have had an occasion at the company where I am employed, one night on the third shift a cutting machine cut straight into the casing of a gas well. There was no record upon any map. There was no indication on the land on the outside. The oldest inhabitants of the area could not remember when this well had been placed there nor who had drilled it. Yet, the casing was there, down through the seam of coal.

Had this well had gas of any pressure, it would have been only a question of a matter of a second—not of minutes, not of hours, only a question of a second. Either there would have been a fire, an explosion that would have suffocated everyone, destroyed all human beings in there, or it would have been an escape of gas without a sufficient amount of air so that each and every individual in there would have died.

You can only put so much air in a mine. That is required by law. That amount is there. When you run into a gas problem you then are not capable with your equipment to put air in there.

In the natural formation of coal, there have been found to be various faults. There have been crevice seams that creep from way within the depths of the earth, up through the rock, up through the coal and up through the rock above. No one knows in what direction it goes or where it comes from. From these seams it could be very possible that gas could seep through the crevice movement of the earth so that something could happen.

One of the main features of this bill is the recording and the plugging and the drilling.

I am not capable of saying who wrote these features into the bill, but I am sure the sponsors will dwell upon that subject.

We in the coal industry are not opposed, and never will be, to the gas industry. Many times it has been said that we are trying to seek back a market which is lost forever.

Our industry, the major portion of it that operates in Western Pennsylvania, has a market that is of the commercial type. The balance of my county, almost all of it, is of the captive type. By that I mean that all the coal produced from those mines is sent to the main concern or the outfit operating in the manufacture of coke and steel. It is not an open market coal. You are not capable of buying it. Only those individuals employed there are.

We do not seek to pass any legislation that is unjust or will tend to destroy any other industry. We believe, and we sincerely believe, that House Bill 1240 will set up under the present day system a safeguard so that those individuals, yes, human beings like you and me—I myself, am employed by a concern in the repair of the large machines that they use in the operation of a bituminous coal mine. Those machines are monsters within themselves. They can go right through the rock, right through the coal, right through the casings.

There have been arguments that never has a well of any kind been cut into that had any gas, that anyone was hurt, that anyone was killed.

If it takes someone to die to make that type of law, I want no part of it because they are just like you and me. They ask nothing in return; they are giving nothing, only themselves.

This type of legislation, such as House Bill 1240 gives you today, will not curb in our opinion any of the operations of a gas company but they will tend to expand as they have expanded in the past. The coal industry will stand upon its own merits. We who come from the coal fields believe that the future is still there, that the industry is not a dying industry but is only at a leveling stage after a period of great demand.

House Bill 1240 in the amendment has established a gas and oil division. If you will take time to read the bill and study it carefully, you will see that the provisions are in the bill to set up every possible procedure to certify the coal pools that exists under the bituminous fields of this Commonwealth.

Under this bill, and in support of this bill, it is our firm belief that this type of legislation has been overdue from the day of the storage of gas.

We are not opposed to gas, as I stated before, in fact we are for the gas fields because the gas fields in turn bring revenue to this Commonwealth and revenue to the individual farmer, the landowner and every one else connected with consumption, or royalty or the drilling of wells on their properties.

We support that theory as well as ask for the safety of those individuals.

This measure may be classified in many respects, but this we classify, in all sincerity, that this measure is truly a safety measure designed to set a safeguard on the present-day modern system of mining in the bituminous coal fields in this country. In regard to the safety of individuals employed therein, the passage of this bill will do more than any other piece of legislation would to safeguard the lives of those individuals employed in the coal industry.

I sincerely urge every Member of this House to give this bill very serious consideration, so that they may be able to see justifiable reasons for supporting this particular piece of legislation today.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to this bill as it is written. Let it be known that we are not arguing or quibbling about safety, because we have no desire to create any condition which might become dangerous to miners in their work. We are just as much interested in their safety as we are interested in the safety of those who are gas consumers. There is safety to be considered on both sides.

To give a little background on gas storage, may I tell you that Pennsylvania produces only one-third of the natural gas now required to service the demands in Pennsylvania. That is for industrial and domestic consumption.

The remaining two-thirds is piped from the Southwest and put in storage fields. There is a network of transmission lines including the Big and Little Inch from the Southwest which brings this gas in here.

Now many have the conception that gas was not piped into Pennsylvania and stored in Pennsylvania prior to the Big and Little Inch. This is not so. Transmission lines for that purpose were installed prior to the time the installation of the Big and Little Inch.

Underground storage of gas began a quarter of a century ago and today has developed into a major industry in this state upon which many industries must rely for operation, upon which many domestic consumers, such as homes, hospitals, schools and others rely for heating purposes.

In circulars which you received during the course, or since this bill had been first proposed, you have been told that only six percent of the gas storage in this state could probably be affected by this bill. Now this is not so. The six percent referred to by the coal interest applies to the ultimate capacity of all the gas in storage areas in the entire state, and not to the coal areas alone.

In the storage areas presently being used there are storage facilities for 174 billion cubic feet of gas as of November 1952. Under this bill 69 billion cubic feet of gas could be immediately affected. This represents not 6 percent but 39 percent of the present storage facilities available and in use in the state of Pennsylvania at the present time.

Coal industries proclaimed what could happen by reason of gas storage if this bill is not passed. They cite one instance of several years ago when several men were killed in a coal mine. A coroner's jury and an investigation by the Pennsylvania Department of Mines, copies of which were sent to all the Members of the House, shows that this incident was caused by a faulty door in the mine and not due to any leakage from the storage of gas.

The possibility of what could happen in the coal mines is equally as strong as to what could happen to the gas consuming public if 69 billion cubic feet of gas would be cut off.

First of all, just where would the gas people start to cut off or curtail users of 69 billion cubic feet? Secondly, with the reduction of this much pressure, just what could happen over the entire distribution system of two million consumers in case of gas failure?

In 1947, I sat as a Member of this House, as well as a number of others, and we passed legislation which was known as the first smoke control or air pollution bill in the state of Pennsylvania. As a result of this bill many thousands of people were compelled to convert their heating from coal to gas or oil or other types of fuel. Are we now in this General Assembly going to say to these same people that we are going to pass legislation that would require them to convert to still some other type of fuel and place that unnecessary expense upon them?

No method has as yet been devised in this state whereby gas can be stored in underground pools other than in those places where gas had previously been. Considerable of this area underlies the coal areas in this state. Nature saw fit to put them together.

Man in his finite wisdom is attempting by this bill to compel their separation without any place for the divorcee to go. Gas is not placed in these sands at any greater pressure than existed in the original instance.

A fact which was not mentioned by the previous speaker on this bill is to the effect that this bill in no way would regulate those sands from which gas had already been removed, but which is not presently being used for storage fields. Neither would it regulate those areas where gas still exists, although not in a storage manner, but where it still remains where nature put it.

This bill is designed to regulate only those areas where the storage fields exist.

Now, let us get a little more specific about House Bill 1240. When you put a casing down through a coal seam, this bill provides on page 16, that the maximum pillar which you must leave around that casing is 150 feet. Not less than that, but 150 feet. Now it just so happens that in some of the storage areas today it is found that for safety purposes more than 150 feet of collar is necessary for safety purposes. Many of them carry a larger collar than 150 feet. If you refer to page 16 of this bill, you will find that the limitation is 150 feet, it cannot ge beyond that.

They talk about the eminent domain feature of this bill. But in the eminent domain section of the act, coal was carefully exempted, where there is no coal mine operating at the present time. We should be permitted to acquire coal at a fair price and under reasonable conditions so as not to work a hardship on the coal owners. Where no mine exists at the present time within a reasonable distance of the storage field, there can be no question of safety involved if the mine is never permitted to come into the storage field, or within a reasonable distance of the field. If you will refer to page 44, line 16, you will find that subject covered.

The act requires that a gas company having a storage field under a coal mine secure a certificate in order to continue injecting gas into that field. Two 180-day periods are provided in which the certificate must be secured. At the end of that time, if the Department of Mines has not issued a certificate, the further injection of gas into the field is forbidden and the gas company must start reducing the amount of gas remaining in the storage. The public interest is entirely too great to be terminated so abruptly due to the lack of a certificate when failure to have a certificate may be definitely due to failure to act by the Department of Mines.

The bill should provide for an indefinite extension of the privilege of storing until the application for the certificate is acted upon.

However, even though pools are a safety measure, there is no restriction whatever upon the mine continuing to operate while the Department is considering the application for a certificate. By the same token the gas company must start removing its gas if it exceeds that two 180-day period.

No power is vested in the Department to require the coal company to open up another shaft in another direction, pending certification, and yet the bill is supposed to be a safety measure.

What is the bill? In our opinion it is an economic measure. Coal has for years attempted to prevent the expansion of gas company facilities in the interest of coal.

On page 43 of this bill, there is a provision for testing a new area to determine its fitness for a storage field. But note however, that approval of the coal operator is required, and only after that approval is secured can the gas people go to the Department of Mines and seek approval or disapproval for its district.

If the coal people do not care to grant the right of testing to the gas people, the gas people have no recourse, but to go to the Department of Mines and ask for that approval. What would a coal operator have to gain by permitting the gas people to establish a new storage field?

On pages, 33, 34 and 36 the bill provides for certification, including existing pools, only upon meeting certain standards, such as a showing that every reasonable possible means under the circumstances had been used to locate the abandoned wells. Nobody knows what we might be required to do in that connection. Would we be required to strip off the top three or four feet of a very fine farm in order to locate a well that somebody stated was located there years ago? Must we start chasing down every rumor that might come up in order to be able to establish that fact?

The filing of maps places an enormous burden on the gas people to prove that the maps are true and correct. This is highly extraordinary. The usual rule is that the party objecting to the maps must show what is wrong with them, then you defend your map against the contentions. In other words if somebody accuses me of having had a revolver in my pocket last night, according to this theory it is my duty to prove that I did not have one and not the duty of my accuser to prove that I did have one.

If a certificate is not secured within the two 180 day periods referred to in 1-c in the bill, the injection of gas for storage is forbidden, with the result that after a winter's withdrawal for all intents and purposes the field is no longer a storage field.

Section 34 (f), page 37, provides that where there is an operating mine over or within two thousand feet of a storage field, pressures exceeding 90 percent of the hydrostatic pressure are permissible, provided again that you first secure the approval of the coal operator and then the Department of Mines. But you cannot get in to the Department of Mines until the coal operator first says. "We will agree to let this thing go in there." The gas people have no right of original entry into the Department of Mines without the approval of the coal interests.

The approval of the coal operator could never be secured and in a pure safety bill the only test would be whether it was safe or not, and the Department to pass on the question of safety should be the Department of Mines or some other appropriate body, never the coal operator.

The bill puts the regulation of gas storage when under or near a coal mine, under the jurisdiction of the Department of Mines. It is our opinion that any such regulations should be under a body such as the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission, which is charged with the responsibility of all of the public, including miners, and would necessarily therefore weigh the relative needs of various segments of the public in making a decision, rather than under the Department of Mines, which by its very nature can be concerned only with one segment of the public, namely, the miners and the mine operators.

The Public Utility law of 1937 says in effect that the Public Utility Commission has the right on its own initiative, or on complaint, to hold hearings and issue orders to see that the service and facilities of a utility are adequate and safe and so forth. Under this law we believe the Public Utility Commission has all the necessary power to accomplish the purported objects of the bill.

We are, therefore, forced to the conclusion that this bill is essentially an economic measure and a very definite attempt to restrict the operations of the gas industry.

The bill requires that a storage field be certified for use whenever a coal mine is over or within two thousand feet of a storage field, and sets certain standards that must be met before such certification can be obtained.

If regulation is necessary, we believe that the body enforcing the legislation should have the power to specifically direct that certain things be done in order to make a storage field safe, rather than require the certification in order to continue operations.

It is interesting to note this. If a coal mining operation approaches within two thousand feet of a gas storage pool, the gas storage pool must then start to take gas out of the ground. The coal interest can continue their operations. There are no restrictions or compulsions to make them stop within that area until such time as they can get certification.

I would just like to propose this question to you along that line: if a coal mine employing five men, interferes with a gas storage pool serving thousands of homes and industries, why not compel the mining operations to stop two thousand feet from the gas reservoir until such time as the certification can be made?

You have heard heretofore about certain efforts being made to reconcile the differences which exist between the various interests involved in this bill. I might tell you that efforts were made along that line, but they collapsed. The essential elements of these points of disagreement I have already pointed out to you in the objections which we have raised to this bill.

I do not want to consume too much of your time here in dwelling on that phase of it, because the fact remains that the negotiations did break down. I would like to call your attention however to several items along that line.

The United States Deparment of Interior, Bureau of Mines, in a letter under date of May 6, states as follows with reference to the fatalities in your coal mines from gas storage leakage. They state they know of no case in which an explosion in a coal mine has been due to storage of natural gas in pools underground. There has been suspicion of this, but no evidence.

On the other hand we know of several cases in which subsidence resulting from mining damaged vast pipe lines on the surface, and the escaping gas entered the mines through broken ground.

In another case gasoline from a pipe line leaked into a mine. We have this from H. P. Greenwald, Regional Director of Region No. 8.

Now let us face this issue from another standpoint. It is to the interest of the gas people to very thoroughly chart, explore and examine any field in which they store gas, to see that there is no leakage, because they have to pay good money for this gas. Any gas that leaks means that they are losing that much money. Therefore it is to their economic advantage to see that there is no gas leakage. That has applied throughout the development of the gas storage pools in the state of Pennsylvania, a fact which seems to have been overlooked. They have used every safety device possible in order to accomplish that purpose.

If you will refer to this bill in connection with the plugging features you will find that they require plugging only in the coal areas, not throughout the entire state of Pennsylvania. Now a good plugging law is necessary in the state, and we think that one should be adopted by this Legislature, but that provision is not contained in this bill, because it refers only to the coal mining areas.

Another factor which is involved in this matter is the fact that the gas storage pools are under the supervision of the Federal Power Commission. The Federal Power Commission allocates gas throughout the United States. If there is any uncertainty as to what might happen to these gas storage pools, the Federal Power Commission does not allocate the gas, therefore these gas storage pools might not be able to get the gas with which to service the public with which they are already connected.

Every way you look at this matter, it is an attempt to curtail the expansion of the gas storage pools, as well as to reduce the gas storage areas which are already in existence in this state.

As a final piece of information, I merely want to give you this, as I think it is very important. The original bill covering this subject was introduced in this House on March 9. It was not this bill; it was a previous bill. On March 23, a matter of two weeks afterwards there was filed in the courts of Greene County of this state, a suit by certain coal interests against certain gas interests, seeking to forbid their use of gas storage pools. In that law suit they are asking that these questions be determined among others. This is a direct quote from the Bill of Complaint filed by the coal interest in that case.

> Plaintiffs aver, (the plaintiffs in this case being the coal interests) as aforesaid that defendant's (the gas interests) said underground gas storage operations represent a direct and ever-increasing hazard to their employees, to the mining operations in which said employees are engaged, and to plaintiff's aforesaid mine properties; that defendant's storage of gas beneath certain surface areas owned by plaintiffs constitutes an artificial use of the land, . . . that defendant in so storing gas has created and brought to plaintiffs a hazard for the consequences of which it is absolutely liable.

Now Members of this House, they have gone to the Legislature, they have gone to the courts. I do not know what other avenues are still open to them to have this very same issue and question determined.

The courts have time, it was part of their duty to listen to expert technical engineering men in connection with these problems and to determine the issue. Because of the fact that the courts have the facility to determine those matters and there is a case pending at the present time, that was entered after this first bill was introduced in this Legislature, I suggest to you that we have no business determining issues which are now before the courts which have better facilities to determine the question then we have here.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of House Bill 1240. I think this bill is very important to the people of Pennsylvania. I know it is particularly important to the people of Washington County. Washington County is the greatest coal producing county in this Commonwealth. It is also one of the great gas producing counties and is also one of the counties that has great underground gas storage pools.

I have listened to the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins. Much of the information he gave to the House was a reiteration of the facts that were given by the gas industry at the public hearings. I am not going to delve into that, but I am going to say that in Washington County on the first day of June, the Chamber of Commerce held an open public forum where both the coal interests and the gas interests were invited to present their case.

This forum was held due to the fact that the county had been flooded with propaganda by the gas companies, by newspaper advertisements, by notices with their gas bills, and by word of mouth that there was a tremendous danger that the gas supply would be curtailed or completely cut off in case the Kent Bill passed.

After listening to practically the same evidence which had been presented by the gas companies at the public hearing, and again by the coal companies, I asked the question of the Vice President of the Manufacturers Light and Heat Company, that has the large storage pools in Washington County and is one of the largest distributors of both retail and wholesale in this Commonwealth, I asked the question—first, before asking the question, I asked him if there was anyone in authority who could speak for the gas industry. Mr. F. W. Batten, Vice President and General Manager of the Manufacturers Light and Heat Company replied that he was in position to speak with authority.

I asked him the question, in the event the Kent bill passes the House and the Senate, is signed by the Governor and becomes law, will it immediately affect in any way the gas supply to the people of Washington County and western Pennsylvania. He replied that it would not.

Then I asked him the question, would it affect the gas supply in the foreseeable future, and he replied that it would not.

This information was published in some of the Pittsburgh papers in the early edition but for some reason did not appear in later editions.

I am very familiar with both the coal industry and the gas industry in western Pennsylvania. We produce in Washington County over 13 million tons of bituminous coal. The greater part of that coal is not in competition as fuel for home heating or industrial use. It is primarily captive coal for use in the steel mills. So I do not believe there is any effort on the part of the coal industry to try in any way to curtail the use of natural gas.

I think this Kent Bill, House Bill No. 1240, in reality will do much to further the cause of having sufficient storage pools to take care of the needs of the people.

Personally, I have a gas furnace in my home. I heat my office with gas and I would not want to do without it. I think it is a fine fuel. I have interest in natural gas wells in our county and other counties, and I certainly would not want to see that industry curtailed.

I want to say to you here today, that we do have to look beyond just the consumer and the interests. We have to think, I believe, of the men who go down into the bowels of the earth, hundreds of feet underground and in many cases miles from their place of escape. We have to think what might happen in case they did have an explosion.

Much has been said, and the point has been well raised, that in 15 years' experience we have not had an accident. I say we should thank God that we have not had one. I think this bill, the mapping and the plugging provisions of this proposed law, are excellent.

In the State of West Virginia, our sister state, they have for many years had an adequate law that caused a survey to be made, proper maps to be made, and plugging, under the Department of Mines.

I have confidence in the Department of Mines. I think they will administer this law fairly; and when we think of the restrictions that have been placed upon the coal industry in the way of safety, there are literally hundreds of safety measures and safety laws on our statute books to insure the safety of the miners.

I think if there is a real hazard in modern mechanized mining, it is different from what it was even five years ago. Under the conditions under which we operate today with the continuous mining machines, the hazard that we would have if one of those machines would go into an uncharted well, I shudder to think of what would happen if we would have a major explosion. I hope and pray that we never will have one. If we should have such a catastrophe, I would say that the gas industry would receive legislation as stringent as House Bill 586 originally proposed.

I am not going to debate any remarks except one statement that was made by the gentleman from Cameron when he mentioned 150 feet. That is true, that is the maximum provision provided and is mandatory in this bill. But it also says in line 20, page 16, "The well operator shall at all times have the right to negotiate and agree with the coal operator for the leaving of a pillar larger than that which the coal operator is required to leave by the provisions of this section."

At this forum that we had in Washington the gas people made much of the fact that they had always been able to negotiate. Gas storage is comparatively new, but I think the time has come when we should put a law such as this on our statute books. I think the danger is real. We are fortunate that we have had no major accidents, and I think the time has come, and I appeal to the Members of this House to support this legislation.

If I thought for one minute that the gas supply of the people of my county and of this state would be curtailed by the enactment of this legislation, I would oppose it. I am convinced, and I live in Washington County where, as I have said, the largest gas pools exist.

I want to say further that Washington County and Greene County have the largest acreage of the Pittsburgh vein of coal left in Pennsylvania. In the years to come it will ultimately be developed.

I think it is incumbent upon this Legislature to put on the statute books now this law which will provide that the survey shall be made, and there shall be planning, and the well operators shall do this and give the information and put it on file here so that in the future the gas pools can be extended, and we will not have the danger that we face today. The real danger is from the uncharted wells, the wells that have been drilled of which there is no record.

I am not going to take up any more time. I am simply going to say to you here and now that this is a good bill. It deserves to be passed by this House. Just think of the thousands of men who go down into the bowels of the earth to mine the coal. We are also giving to the people who use gas a law that will protect the storage pools of the future.

I appeal to you ladies and gentlemen, to vote for this bill.

Mr. LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, personally, coming from the western part of the state, I consider this one of the most important bills before this House outside of the tax legislation.

I have received more communications such as registered letters, telegrams, telephone calls, postcards than I have received in the last ten years that I have been a Member of this House. You know where those telegrams and letters and telephone calls came from? They came from people who have told me that they have just been able to convert to gas and not because of the fact that they were unable to do down and maintain a furnace to keep their house warm.

I have received those communications as all of you have received them, and I presume you know just what the situation is. You should realize, and especially those from the western part of the state, that in the last ten years thousands upon thousands of new homes have been built or bought by working people, and with the hope of making home life a little more pleasant for the wife and family, they put in a gas-heating system. Down in the basement is a modern up-to-date gas-heating system; upstairs in the kitchen is a gas stove. Any time the weather drops below freezing or near to zero, they could not even get the children up the next morning. They had to keep them in bed to keep the house warm. Factories all over Allegheny County shut down when that condition exists, and it exists pretty regular in the winter months.

The only thing that I have up to the present time been able to find that the coal operators are interested in with regard to House Bill No. 1240 is the safety of the coal miners. That is a laugh up my sleeve. That is the biggest joke that ever I have heard come before this House. It took them 15 years to find out that storage gas was dangerous. According to Mr. Tompkins, nothing has developed yet where they can blame it on storage gas. That is trying to kid the people. Millions of people in western Pennsylvania would have to go down in their pockets and try to find a new way of heating their house and doing their cooking.

Thousands and thousands of people in western Pennsylvania in the cold spells go home; they do not work. Ask me. I know what it is; I was there. As for the coal operators—I am very glad to learn that he is interested in the coal miners. Nobody here within the hearing of my voice wants to do anything that would be dangerous to the coal miner because we all know how dangerous their work is—and it is. They have improved the work, as it has been outlined here by previous speakers, but the fact that it took them that long to find out that storage gas was dangerous to those coal miners just does not go down good with me.

Sixty some years ago—I hate to say it this way; they will think I am too old—before the United Mine Workers was organized, I worked in the coal mines. I had to be there at five in the morning and I left at eight and eight-thirty at night, never saw daylight; only on Sunday. That is the reason I am so surprised today that the coal operator is interested. The improvements in safety that have been placed in the coal mines have been placed there through the United Mine Workers and whatever they have done through politics. Prior to that time, before the United Mine Workers, a coal miner went into the mines not expecting to go back home and see his wife and children again. That is how dangerous it was in the coal mines. I am not speaking from what somebody told me, but I am speaking from actual experience of being in a coal mine.

I am asking the people of this General Assembly who have received all these communications to think seriously of the thousands of these people back in the western part of the state and the thousands and thousands of workers who have to go home when they do not have gas. Think of them before you vote in favor of this bill.

Mr. VAUGHAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to congratulate Mr. Leonard on his speech. It was very well said and very well taken, I believe, by most of the Members of this House.

During the session of 1947, the Democratic administration in the city of Pittsburgh and Allegheny County saw fit to ask this body down here to give them what is known now as the smoke package bill, the Pittsburgh package. In that was the smoke control law. At that time I voted for the bill. I thought it was a good bill and I still think it is a good bill. It has done wonders for Pittsburgh, and it is going to do wonders for Allegheny County as the bill is now becoming effective in Allegheny County.

Last year, or rather in the year of 1952, there were 1324 homes built in metropolitan Pittsburgh. Most of these homes were equipped with gas furnaces. Since the report came out about the Kent bill in the year 1953, we have only had a little over 700 homes started for the simple reason that people cannot get applications for gas furnaces. They were scared to continue building for the reason that they do not know whether they will get gas. I know that in the past year at my home during the cold spell when the gas was low, we practically had to move into two rooms to keep things going, that is, to keep heat in the house.

I understand from the coal people themselves, from the papers that they have sent around to the Members of House here, that if this bill becomes a law the least that the gas would be cut wou'd be 6 percent.

As Mr. Tompkins told you, that only took in the coal areas, actually it would be about 39 percent. Well if it does, you can rest assured that our people, all the working people that bui't these homes, would have to reconvert back to coal. The price of coal today, especially the coal you have to use there, the smokeless coal, I guarantee that at the salaries they are making—and myself as a Member of this Legislature at $125—they will have a heck of a time reconverting back to coal.

So I ask each and every Member of this House in respect to the city of Pittsburgh and Allegheny County, which is progressing since we passed that package bill in 1947, that they continue to let us progress by defeating this bill.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I heard Mr. Polen state that if his county was affected by the lack of gas, he would vote against the bill.

I come from a district that is highly industrialized, and I might say that the county I live in is the greatest industrial county in the world, and I do know that during cold spells in Allegheny County and in my district, steel mills and industries were shut down during that time so that there would be a sufficient amount of gas to heat the various homes.

When the mills shut down, in my district that means man-hours lost. That means money lost; no bread and butter on the table. Because of this fact, I hope the Members of this House do vote this bill down.

Mr. KENT. Mr. Speaker, I do not want to prolong this debate any longer than necessary, but since I am the guy that at least has been painted by the gas industry as some sort of a hideous monster who is going to freeze out all of the gas consumers and all of industry in the state of Pennsylvania, I do feel that I must vindicate myself, present my side of this story and clear up a few misrepresentations that have been made.

I do want everybody in this House to know that this is purely a safety measure. It is purely a measure to overcome a hazardous condition, one that is recognized by the gas industry itself as a hazardous condition. It is not an economic measure to do away with competition.

I can say that the coal people certainly recognize the fact that the coal business for home consumption or space heating is gone so far as they are concerned, and that it has been replaced by gas and oil.

To make that point clear, it seems incredible to me that if this hazardous condition were not true and did not exist, it is indeed incredible that the gas industry would sit down in conference with the coal people for a period of at least a year prior to the beginning of this Session of Legislature.

It seems incredible to me that even after the bill was introduced, the first one, that those people would sit down and that the gas industry would confer with the coal people in an effort to solve the problem and arrive at a reasonable solution so that the hazard would at least be at a minimum.

It seems incredible to me that this is not a hazardous held on this bill, an associate of the United States Bureau of Mines, one Mr. Walker, would appear before that Committee and state that this type of legislation was needed to overcome a hazardous condition which existed; that under all the circumstances as they exist today in Pennsylvania, as well as other states in the United States, that cooperation between the two industries was not enough and was not sufficient. Those were Mr. Walker's statements.

It seems incredible to me thatthis is not a hazardous problem and not a problem concerning a hazard, but in a publication put out by the United States Bureau of Mines in December of 1952, that in that publication they would include this statement:

> It is to be expected that coal-mining men should be alarmed by any possible increase in liberation of explosive gas in their mines. That they should want positive proof that gas stored in the ground cannot enter their mine workings is equally to be expected.

It seems incredible to me that as recently as June 9, of this year, at the convention of the Mine Inspectors' Institute of America, they would adopt the following resolution:

The Mine Inspectors' Institute of America, at the Forty-Third Annual Convention in Birmingham, Alabama, on June 8 and 9, 1953, taking notice of the rapid extension of the storage of natural gas underground and recognizing that such practice has certain advantages under proper regulations, and possibly great dangers when such storage areas are close to coal mines; be it

Resolved that the Institute go on record in favor of such regulations as may be necessary to protect the health and safety of miners from gas migrating from storage areas to active mines.

That is the resolution of the Mine Inspectors' Institute of America.

It seems incredible to me that a man by the name of Harold J. Rose, of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, would write the following letter which I want to read to you, because he is a man that should know what he is talking about. He wrote this letter, of which he provided me with a copy, to Mr. A. W. Conover, President of the Equitable Gas Company of Pittsburgh.

Dear Mr. Conover:

As a customer of your company I have just seen a copy of your undated form letter regarding the Kent bill.

I have been a member of the American Gas Association continuously for more than 30 years and have been active (including chairmanship) of several national committees on gas. I am likewise informed technically on coal matters and am a Registered Professional Engineer in Pennsylvania.

With this background and knowing the provisions of the present Kent bill, I was greatly shocked by the misrepresentations in the letter to your customers, most of whom are not in a position to learn the truth. Failure to enact legislation equivalent to the Kent bill can result in tragic disasters. You and your associates do (or should) know this. Your own company had a terrible gas storage disaster in northside Pittsburgh some years ago.

I consider a letter such as the one you sent to subscribers (and certain advertisements) to be a flagrant abuse of your company's position as a public utility.

Legislation of this sort should be treated honestly and fairly to protect Pennsylvania's citizens and industries.

Sincerely yours,

HAROLD J. ROSE.

Most of all I am so confused, and it seems so much more incredible to me when it is argued, and such a big issue has been made that this is purely an economic situation and not one which involves the safety of a great many people who mine our coal, that I should happen to pick up a brochure prepared by the Pennsylvania Natural Gas Men's Association, very recently, I believe for the consumption of House Members to promote and to encourage the enactment of an eminent domain bill for the gas industry. When I read the following paragraph from this brochure as I say, I became most confused. Let me read it to you.

As for the wells themselves, it must be remembered that for 70 years or longer gas has been found in wells which passed through coal measures, whether virgin, producing or abandoned. This is a fact which must be realized if the natural gas is to be recovered, and gas and coal interests have always had to accommodate themselves to each other's operations. An active or an improperly abandoned gas well may become a hazard in mining operations. It has long been recognized that the coal companies must provide against this hazard in the interest of allowing the public the use of the natural gas which nature has stored below the coal. Irrespective of whether they are to be used for storage, old wells which were improperly abandoned and of which there are no adequate records constitute a hazard in coal operations.

That ladies and gentlemen is the wording of the Pennsylvania Natural Gas Men's Association so far as gas storage underground, gas storage under operating coal mines is concerned.

So do not be confused and do not believe that this is an economic measure, that there is no hazard. A great point has been made of the fact that for 15 years there has never been a life lost or an injury because of an explosion caused by gas stored under an operating coal mine. All I can say to you is that there is a great difference of opinion among the experts, the people who know as to whether or not that is a fact.

If you appeared at the hearing, or were at the hearing held, you will remember that a Mr. Baton, who is one of the large coal operators in western Pennsylvania, said that in his coal operations he had cut into, as explained by Mr. McCann, 12 abandoned gas wells in his operations, and that at least on one occasion there were two lives lost and four people were injured.

It was his opinion, and certainly his opinion should have some consideration, that the underground storage of gas under his mine at that time did contribute in some way to that disaster. But of course as I said, there is a difference of opinion.

But even so, and even though that be the case I think the people in this Legislature should not wait until the building burns down before they build a fire escape. I think if the hazard exists which is recognized by all parties concerned that these safeguards should be taken before the disaster occurs. That is the purpose of this bill.

The bill really covers three different things in general. It does provide certain rules and regulations—and you must remember that in this cast, huge program of gas storage in Pennsylvania and all over the United States, in Pennsylvania there is absolutely no regulation of any sort pertaining to the underground storage of gas. All this bill attempts to do is to bring some regulation, reasonable and fair regulation, for the storage of gas under coal mines, or within 2,000 feet of an operating coal mine, which will protect all parties concerned.

With that thought and with that intention in mind, the bill does include certain various specific standards which must be met in the drilling of oil and gas wells, and in the abandonment and the plugging of exhausted or abandoned gas wells.

I can say to you in all truthfulness that had Pennsylvania had such regulations many years ago—they did have some, there is a law on the books which attempts to provide regulation or a method of plugging the abandoned wells, but there has never been any enforcement—had we had a law with some teeth in it and some enforcement, we would not be called upon today to vote on a bill such as this.

This bill will provide those regulations and those regulations are designed in general in line with the provisions that are enforced in the state of West Virginia. They are accepted by the gas people and by the oil industry generally as good regulations I am sure there is no complaint about those.

Then, of course, the other part of the bill provides for the certification, not the prohibition but the permission by certification, permitting the storage of gas under operating coal mines. You are familiar with them and I do not care to go into them in detail now.

The other provision provides for eminent domain for the gas people so that they can have some method of procuring rights to underground storage pools for the storage of gas. I am in favor of that. I think they should have that right.

I am also very much in favor of Mr. Hall's bill 1359, which is on our calendar today. It has nothing to do with House Bill 1240. There is no connection at all between the two. Everyone here should vote for it because it will mean two things to Pennsylvania. It could provide some revenue for the state of Pennsylvania and it could provide additional storage pools for the gas industry where they can store their gas.

The other thing I would like to talk about just for a moment is how much storage this bill should create. Where Mr. Tompkins gets his 39 percent I do not know. I did not hear him say. But I do know that a man by the name of Mr. Robert Stewart of the engineering firm of Huntly and Huntly, a reputable firm, appeared before the hearing and stated that by taking the figures of the gas people themselves as published in one of their public cases, by taking those figures and making a survey, his conclusion was that only 6 percent of the total gas storage facilities, or capacity in Pennsylvania would be affected by this bill. Further than that, he said that certainly some of that 6 percent would be able to qualify under the provisions of House Bill 1240.

So you see we are not going to have any mass shortage of gas. The thing that interests me on that point is, I have not heard any one from the gas industry or any spokesmen for them tell me that there is not going to be a shortage of gas, that they have not oversold their facilities to such an extent that there will not be a shortage of gas in Pittsburgh or any place else in the state of Pennsylvania, in the event that House Bill 1240 does not become law. I would like to know that.

As I say there are a great many things that have not been said by the people who oppose this bill so strenuously. I resent the fact very much that the whole story has not been told and that there has been a campaign of fear, a scare campaign wherein everyone in Pennsylvania who uses gas is led to believe that he will not have any gas in the event the Kent bill becomes law.

I do want to say something in reply to Mr. Tompkins about the law suit and equity case which is in progress in Greene County now. It is true. There are two phases to that case as I understand it, but I am not connected with it in any way. I have not read the pleadings in it and I am informed that there are two parts to that case.

One part of that case would be affected if House Bill 1240 would become law. The other part of that case involves property rights which will in no way be affected by House Bill 1240 and that case will proceed even though this bill becomes law. It involves those property rights which, if you will bear with me for just a minute would be very interesting.

You know, when they put this gas down into one of these reservoirs, or these pools, it filters out over quite a large area. If you happen to own a piece of property some place over that storage pool they of course, are using the underlying strata of your property for a storage pool without any compensation to you in most cases. That is the other issue that is involved in that case, whether they legally have the right to do it.

I only point that out to show you that this bill was not introduced in this Legislature in an attempt to win a law suit in Greene County because that law suit will continue regardless of the outcome of House Bill 1240.

Mr. Speaker, I think that is about all I have to say now on this bill, but I do agree with everyone else who has spoken in favor of this bill and I sincerely believe that it is of such importance that it should have very serious and deliberate consideration by everyone in this House.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, just to clarify a few remarks that were made by the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Kent.

He read a letter regarding an explosion of a gas storage tank some number of years ago down in the Pittsburgh area. It so happens that those were overground storage tanks and were not underground storage. The dangers that exist because of the overground storage in tanks is one of the reasons why the gas industry went underground—in order to prevent the dangers that exist from overground storage.

He also mentioned the loss of two lives and several injuries which occurred, or that were reported by one of the geneltmen who appeared at a public hearing. It so happens that those two lives and several injuries occurred from a broken door in the mines which was investigated by a coroner's jury and by the Department of Mines in Pennsylvania, which I mentioned in my later remarks to you, and had no relation whatever to any underground storage of gas.

For his benefit on the 39 percent proposition I will repeat. The six percent proposal or curtailment that would be involved would be in all the underground storage areas in the state of Pennsylvania. Thirty-nine per cent curtailment would result in those areas which would be affected by this bill in the coal mining areas.

He posed another question to this effect, as to whether or not people would have any assurance that they would have a continued supply of gas or would not be curtailed in their gas if this bill did not pass. I would like to state to you that the gas people are under the jurisdiction of the Public Utility Commission. When people make application for service they find themselves between the pressure of the demand of the consuming public for that service and the amount of supply they have.

He talks about the extended service of the gas people. It has only been because of the fact that the Public Utility Commission has compelled them to do these things. That is what they are trying to do to be able to keep enough gas in these storage pools to be able to meet the demand of the public and also demands under the orders of the Public Utility Commission.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I realize that the hour is getting late, but you all know that I come from McKean County which is the heart of the oil and gas industry of Pennsylvania. Pennsylvania is famous for its 100 percent pure Pennsylvania oil, and it is produced mainly in McKean County.

At one time we were one of the leading counties in the production of natural gas. When I first came here in 1947, practically the only representatives who were interested in the oil and gas industry were myself, Allen Gibson, and the Representative from Venango County.

Since that time, Pennsylvania has opened up great gas fields. You are all familiar with the Calhoun well which was struck over in Tioga County which was the largest oil and gas well ever drilled east of the Mississippi River.

The history of those wells are that they produce tremendous quantities of gas during the short life of the wells. After the wells become exhausted, the Oriskany sand becomes an excellent storage gas field.

Since 1947 the gas industry, the production of gas, and the storage field industry has spread from McKean County over into Potter, Tioga, into Elk County, into Clearfield County, into Cameron County, and possibly Lycoming: and when the gas sands are finally depleted of natural gas there will be tremendous storage fields in Pennsylvania.

I say really Pennsylvania faces a glorious era, you might say, of industrial progress and comfortable heating of homes because of the great storage fields that these new gas wells have opened.

Those of you who are familiar with the drilling of gas wells know that the drilling of the well, the construction on the surface leaves many tell-tale signs. The old standard rig is first constructed and an area about 30 feet square is constructed on a level place so that the rig can be built. Many times a lot of blasting must be done. Then a deep pit about 12 feet square or greater is dug for the boiler. Then another position is constructed about 14 feet square for the drilling engine. After the rig has been torn down and the well has been drilled, these tell-tale signs are on the surface, and unless someone disturbs that surface afterwards those tell-tale signs remain on that surface forever.

The coal company when they open up coal mines, if they are interested in the safety of their coal miners, should carefully examine that surface and find out if there are any signs of gas wells ever having been drilled that might have been abandoned. The signs will be there. Then when the gas company comes in and decides to open up a storage field, they too examine the surface very carefully; they find all the maps they can of wells that have previously been drilled; they go to the courthouse and they search the titles; they try to find out if there are any oil and gas leases on record. If there are any leases on record they go to the owners or the former owners and try to find maps, try to find well records.

Every possible, conceivable safeguard is resorted to before gas storage is started because it is a mighty expensive thing to buy huge quantities of natural gas and pump it under the surface into these abandoned sands, and the gas company must be thoroughly familiar with every conceivable type of well before they go into that.

So, as I say, before the storage field is opened up every possible safety measure is taken in order to protect life.

If this bill passes, I do not see how the situation will be remedied one bit. After several engineers and geologists and operators of the coal companies and the operators of the gas companies have hunted and searched for these old wells, I do not see what a representative of the Department of Mines could do. He never would be able to certify that there were no abandoned gas wells if there are no tell-tale signs on the surface, if there are no maps available, if there are no oil or gas leases on record.

I say that every precaution is taken today, and this danger does not exist. It has been magnified beyond all belief.

Pennsylvania is prospering because of this storage industry. Do not put a bureaucratic stranglehold upon this new and blossoming natural gas industry in Pennsylvania.

The law-suit in Greene County includes this: the coal companies have an adequate law. There is an old maxim of tort law "So use your own as not to harm others". If the gas companies today are creating an obvious hazard over coal mines, they can go into court and prove to the court that the gas companies are not using their own so as not to harm others. I say this danger does not exist and I think it is in the best interests of this state that we do not put this law into effect.

Mr. HEWITT. Mr. Speaker, I realize the time is getting short. We have discussed this at length, but I do want to call the attention of the House to just one or two things.

Many men of the House have occupations of which I know nothing, and many of the men in the House do not know what my business has been. I have been a mining engineer all my life in the coal business. I am still in the business.

I personally know that a great hazard exists from these storage pools of gas. That is all I want to say along that line.

I want to call your attention again to the remarks of the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, in which he asked the Vice President of the Manufacturers Light and Heat Company if this bill became a law whether it would curtail the supply of gas, and he said, no. I want to tell you in deference to what the floor leader, Mr. Johnson, of McKean County has said that Mr. Baton in his testimony before the hearing on May 25 of this year stated that he had found 12 uncharted, abandoned wells in the territory in which he was operating. Those are the wells, in deference to Mr. Johnson, which were never found.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack. For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Mr. McCORMACK. I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. McCORMACK. Is there any motion that can be made to limit debate on a bill in the House.

The SPEAKER. For the information of the Member a motion may be made but the Chair is of the opinion that debate has been concluded.

Mr. McCORMACK. I thank you, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

A verification of the roll was requested by Messrs. TOMPKINS, VAUGHAN and GIBSON.

Mr. VARNER. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill 1390, Printer's No. 442, be made a Special Order of Business at this time.

I would request and ask for your indulgence and your cooperation. I think we all know where we stand, and I do not think we need any long debate. We have train schedules to meet, let us get through with it.

The motion was agreed to.

So the question was determined in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WHITE. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Title, page 3, fourth line from top of page, by inserting after "highways," "restricting certain vehicles to highways designated by the Secretary of Highways."

Amend Sec. 7 (Sec. 1101) page 31, line 12 by inserting after "Highways," "Certain Vehicles Restricted to Certain Highways."

Amend Sec. 7 (Sec. 1101) page 33, by inserting between lines 5 and 6 "(c) No commercial vehicle, truck tractor, trailer or semi-trailer of the Z, YZ, ZZ or GZ class shall be operated on any highway unless the same has been designated by the Secretary of Highways for such use and posted as heavy truck highways."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

One the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. VARNER. Mr. Speaker, I would ask that the Members vote down these amendments.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WILLAREDT. Mr. Speaker, as a Member of the State Association of Township Supervisors, I would call to the attention of the House that they represent 45,000 miles of road and 10,000 bridges. It went on record last February 2nd by unanimous resolution as being opposed to House Bill 1390.

In addition, the Grange, League of Third Class Cities, the State Association of Boroughs, and the Association of First Class Township Commissioners, and others are on record against this bill.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, as I rise to oppose this bill I feel as though the sword of Damocles hangs over my head and over the head of every Member of this House. Because if we are to believe recent magazine reports, every Member of this House is going to be damned if you do it, and you are going to be damned if you do not, in connection with the consideration of this bill.

I would, before proceeding with the discussion of the bill—it is going to be short, I can assure you—like to interrogate preliminarily Mr. Guthrie of the Motor Vehicle Committee.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Guthrie, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GUTHRIE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I would like to inquire from the Chairman of the Motor Vehicles Committee as to whether the Joint State Government Commission's technical staff was consulted to determine whether the bill 1390 is in accordance with the report on truck weights made by them.

Mr. GUTHRIE. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman mean did the Committee consult them? Does the Gentleman mean, did the Motor Vehicle Committee consult with them?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, that is right.

Mr. GUTHRIE. Mr. Speaker, no sir.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, was the Department of Highways consulted to determine the reaction of the Highway engineers?

Mr. GUTHRIE. No. sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, does the bill conform to the report of the Joint State Government Commission on truck weights?

Mr. GUTHRIE. Mr. Speaker, in the main it does.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, was a public hearing requested on this bill?

Mr. GUTHRIE. No sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Varner, the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cameron permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. VARNER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, are the fees in 1390 increased in accordance with the Joint State Government Commission's recommendations as shown in item 3, Page 1 of the report?

Mr. VARNER. Mr. Speaker, the fees in House Bill 1390 follow closely the recommendations made in the Joint State Government's report. In some cases they do vary.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, is that true in all cases?

Mr. VARNER. Mr. Speaker, I do not have the material with me here but we could compare it. We could get the bill and get the report. You have the report, I have the bill.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, the report is on my desk that I am referring to.

Mr. Speaker, I have it here. I might answer that question in this respect, the Joint State Government Commission report only relates to pneumatic tires and the fees in the bill are increased only in direct proportion to the proposed weight increase, that is, the overall increase. It does not deal with the subject of the axle weights in any respect.

Mr. Speaker, in connection with this bill I would like to point out several figures which I think should be for the consideration of this House.

Were this a matter of competition between two competing industries, I would say, "a plague on both your houses, go out and get this thing settled between yourselves," but it is not. There is a vital interest of the entire motor vehicle traveling public in the state of Pennsylvania affected by this bill, as well as every person who in any manner uses any products which go into the construction of our highways.

Our present weight limits are 45,000 pounds. The bill has proposed various weight limits according to publicized reports of the motor vehicle industries of 58,000 pounds. What they do not tell you, however, is that with a tolerance of 5 percent on that, they can increase their weights by 5 percent of 58,000 pounds, or bring them up to a 62,000 pounds limitation.

Further than that, they have formulated—they have developed a lot of formulas in this bill—I do not know how long their technical staff took to develop them—but I know it is a very difficult thing to try to decipher some of the formulas they use in this bill. But it seems that in addition to the weights which are allowed under the normal wheel base that the farther you separate your overall rear axle apart, you can increase your weight by 750 pound for every foot of distance that you put the axles farther apart, which actually means that under the present truck weights of the state of Pennsylvania, and with the formulas applied to it and with the 5 percent tolerance which the bill permits, that they can carry loads not of 58,500 pounds but loads of 66,150 pounds.

Take a truck-trailer outfit that is allowed a 50-foot length, and under the formula provided for it in this bill, they can carry upward of 70,000 pounds and still be within the limitations of the bill. Now that is against the present 45,000 pounds which the present law allows. They try to spread this load both on a maximum basis and on an axle basis. In doing that, let us take a look at some other features in connection with the bill.

1390 has accelerated penalties, by that I mean trucks according to the weights which you use might be overloaded, which is applied only to the gross weight and when you come to that, you will find that in addition to the gross weight which you have that before any penalties can be attached, they are allowed 3100 pounds over and above the gross weights, prior to the time any penalties will be attached. You will find that on page 25 of the report.

The Joint State Government Commission's recommendations provide for accelerated penalties both for axle weight and gross weight. Let us take a little look at that situation. The Chairman of the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association recently made a statement that it is not the gross load but the axle load that causes the damage to the highways and roads. This is borne out by the Maryland Road Tests, but we find through the penalty provisions of the bill that there is only a $25 penalty for overloading on the axle basis as against the present $50 fine. Now that is just a very nice little sleeper that is contained in this bill, that we reduce their penalties even on an overloaded axle.

The present axle load, by the way, too, is 20,000 pounds. but the axle load is increased by 1,000 pounds by the 5 percent tolerance which is allowed in this bill. And that 5 percent tolerance will give you a 21,000 pound load per axle which will be permitted under this bill. And, as I stated, it is the axle loads which have been determined to cause the damage to your highways.

I might state this, that the Highway Department in dealing with the subject of the overall axle weights on trucks, in the arrests which were made in 1951, found that 51 percent of the trucks were of a greater length than the tolerance allowed in this bill of 34 feet, that they range as high as 40 feet and gives them 66,500 pounds maximum which are allowed to roll over our highways in this bill.

The Maryland road tests also show that for each additional 1,000 pounds of weight that is put on the axle, that the highways are deteriorated by 50 percent more deterioration. A 5 percent tolerance which is not allowed in the present law, but which is given to them in this law, would indicate that you will deteriorate your highways at a greater rate by 50 percent, if this bill becomes law.

Let us look at the picture this way. Eighty-eight percent of truckers in the United States operate trucks the size of two tons or less. The bill in question before the House would affect less than 5 percent of the trucks used on the Pennsylvania highways. There are 41,000 miles of state highways in the state. Are we going to allow 5 percent of the traffic that uses our highways to deteriorate our highways for the other 95 percent?

We have just recently taken our farmers out of the mud. Under this bill we are asking that they be put back into the mud. There are no limitations in this bill as to where a truck can travel. There are no limitations in this bill as to what roads they must use and they can pound and cut any roads anywhere in the state of Pennsylvania they want.

If you will look at this bill carefully and review it in all of its parts, you will find sleepers throughout it, which increase almost to double some of the rights which the truckers now have in the use of our highways and their penalties are not increased accordingly.

They give us a couple of lollipops in here, of course, too, by way of stating that they will do something about adjusting the brakes on the trucks so they will not be so dangerous. I think you almost daily pick up the newspapers and find where brake failures have resulted in some damage to a runaway truck, or what have you.

If they can put their brakes in that condition with this bill, there is no reason why they cannot put their brakes in condition without this bill. And to me that is only a little piece of a lollipop to try to sweeten you up to pass this bill by saying they are trying to make the highways safe for you. We have just finished talking about safety matters.

About the speed with which they go up the hills. If second gear means that you have to go up the hill at a certain speed if they get this bill, they certainly can get the trucks to go up the hill at the speed that they said they can go without this bill.

This bill in an overall concept is nothing but an attempt, in my opinion, to grant greater weights to truckers to further deteriorate the highways for the use of 95 percent of our traveling public.

You who travel back and forth to Harrisburg on the Turnpike and on the other roads, how many times have you seen trucks racing each other? How many times have you, traveling at the legal rate of 50 miles an hour, had trucks pass you? How many times have you had a truck come in front of you in sight of a lot of traffic? They are endangering the highways. They seem to have lost their sense of responsibility in many respects on that.

All I can say to you in conclusion is this: I can remember in the days before prohibition that there used to be a song running around the country that the brewers big horses can't run over me. I am just asking you today to say to the truckers that the big truckers can't run over us.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose this bill. I did have a lot of data here that I was going to go into. However, I am going to make it very brief.

I have several communications here regarding this bill. I have one here from the Civic Club of Allegheny County, in which they state that after careful study the Civic Club of Allegheny County declared that this bill is not in the public interest. It would amend the present truck regulations increasing the gross and axle weight. The weight limits in this proposal are generally higher than those proposed in 1951, and in the opinion of those who have closely studied this measure, would adversely affect the State highway system. It was pointed out that the state must carefully consider the preservation of the roads which it now has since, in its present financial condition and with the need for additional roads increasingly apparent, it is a matter for serious thought.

Only 10 percent of the present state highways, according to engineering opinion available to the Civic Club, is strong enough to carry the maximum loads proposed in the bill, and there is no practical way to restrict these heavier trucks to the strongest roads.

I'll cut that one short, Mr. Speaker.

There is another one here from the Pennsylvania State Association of Township Commissioners. At least 12 large organizations in the state have been asked their opposition to the big trucks bill, House Bill 1390, which would raise the Pennsylvania's allowable truck weights from 45,000 to 66,150 pounds.

Attached is a list of the organizations which speak for a membership totalling more than one million Pennsylvanians.

The Association of First Class Townships and these other organizations are opposed to the big truck bill for one or more of the following reasons:

Many of our roads and bridges have already damaged by the heavier trucks and will be much more damaged by heavier trucks.

Heavy trucks already create safety hazards on the highways and will create even more if they are allowed to become heavier.

The big truck bill makes no attempt to tax trucks in proportion to their responsibility for road costs, and does not even increase their fees in proportion to the weight increases it provides.

July 6th, 1953.

Dear Rep. Moran:

At least twelve large organizations in this state have announced their opposition to the Big-Truck Bill (HR 1390), which would raise Pennsylvania's allowable truck weights from 45,000 to as much as 66,150 pounds.

Attached is a list of these organizations. They speak for a membership totaling more than 1,000,000 Pennsylvanians.

The Association of First Class Townships and these other organizations are opposed to the Big-Truck Bill for one or more of the following reasons:

1. Many of our roads and bridges have already been damaged by heavy trucks and will be much more damaged by heavier trucks;

2. Heavy trucks already create safety hazards on our highways, and will create even more if they are allowed to become heavier, and

3. The Big-Truck Bill makes no attempt to tax trucks in proportion to their responsibility for road costs and does not even increase their fees in proportion to the weight increases it provides.

We sincerely believe that weight increases are not in the best interests of Pennsylvanians and urge you not to sacrifice the wishes of the majority for the pressures of the minority.

H. A. FRITSCHMAN,
Secretary
Assn. of First Class Townships, 2325 Darby Road,
Havertown, Pa.

We sincerely believe that weight increases are not in the best interest of Pennsylvanians and urge you not to sacrifice the wishes of the majority for the pressure of the minority.

Groups opposing House Bill 1390 are as follows, a few of the many:

Pennsylvania Association of First Class Townships, Pennsylvania Association of Township Supervisors, Pennsylvania League of First Class Cities, Pennsylvania Association of Boroughs, Penn State Grange, Pennsylvania CIO Council, Keystone Automobile League, Pittsburgh Motor Club, United Railroad Labor Committee, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, Brtherhood of Railroad Trainmen Legislative Committee.

In addition to what I have already read here is a statement from the Pennsylvania Township News: which is quite lengthy. I think I shall pass it over with permission from the Speaker to the Reporter here and have it inserted in the record.

Mr. Speaker, rather than go on with this lengthy communications that I have here, I would like to hand these over to be put into the record.

The SPEAKER. Without objection. The gentleman's information will be put on the records.

TOWNSHIPS OPPOSE BIGGER TRUCK BILL

The Pennsylvania State Association of Township Supervisors announced on June 11th renewed opposition to any increase in Pennsylvania's legal truck weights.

H. A. Thomson, Secretary of the Asociation, termed House Bill 1390, now before the Legislature, "An even bigger truck bill than the 1951 measure vetoed by Governor Fine." He called the bill "the most damaging proposal the truckers have ever made in their attempts to secure higher payloads without proper safeguards of the Commonwealth's multi-billion dollar highway system under both state and local control."

Thomson said he was carrying out the dictates of a unanimously approved resolution of the Association calling for "no increases in legal truck weights" and "a weight-distance tax to make the heavy commercial vehicles pay a part of their share of highway costs."

In opposing the measure, Thomson said, "This Bigger Truck Bill would permit an increase in gross weight limits of 21,150 pounds; from the present 45,000 pounds to a legalized 66,150 pounds."

He said the proposal to raise axle limits to 21,000 pounds "directly contradicts the findings of the Maryland Road Test and the warnings of Pennsylvania's highway department." The Maryland test he declared, proved that any axle load above 18,000 pounds causes excessive road damage. He said that the Commonwealth and its local subdivisions "cannot afford to subject its highways and bridges to such punishing loads just for the benefit of a few thousand big trucks, many of them from out of state." "We must remember," he added, "that local roads are largely paid for and maintained by local property taxes and every taxpayer is directly affected by this proposed legislation."

The Township Supervisors, Thomson said, have been opposed to increased truck weights "as long as I can remember. As elected officials, we could not possibly endorse any legislation which would threaten the 45,000 miles of roads and the 10,000 bridges for which we are responsible."

The above release to all newspapers in the State is self-explanatory. Time is very short and this bill will be rushed. Every township official should immediately contact or write his legislator to oppose this bill (H-1390).

1953 PENNSYLVANIA "BIG TRUCK BILL"—HOUSE 1390

Analysis

Registration Fees:

Fees are increased only where weight is increased. with increase, Penna. will rank 45th.

Fees for 2 axle trucks or tractors are raised about 10%; three axle trucks or tractors, 8% to 18%; single axle trailers, 12%; and tandem axle semi-trailers, 27%.

For a "Y" class tractor and a tandem axle semi-trailer, the increase would be 17%.

For a "Z" class tractor and a tandem semi-trailer, the increase would be 15%.

	Class
Single axle	.....
Tandem axle	.....
Two axle truck	Z
Three axle truck .....6666....	ZZ
Two axle tractor and single axle semi-trailer	Z & G
Two axle tractor and two axle semi-trailer ..	Z & G
Truck and Full Trailer	Z & G

Maximum gross for combinations determined by formula recommended by Joint State Government Commission—weight equals 36,000 lbs. plus 750 (D - 4), where D is the distance between front and rear axles.

An additional 5%, for all purposes, is allowed on single axle and gross weight limits. The bill is so worded that the practical maximum on all weight limits, with exception of tandem axle weight limit, is 5% above that specified. (See unloading provisions below).

Penalties:

No penalty weight is more than 5% over limit, except for overloads of tandem axles.

Fines for axle load violations .....$ 25
(Present fines are $25 for 5% to 10% overload and $50 for violation over 10%).

Fines for gross load violations $100 plus $2 for each 100 lbs. by which the gross weight exceeds the maximum gros weight plus 3100 lbs.
(Present fines are $25 for 5% to 10% overload and $50 for violation over 10%)

If the weight upon the axle or pair of axles exceeds the maximum allowed, or, if the gross weight exceeds the maximum gross weight allowed but does not exceed 50,400 lbs., the officer may require the trucker to reduce or rearrange his load. If the gross load exceeds the maximum limit and also exceeds 50,400 lbs., unloading is mandatory. The tolerance provision applies to these rules, with the effect that a single axle load of 21,000 lbs., may be retained, and a gross load of 5% above the maximum may be retained. Failure of the trucker to obey unloading instructions is punishable by a fine of $100, and a possible suspension of his operating privilege for 30 days.

Increases fine from $50 to $100 for violation of posted road weight limits.

Engine Capacity:

Engine must be capable of propelling truck up a 2% grade at not less than 20 miles per hour when loaded to its maximum gross weight. Average grade in Penna is 4%—fine for violation is trivial—only $10—enforcement practically impossible.

Present	Proposed	Plus 5% Tolerance
20,000 lbs.	20,000 lbs.	21,000 lbs
36,000 lbs.	36,000 lbs.	No tolerance

CIVIC CLUB OF ALLEGHENY COUNTY

July 8, 1953

Dear Mr. Moran:

After careful study the Civic Club of Allegheny County declared as NOT IN THE PUBLIC INTEREST

—H. B. 1390 which would amend the present truck regulations granting increases in gross and axle weights.

The weight limits in this proposal are generally higher than those proposed in 1951 and, in the opinion of those who have closely studied this measure, would adversely affect the state highway system. It was pointed out that the state must carefully consider the preservation of the roads which it now has since, in its present financial condition and with the need for additional roads increasingly apparent, it is a matter for serious thought.

Only ten percent of the present state highways, according to engineering opinion available to the Civic Club, is strong enough to carry the maximum loads proposed in the bill and there is no practical way to restrict these heavier trucks to the strongest roads.

While several neighboring states do permit heavier gross loads than Pennsylvania does, the axle load is the important factor. H. B. 1390 would establish a five percent tolerance on the axle load before a fine could be imposed and this would mean a 21,000 pound axle load without penalty. This is 3,000 pounds in excess of the 18,000 figure accepted in agreement between the American Association of State Highway Officials and Truck Manufacturers. The import of this agreement was that highways and trucks would be designed with the same load limits in mind. Thirty-four states have an axle load limit of 18,000 pounds. The Maryland road tests indicated that axle loads limits above 18,000 pounds caused about six and one-half times the roadway damage caused by the 18,000 load.

The higher registration fees and the revised penalty system will not, in the Civic Club'c opinion, compensate the state for the greater destruction of highways to be expected from the loads permitted by H. B. 1390 and we would respectfully request your help in keeping this measure from becoming a state law.

Sincerely,

A. PERRY EVERSTINE
President

PENNSYLVANIA CIO COUNCIL

June 23, 1953

To the Honorable Members of the House of Representatives

House Bill No. 1390

Dear Sir:

This bill is designed to increase maximum truck weight limits by as much as 18,000 pounds on certain type vehicles.

It seems inconceivable to us to presume that roadbeds will not deteriorate at a greatly accelerated pace by the hauling of these additional nine tons.

This increase in allowable weight is graduated all along the line starting with present maximum 30,000 pound limit, not only in the greatest maximum limits. So that percentagewise there would be more trucks hauling greater weights than ever before.

The roads belong to all the people. Increased fees and penalties for violation will not replace broken roadbeds.

The world's greatest highway, the Pennsylvania Turnpike, attests to what an awful beating these heavy loads at present weight limits do to a good road. The extreme right lane in each direction of the original stretch from Carlisle to Irwin is really being broken up.

Pennsylvania roads are extremely good compared to those of neighboring states. That might attest to the wisdom of having reasonable weight limits for trucks.

We should probably be more concerned with the condition of our roads and the possible serious effect the increasing of maximum weight limits by 18,000 pounds may have, than to be guided in this consideration by what the weight limits are in other states.

The Pennsylvania CIO Council, by Resolution adopted at its 1953 Convention in Philadelphia, is on record opposed to increasing the present maximum truck weight limits.

We respectfully solicit your vote against House Bill No. 1390 as not being in the best public interest.

Very truly yours,

HARRY BOYER, President

RAILROAD BROTHERHOOD LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE

Harrisburg, Pennsylvania

June 23 ,1953

Honorable Members
House of Representatives
Commonwealth of Pennsylvania

The Railroad Brotherhood Legislative Committee, composed of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Order of Railway Conductors, and Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees, is opposed to H.B. 1390—the Big Truck Bill.

The problem of size and weight regulation of highway vehicles to safeguard the public roads from abuse and destruction is almost as old as the first improved highway, and it unquestionably is more urgently important today than ever before. A greatly augmented and still increasing number of heavy trucks and trailers, operating for long distances at high speeds, is destroying our roads faster than we can find the money with which to replace them. Besides wrecking our highways, the huge over-loaded trucks are the cause of many fatal and near fatal accidents, and contribute greatly towards the discomfort of the traveling public.

The railroads have, of course, suffered seriously from the competition of a rival which pays only a small fraction of the cost of building and maintaining the costly roadways over which its vehicles move. The cost of maintaining the railroads' roadways has perforce to be reflected in charges for railroad service. In long-haul truck transportation, however, only a fraction of this cost is reflected in truck rates—the remainder being shouldered by other highway users and the general taxpayers. This creates an unjustifiable subsidy for one segment of the truck transportation industry, enabling that particular group to compete unfairly with the railroad industry by skimming off the cream of the transportation business leaving the railroad industry to handle a greater portion of the unprofitable commodities, thereby jeopardizing the financial stability of our railroad transportation system.

Therefore, we ask your support and influence towards the defeat of this Bill.

Very truly yours,

C. J. SLUDDEN
Pennsylvania State Legislative Board, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen

CHARLES C. SEARCH, Chairman
Pennsylvania State Legislative Board, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen

S. R. EDELMAN, Chairman
Brotherhood of Railway and Steampship Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employees

J. B. McDONALD, Chairman
Pennsylvania State Legislative Board, Order of Railway Conductors

MICHAEL PETRESKY, Chairman
Pennsylvania State Legislative Board, Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees

Mr. KENT. Mr. Speaker, I will be very, very brief, but I do want to say this.

Those Members who were here during the 1951 session will remember that I opposed this bill at that time on the basis that there were not any adequate, unbiased, impartial facts before this Legislature on which they could intelligently act upon the truck bill of 1951. Apparently his Excellency felt the same way and directed the Joint State Government Commission to make a study.

This bill admittedly does not follow the recommendations of the Joint State Government Commission, nor does it follow the recommendations which have been made by the Pennsylvania State Highway Department. So, I feel we are in the same position today on the 1953 truck bill as we were in 1951. I had hoped that I would be able to come down this year and vote on a truck bill, whichever one would be satisfied with, and which would fit the circumstances so far as our highways in Pennsylvania are concerned.

We cannot do that today. I am still opposed to this bill because it does not follow the recommendations of our own fact-finding body, and I ask and hope that the Members will vote it down until we can have a bill which has been recommended by our own body and by our Highway Department.

Mr. LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, this will be very short and to the point.

The reason I am arising at this time against this bill is the article right here on the front page of the Harrisburg News. "Truck Crashes Through Wall, Driver Burnt."

Now I have no objections, I do not care how heavy they make the trucks, if the truck owners will please do something about the braking system. Why can they not stop the truck? Everybody else seems to be improving the brake system and able to stop.

Every time you read about a crash, the truck got away because the brake is bad.

Mr. VARNER. Mr. Speaker, those of you who have read this bill, and I know you all have, know that it covers the objections made here today. I would like to read this telegram to you, addressed to me at the House of Representatives.

> "Am advised that House Bill 1390 pending before your body would permit tandem axle semi-trailers in Pennsylvania to carry a gross weight load averaging about 58,500 pounds. This measure, if passed would bring your state limitation more in line with those of the surrounding states, and would facilitate the highway movement of the dense traffic in which I must maintain a continuing interest." Signed, James A. Knudsen, Administrator of Defense Transporattion Administration, Washington, D. C.

Mr. GOODLING. Mr. Speaker, if I might borrow the words of one of my colleagues on the other side of the floor, I could say I am confused. To eliminate this confusion I should like about one-half minute's privilege of interrogating the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Royer.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Royer, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ROYER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOODLING. Mr. Royer, you are Chairman of the Joint State Government Commission, that is correct, is it not?

Mr. ROYER. It is.

Mr. GOODLING. Will you, in just as few or as many words as you care to use, tell us whether or not this bill does conform with the findings and recommendations of your commission?

Mr. ROYER. This bill 1390 does not conform with the recommendations of the Joint State Government Commission.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. GOODLING filed the following reasons for his vote on House Bill 1390:

In 1951 the Joint State Government Commission was instructed to make a thorough study of truck weights, considering all factors involved and make definite recommendations to this session of the General Assembly.

The study was made, facts submitted and recommendations made.

In all too many instances this bill does not conform to the recommendations of this Constitution.

For that reason I vote "No."

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. STRAUSSER filed the following reasons for his vote on House Bill 1390:

Due to the fact that some little pressure was brought upon me by organizations outside of Columbia County, to influence me to vote contrary to my personal convictions, and contrary to what I considered to be in the best interests of my County of Columbia, I wish to record my reasons for voting "NO," as follows:

It is a well known truth that a chain is only as strong as its weakest link, and I wish to call attention to the weak links in our state Highway System as being our bridges—especially so in Columbia County.

Columbia County is divided into two (2) parts—"North of the River" and "South of the River," referring to the North Branch of the Susquehanna. These two (2) parts are connected by very inadequate and old "Iron" bridges, as follows:

1. South Catawissa Bridge over Catawissa Creek, which is posted as being of seven (7) tons capacity. This bridge is over 500 feet long with a center span of about 190 feet, with bridge deck about 40 feet above the creek.

This bridge was built in 1906 under Act of 1895—Hon. Samuel W. Pennypacker, Governor.

2. Bridge connecting Bloomsburg to South Bloomsburg, posted at ten (10) ton capacity. This bridge is about two-tenths (2/10) of a mile long of six (6) spans, with bridge deck about thirty (30) feet above the river. This bridge was built in 1893.

3. The Mifflinville Bridge is a seven (7) span bridge, three-tenths (3/10) of a mile long, posted at ten (10) tons capacity, with deck about forty (40) feet above the river. This bridge was built in 1907.

4. The Berwick-Nescopeck Bridge was built in 1906. It is a six (6) span bridge of about 240 foot spans—is three-tenths (3/10) of a mile long, and is 50 to 60 feet above the river.

On the Berwick end of the bridge is a stop light, which causes Northbound traffic to oftentimes fill this bridge from one end to the other, with buses, cars, and trucks, and the occupants of these vehicles can feel a "sway" of this bridge deck comparable to a "hula girl" movement caused by the movement of trucks traveling in the opposite direction across this bridge.

I, personally feel that the above four (4) bridges have outlived their safe usefulness, and should be replaced before authorizing greater loads on our highways. The drivers of these loads will "take chances" (as they now do), and drive over either of these bridges, and if there should be a failure of the structure (Berwick's especially), it would without a doubt result in the loss of lives.

It will be recalled that about a year ago a bridge east of Mifflinville was completely destroyed by the weight of a single truckload of coal, causing its collapse. The driver fortunately escaped with his life in this instance. It will also be remembered that about this time, a truck driver lost his life in lower Luzerne County when the weight of his truckload of lime demolished a bridge over which he was driving.

It is my personal thought that inasmuch as there are in excess of one hundred (100) bridges in Columbia County, and probably like a number of bridges in other counties, which are badly in need of repair or replacement, the present legal truck weight should not be increased until such time as our bridges are built sufficiently strong to carry these proposed added weights.

It is because of the above that I have voted "No" on HB 1390, Printer's No. 442, commonly referred to as "The Big Truck Bill."

I wish to assure the people of Columbia County that my primary interest is in their welfare. If I wanted to be selfish in this particular matter, I should have voted to permit trucks in my construction business to carry greater loads, to save myself as much money as possible. I voted against my own personal interest in this instance.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. HELM asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Education to meet during the session of the House.

TIME EXTENDED ON BILL

Mr. BOLTON asked and obtained unanimous consent to extend the time five days on House Bill No. 1216, Printer's No. 326, on page 50 of today's calendar, bills on final passage postponed.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. CURWOOD. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. CURWOOD. Mr. Speaker, due to certain circumstancse beyond my control, I was unable to be in the House when the rollcall was taken on the Sales Tax (House Bill 909) yesterday, if I would have been present I would have voted "no" and I would like to be so recorded.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. JOHNSON. At the 12:01 Session that we had on July 1, a very important resolution was introduced by the gentleman from Adams, Mr. Worley. Because of the fact that there were just a few Members present and it being more or less a privileged resolution, we thought we would hold it until we had more Members present.

I, therefore, at this time am reporting from the Committee on Rules a resolution offered by the gentleman from Adams, Mr. Worley.

Mr. WORLEY offered a resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

RESOLUTION

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HALL. Mr. Speaker, I should like at this time to thank the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Kent, for giving a plug to this bill, it is a good bill.

May I add just one word of admonition. Had I seen fit to enter the argument on 1240, I should have passed a word of admonition to our struggling industrial giants and say if we were as properly aware of state's rights as we are nationally concerned over the Tidelands, we would take over the depleted gas lands as an asset to the state.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I have an agreement with the Members of the Majority side, due to the fact that the Democratic Members, through a mistake, had not been notified of the meeting yesterday afternoon, and we have prepared certain amendments to House Bill No. 908 and House Bill No. 909, to allow us the courtesy of presenting these amendments on third reading.

Mr. President, since the purposes of the amendments are similar in both House Bill No. 908 and House Bill No. 909, I believe, with the permission of the Senate, that we could present both sets of amendments at this time and then make a full dress rehearsal on them at one time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER May the Chair suggest to the gentleman that he can speak on the effects of the amendments, but it will be a little difficult to offer amendments to House Bill No. 909 while we are considering House Bill No. 908.

If the gentleman cares to make the argument and then just have the record repeated for House Bill No. 909, he may do so.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments to House Bill No. 908 at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend House Bill 908, Printer's No. 473, on page 5, line 16, by striking out the word "consumed" and inserting in lieu thereof the word: "used"; Amend House Bill 908, Printer's No. 473, section 102, sub-section 4 by adding immediately after the word "Require" on line 8, page 6, the following: "(r) Any tangible property acquired by a charitable or religious organization."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

MOTION THAT AMENDMENTS BE ADOPTED

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I move that the Senate adopt these amendments, but before doing so, I would like, by way of explanation, to give the reasons for the introduction of these amendments.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, first of all, let us understand one thing, and I want this clearly understood on both sides of the Senate. These amendments are not introduced in an effort to cripple or destroy the piece of legislation before us. They are not introduced in the spirit of trying to embarrass the Majority Party in the Senate of Pennsylvania. However, they are introduced in a sincere effort to remedy a situation which may be very dangerous to Pennsylvania's economic health.

I want to state at this time, Mr. President, that it has been suggested that any amendments introduced by the Minority would place the bill in jeopardy when it comes before the House again for concurrence. I have taken up with the Democratic House leadership that very proposition, and I am here to assure the Republican Members of this Senate that if these amendments are accepted, the Democratic Minority in the House will not oppose concurrence in the amendments, so that it will not be necessary to again resort to the extreme methods employed by the House leadership and the extreme pressure applied to get the bill passed originally.

Mr. President, I want it clearly understood that these amendments are more or less in line with the thinking of the Republican Majority, which we opposed very vigorously the other night, in that industry must not only be favored in Pennsylvania, but must, at times, be coddled and pampered.

We opposed the proposition the other night, Mr. President, when the Republican Majority voted to exempt from local real estate taxation that part of the real estate known as productive machinery in industry. In the debate, Mr. President, the other night, the Republican leadership said that the passage of the machinery tax exemption bill would be an inducement to out-of-State industry to move into this Commonwealth.

Mr. President, these amendments to this act of the Legislature, to this sales and use tax in Pennsylvania, highlight a very serious situation, because the exemption of taxable machinery as real estate saves industry in Pennsylvania approximately $2,000,000. However, the application of the formula of taxation in this legislation against industry will cost industry, according to the statement of the Majority Leader contained in this morning's newspapers, $30,000,000. If you have to pass an act to relieve industry of $2,000,000 of taxation in order to save Pennsylvania industry, then how much damage are you doing to Pennsylvania industry when you place a $30,000,000 tax ticket upon them with this act?

Mr. President, the reason that we, as Democrats, oppose this legislation is this. In the first place, we do not believe that any sales tax should ever be conceived primarily with the idea of placing a tax upon the productive machinery of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, how many of the Members of this Senate have ever visited a glass plant? If you have, you know that in a glass plant they use glass tanks or, in the term of the glass worker, a pot. Incidentally, there are some rumors about this bill and its destiny when I mention that. However, in this bill the refractories used in blast furnaces and steel mills, the expendable pots and tanks used in glass works, which are items which have to be replaced periodically, are taxed, and for this reason these amendments are offered.

Mr. President, if you will note, the amendments strike out the word "consumed" and insert in lieu thereof the word "used." The purpose is this. In this bill you say that any machinery or any item which is purchased by industry, that is ultimately consumed in producing the product to be sold by industry, is tax free. We say that you ought to put the word "used", because if they use a type of brick, for instance, to line a tank and that brick is not ultimately consumed in the product that is sold by the glass plant, but it certainly is essential in the manufacturing process, because if you did not have it you could not produce the glass which you are putting out. Therefore, all we ask is that there be no exemption whatsoever for the tax on machinery except where that machinery is related to the production of the plant.

Mr. President, you are exempting from taxation in this amendment the items used in the production of manufactured goods in this Commonwealth. Now, you recognize the justice of that because in the same act—incidentally, for the information of the Senate, I would like to couple both acts together, the sales and the use tax which are before us, House Bill No. 908 and House Bill No. 909, so that when I cross over the actual lines of one bill to another you will know that, both bills being so interrelated, the arguments must also be related.

You placed in your bill an exemption to all the electrical producing utilities in Pennsylvania. Why are they so favored, in all of the items that they use to produce electricity, to be exempted from taxation, and yet alongside of it a productive plant, producing goods for sale in Pennsylvania or outside of the State, must pay tax on the items used to produce their product? This is an unsound piece of legislation, it is an unwise piece of legislation and it is one which, because of a terrific drive for some kind of a tax program, has been ill-conceived and poorly planned. Yet, they are willing to take this grave injustice because of a threat of a greater injustice.

Mr. President, it has been rumored that certain steel companies have asked me to introduce this amendment. Let us make the record clear on that. No person representing any industry in Pennsylvania has asked me or the Democratic Party to introduce any legislation. Therefore, I would advise those who are driving the pack of wolves at the heels of certain innocent individuals to call off their dogs and let the men go about their business in peace.

Mr. President, these amendments were conceived by the Democratic Minority, and are presented on behalf of the people of Pennsylvania, because if you want to place a tax upon industry there are means and methods of placing the taxes upon industry without placing it indirectly, as you do in this legislation. I do not know how many industries or industrial leaders know exactly what is happening. I think I ought to bring the Senate up-to-date. This is what is happening, as we understand it. We have probably seen the greatest parlay ever laid in Pennsylvania's legislative history when, in the last week, every piece of legislation in and out of committee was parlayed to pass the sales tax.

Mr. President, industry recognizes the great danger in this act. However, if you will note, contrary to the statement of the Governor, this bill is not a permanent tax structure but is one for a two year period only. The reason for this bill being a two year bill is that industry has been promised that if they do not squawk and squeal about this unjust imposition upon industry at this time, then the Republican Party will, next biennium, remove that section of the act which taxes the productive machinery.

Mr. President, industry has made a compact. They are not going to talk about the injustice of this, even though they plead on the floor of the Senate about the injustice of paying their share for the schools and the local governments in the taxation upon their real estate properties. However, they are willing to accept the tax which is fifteen times greater in total sum of revenue, in order that they can allow this administration to crawl out from under the rug which they have been under.

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, we have heard many strange tales around the Senate floor, but I tell you right now that we, of the Democratic Party, are not promising industry that we are going to specially select them to do favors for. We know that that is part of the old method of applying and keeping applied the campaign pressure in order that funds be forthcoming for the next gubernatorial fight.

Mr. President, we do want the people of Pennsylvania to know this. This morning at 9:00 o'clock the Democratic Members of the Senate met in caucus, and at that time a resolution was offered by one of the Members of the Democratic Caucus. It was seconded, and put to a vote and passed unanimously. The resolution, Mr. President, notifies the Democratic State Committee that the Democratic Members of the Senate have passed a resolution, calling upon the Democratic State Committee to make as the number one plank of its campaign platform for 1954 that we are for the immediate repeal of this iniquitous obnoxious sales tax in Pennsylvania; first, because it is unfair in that it places the burden of taxation in the first instance upon the shoulders of those least able to pay; second, because it injures the productive machinery of industry in Pennsylvania and third, because it designates a differential between certain utilities and others and allows a tax to be placed upon the utility bills of certain consumers while exempting the utility bills of others.

Mr. President, the entire bill is a broad base tax, as the Governor has so stated. However, it is not a broad base tax in the sense in which it was originally introduced, because in cutting the provisions of the act ,the people of Pennsylvania have been treated to a very fine example of political surgery. The surgery was performed upon the anatomy of those who squealed the loudest, and those who had no opportunity to present their squeal were left with all their aches and pains.

Mr. President, industry was afraid to squeal, because when industry was told that if they squealed on this they would have a corporate net income tax of two per cent placed upon them, they thought it better to take that which would cost them less in the long run and with the definite promise of repeal in two years.

Mr. President, I say to industry in Pennsylvania that the Democratic Party has not earned by its action the disfavor which industry holds for the Democratic Party. The Democratic Party, in being interested in the welfare of all of the peoples, is definitely interested in the welfare of industry, even more so than those who would favor industry to such an extent that they injure the people, because industry itself must be an agency for giving to the people a better way of life. You cannot tax the people beyond their ability to pay in order to exempt someone who has a greater ability to pay.

Industry in Pennsylvania, Mr. President, may as well learn now that for twenty years I have watched, and many others with me have watched, how industry has been used and abused by the Republican leadership in Pennsylvania. You are the scapegoats because at every turn, when the final analysis comes down and any Governor has needed money in the last twenty years, he has come to you with the proposition. "Now we are going to place a little more on the people if you will take this." So, industry has agreed with the Republican Party. They have been in league with the Republican Party for twenty years to shift the tax burden onto the shoulders of the peoples

Mr. President, that is why yesterday people danced in the streets, and the House of Representatives was turned into a song-fest by the Republican Members who sang because they were able now to place the tax upon the people. In the old days when the slaves were dragged before the Roman conquerors and fed to the lions, the Roman conquerors also sang in the streets. I was very much surprised, indeed, when after the Session was over and we walked down the walk from the Capitol, they had three bands playing at the end of the Capitol, underneath the statue of Boies Penrose. I wonder if ever in the history of this Commonwealth a tax was placed upon anybody which merited jubilation.

Mr. President, just picture, if you can, 1935 and 1937, when the people of Pennsylvania were faced with a very serious proposition. We had one million, two hundred eighty some thousand odd souls of Pennsylvania citizens out of work, through no fault of their own. They were starving and cold and in need. We met in these Halls of the General Assembly and we passed an emergency tax program. In passing that emergency tax program, we were compelled by the economy of the State to place the taxes, at that time, upon the utilities, upon industry and upon business in general in the Commonwealth. The reason for placing those taxes there was because the people had no taxable money, the people had no resources for revenue and it had to go upon the only items which could be taxed at that time.

Mr. President, I remember the tears which were shed on the floor of the House by those who cried because a corporate net income tax was being passed, by those who cried about the gross receipts tax being passed. There was no jubilation then, there was no singing in the aisles then. There were tears of anguish and despair.

Mr. President, what happened yesterday? The final chapter has been written. We are taking the taxes, now that we have the vehicle to completely relieve the tax burden of all industry, of all business and all activity in the Commonwealth, and we can now place it upon the so-called shoulders of the so-called John Q. Public, the ordinary little fellow. Then, the Republicans in the House started to sing, they started to parade up and down and congratulate each other. Yesterday's newspapers carried pictures of the Speaker and the Majority Leader grasping in their triumphant hands the sales tax bill. "Eureka, we have done it," they said. The people now will pay the tax.

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, the people who belong to the Democratic Party know full well that taxes must be paid if services are to be rendered. We also know, Mr. President, that services rendered by the State can be measured as to who receives the services and what percentage of revenue is spent for the different and individual activities of the Commonwealth. We have tried since 1935, when I headed the first Tax Study Commission in this Commonwealth, to create in Pennsylvania a program which would eliminate the danger of this kind of ill-conceived legislation becoming the law of the land.

We belive, Mr. President and Members of this Senate, that a formula can and will be worked out some day whereby industry will pay a certain percentage of tax toward the total revenue needed, based upon the total receipts of industry and the total benefits of industry from the revenues expended; that business, unincorporated and incorporated, will pay a certain percentage of the total budget as related to what they receive from the public moneys expended; and that the peoples themselves, in all of the categories of activities, will pay a certain percentage of the total budget as related to the receipts and the benefits which the people receive from the public moneys expended.

Mr. President, under this formula, each biennium as we arrive in Harrisburg, we will be given our need for that biennium and we will take the different categories, and if we need a two per cent increase let us place two per cent upon each of the taxing categories in the Commonwealth. We would not have to come in here with the idea branded in our souls that we must each year peck away and take away from the shoulders of those best able to pay all of the tax burden and place it upon the soldier citizens of this Commonwealth.

Last week, Mr. President, I heard a great deal said about the tax on automobiles. Does anybody have any idea that this bill does not tax automobiles? Does anybody have any idea that this bill does not tax cigars and tobacco? Does anybody have any idea that this bill does not tax handkerchiefs and the few sundries which are used by the housewife every day of her life? Does anybody have any idea that this bill is not weakly drawn for the specific purpose of gaining to its side recruits, in order that they will help to defend it in the future and keep it from being taken off the books?

Let me explain how that happens, Mr. President. This bill is a temptation to an honest shopkeeper to become slightly dishonest. Just as in the days of prohibition, when almost everyone cheated the prohibition law, so it is today that almost everyone cheats the tax laws. This is the nicest bill ever written for the man who wants to cheat, and it is a very helpful bill to the man who might be tempted to cheat.

For instance, Mr. President, there can be nine one-cent tax purchases out of a dollar, and yet nothing in this bill compels that tax collector to pay more than one cent on the total dollar purchases that he transacts in his business. Therefore, this bill is more beneficial to the tax collector than it will be to the Commonwealth itself. The only time, Mr. President, that the tax collector will only receive his three per cent will be when industry buys a piece of equipment and the price is public knowledge. At all other times, Mr. President—and I believe that it has been suggested that the automobile dealer will find that he has a tradable item now, too.

We are faced, Mr. President, at this time with establishing a new tax formula in Pennsylvania. You just cannot allow, in good conscience, a bad bill to be passed simply because the whip of caucus action is over your shoulders. I know that if you were left to your own resources and the decision was yours, you would react against this bill even more violently than you reacted against the income tax two years ago, because even a critic, being an honest critic, would have to admit, Mr. President and Members of this Senate, that an income tax is fairer to the poor people than what a sales tax is.

Mr. President, I cannot conceive in my mind how the men who opposed the income tax, because it was unfair they said to the poor people, can possibly vote for this piece of legislation when it is even more unfair than the income tax which they fought so violently two years ago. I am wondering what has happened to that independent spirit which caused us to stay here one whole twelve month period because they would not be driven into line.

The calling today—and I doubt if ever in this State's history the need was as great—is for a great leader on your side to forsake the pressure which is being applied and to lead a militant group of seven or eight of you, as an individual did two years ago, to defeat this bill as it is presently written.

Mr. President, this bill will tend to operate against the best interests of the people of Pennsylvania. The manufacturing interests of this State are acting in a cowardly fashion today because, in order to saddle the people of Pennsylvania with a $90,000,000 tax load, they are willing to carry $30,000,000 themselves for a period of two years, with the promise that two years from now that $30,000,000 will then be shifted onto the shoulders of the people. If you are mistrusted, it is because your deeds cause you to be mistrusted.

Mr. President, the Democratic Party has never been an enemy of the industrial, mining and producing interests of this Commonwealth. We have never once, in the history that I know of, deliberately tried to injure the productive machinery. Those false leaders of industry in Pennsylvania, who always bring up a bugaboo and nickname it or misname it the Democratic Party in order to keep you in line for a Republican campaign, are unfair not only to the Democratic Party and the people, but unfair to the industrial interests of this Commonwealth.

Mr. President, these amendments also apply to another hardy citizen of our great State. It applies to the farmer. How can any man on that side of the aisle, how can his conscience allow him to say that it is all right to exempt the machinery of a power company but that you must tax the machinery of a farmer? What is a greater utility, the electrical power to run your washing machine or your iron or your sweeper, or the food which is raised by the farmer? The greatest utilities to mankind are food, water and air. Now, Mr. President, you are taxing two of these items: I do not know how the tax framers left air out unless they could not find any method of measuring it. You are taxing the water and you are taxing the food. However, they say to you that if you can survive without water and food, you can turn your lights on in your house without paying a tax.

Mr. President, this is a misconception, just to show you what happens. In order that I point out the injustice to the farmer I have to use, as an illustration, the electrical power companies. Now what happens, Mr. President? Before I am through speaking, some very enterprising member of either the Senate or the audience will run to the telephone and say that the Democrats are attacking the public utilities again. Of course, that takes away from us any hope of getting any utilities votes next year. We are not apologetic, but we do want you to understand one thing. We are not opposed to relieving the tax on utilities. However, we are opposed to relieving the tax on a specific utility at the cost of a greater tax on another utility.

Mr. President, I cannot conceive how any man in this Senate can sit idly by, because the pressure of the whip upon his shoulders does not allow him to use the good conscience that he was created with, and allow a taxation to be placed upon the machinery which the farmer uses in the production of our food, and will exempt from taxation the switchboard of the company that sells us electrical power. Because I draw that example does not mean that the Democratic Party is for placing the tax upon that electrical company. It means that the Democratic Party recognizes the justice of taking the tax off of the farmer, if you leave it off of the electrical company.

Mr. President, my amendments do not call for placing the tax upon the electrical company. I want all of you representatives of the utilities here to note that we are not asking to tax you, we are just asking you to give the farmer the same regard which you give to the utilities in Pennsylvania.

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, we know, before we present these arguments, that the bill will be passed as it is written. We know that if we stood here until doomsday, we could never break loose the shackles which have been welded upon the arms and the minds of the Members of the Republican Party. We know that there is nothing we can do except this. We can place upon the record, for all to see, our philosphy of taxation as compared to that which fools you.

You know, Mr. President, I am very much afraid that industry in Pennsylvania has been treated to one of those fifty-fifty deals that they talk about. I think the President himself sat around one evening when a gentleman was telling us about the fifty-fifty sausage which was being sold out in one of the counties. It seems that the Pure Food Inspectors arrested a farmer for selling a sausage which he labeled fifty-fifty sausage, fifty per cent rabbit. He was getting a pretty good price, but somebody complained about his sausage. They said that it was mixed with horse meat. They went to the farmer and they said to him, "I understand that you are mixing your rabbit sausage with horse meat." He said, "Yes." They said, "Well, you cannot sell it under the present law because you advertise it falsely." He said, "I do not. I advertise it as a fifty-fifty sausage." The inspectors said, "Well, how do you measure the proportionate share?" He said "I mix one horse with one rabbit."

Mr. President, that is exactly what has happened to industry. Industry finds itself being relieved of about $2,000,000 worth of local taxation, which is put into local governments to provide the schools for the children of your workers and to provide the streets and the sewers for the people who work for you in industry. You are being relieved of $2,000,000 worth of taxes locally, and you are supposed to jump through a hoop and be happy because the Republican Party relieved you of local taxation. Then, they turn around and give you the other fifty per cent of the bargain and they stick a $30,000,000 tax on you because of the industrial needs of your business during the next two years. Every time you buy anything that is used in your industry, you will pay a use tax on it of one per cent unless you buy an item which is consumed in the industry to produce a product that is on the market.

Mr. President, what is the consumption of an item? For instance, if you buy coke and iron ore and you put it in a blast furnace, you have consumed the coke and the iron ore and you make for the people a steel product that is sold on the market. You are not taxed on the coke and the iron ore. However, in order to cook that coke and iron ore, in order to get it together, in order to fuse it and blend it and make that piece of steel, you have to line the blast furnace with a refractory product. When you empty out that blast furnace and you take the product which you are going to sell, with the ashes and the residue that is left, the slag that is left in the pot, you find also that these items of liners which you would purchase for use in manufacturing have been consumed in the manufacture. However, Mr. President, they have not been consumed to be part of the product that has gone out the other end, so it is not tax free. It is not consumed by the product itself, it is consumed to make the product and there is a difference. That is what we are trying to amend.

We are trying to amend this bill, Mr. President, in order that productive processes, productive processes in Pennsylvania, need not be endangered by an unfair tax. Oh, I know that you are going to vote for it because you have been told that industry is not going to be mad at the Republican Party, industry is going to vote for the Republican Party no mater what you do. You say, you do not think they are going to trust them"—I do not want to use the word "Democrats"—"do you? They will not trust them, and so we are going to vote any way that we want. The front office has taken care of industry and industry is satisfied."

Mr. President, did anybody call the little guy out on the street? Did he have a lobby down here? Did he have anyone speak for him? Did he come before the General Assembly and say, "I have a stake in this, I am being taxed ninety more millions of dollars?"

Mr. President, I want to let you in on another little known fact. Pennsylvania has the greatest sales tax in the entire United States. The people of Pennsylvania pay more sales taxes before this tax is passed than any other State in the Union. This is an additional sales tax, Mr. President.

Mr. President, at the present time I have heard the argument that industry pays fifty-two per cent of the taxes in Pennsylvania. That is not true. That is not borne out by the record. However, were it to be true—let us take the position that it is true—that industry is now paying fifty-two percent of the tax and so, therefore, Mr. Fine, the Governor of this Commonwealth, has repeatedly said, "We cannot put another cent of taxation upon industry without endangering our economy." Therefore, he has claimed that there would be no more taxes upon industry in this Commonwealth. I wonder if he has read the bills which are before us since he was so happy to announce to the people yesterday in a message in which he said that the people ought to be gratified that they now can pay a sales tax. It is a different form of gratification, probably, than what he expects when it is all over.

Mr. President and Members of this Senate, why do the people not know the truth about this legislation? I read the papers myself, and I think the newspaper reporters have done a rather magnificent job of analyzing the bill and telling people just what is in it. However, I was a little disappointed to find that the news that Pennsylvania is passing a $125,000,000 tax bill in Pennsylvania was placed in a position where it was subtitled somewhere in print, a little bit smaller than the fact that a fellow stabbed his wife out in Aliquippa.

Mr. President, the press of this State owes a duty to its peoples and it is trying to, perhaps, live up to that. However, I do not know why it is that they do not realize that they, too, are being taxed. Maybe they do not know this, and I sometimes doubt if they do know it, but under this amendment which we have offered they would be able to buy filler lead for their Linotypes and so forth without paying a tax on it. If these bills pass the way they are today, every newspaper in this State, if the tax is enforced honestly, will have to pay a tax upon the use of the material that they use to print a daily newspaper; not the ink and not the paper, but you will pay it upon the lead and other items which are used and reused in the newspaper fraternity.

If it is going to be a use tax, Mr. President, I think the people ought to know that it is a use tax. I think the people ought to know that this is not a sales tax alone, but a use tax.

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, we have offered two sets of amendments. We do not expect either one to pass. We can only say to you that if we had sufficient Democratic votes in the Senate, I doubt if the bill would be before you. However, if it were to be before you, it would not be this type of an iniquitous bill.

I have also offered an amendment, Mr. President, exempting from the provisions of this act religious objects, which are exempted in every State in the Union that has a sales tax. We recognized long ago that religion, the teaching of religion, the observance of religious rites and beliefs, are not a proper subject of taxation. Under this bill, Mr. President, they become a subject of taxation. I believe that, although you say you cannot amend to take out the industrial inequity, I beg of you to consider this new step in taxing policy. I beg of you to allow at least that part of our amendment to be passed. I assure you that the Democratic Minority in the House will cooperate with you in concurring in the amendment if you, at this time, relieve the religious items from the burden and the necessity of paying the tax in Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, we hope some day soon, within the next week, to bring before this Senate of Pennsylvania a full scheduled program, showing how the tax burden in Pennsylvania has shifted from 1939 to 1953, from a definite source of revenue to the shoulders of the people of Pennsylvania. We will show by the acts which have been passed and repealed, we will show by the arguments made upon the floor by both sides and we will show by the Governor's Messages that the whole purpose and plan of the Republican strategy in Pennsylvania has been, since 1939, January 2, to shift the tax load in this Commonwealth from business and industry to the shoulders of the everyday citizens.

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, we can do no more than to place a pledge upon the record that the Democratic Members of this Senate are living up to their platform pledges, in which they said they would not vote for any new sources of taxation in this Commonwealth during this biennium. The Republican Party also made that pledge, but they have seen fit to break the pledge.

Mr. President, we say that the history of the past proves that we keep our platform pledges, and we pledge to you today that the platform plank heading our campaign next year will be a repeal of the sales tax in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, certainly industry has a strange suitor today. I am reminded of, for example, a woman who had been married to a man several years and he did not support her and just literally drove her out of the house. She had to leave this man and married another man, who has supported her all these years in good style. She dresses well, she eats well and she is getting along good, and now her first husband is coming back after all these years to tell her that he would like to have her leave this man and go back and live with him again. That is exactly what happened when the Democrats were in control in the Thirties. They literally made it mandatory for industry to leave the State of Pennsylvania, and now they want to hitch on again.

Mr. President, I ask for a little lenience from the Senator and the other Senators here. Senator Dent, in his speech, not only talked on the amendments, but I believe he went further than that and talked on the entire bill. Therefore, if I am to answer the Senator, I should have the same privilege.

Mr. President, certainly it comes at a strange time when the Democrats would offer amendments to this bill. Over in the House, it was generally known and conceded by the Democrats that this was a Republican measure, and toward the last they decided they would not do anything about it. They just would not vote for it, and they would let the Republicans put it through without any amendments over in the House and without very much debate on the bill.

Certainly, Mr. President, if the Democrats felt so keenly about this tax on corporation machinery, it would seem to me that they, over in the House, should have offered those amendments. Although the Senators says the Democrats would concur in the amendments, we have no assurance that the Republican Members of the House would concur.

Mr. President, this is the bill which the Republicans over in the House gave to us, without any Democratic help whatsoever. Therefore, I do not believe that it comes now with good grace that the Democrats over here should try to do anything about it. There is no assurance, even if we adopted the amendments offered by the Democrats, that they would vote for the bill. They probably would not vote for it.

Mr. President, they talk about the Republicans having an iron rule over the Senators here. They have the same caucus rule in the Democratic Caucus in the House, and, perhaps, in Democratic Caucus in the Senate. I draw this conclusion from the fact that a few days ago Senator Dent said that the only reason he was voting against a particular bill which was before us was because they had taken action in their caucus. Over in the House they went so far that the Minority Leader, Mr. Andrews, threatened that anyone who voted for a sales tax in the House would be excluded from the Democratic Caucus from that time on. Certainly we have not gone to that extent in the Republican Caucus in either the House or the Senate.

Mr. President, I do not believe that industry is objecting to a machinery tax. They understand that it is up to them to pay a part of this tax burden in the State of Pennsylvania, and I believe that they are going to pay it willingly. After all, Mr. President, who pays the taxes whether you put them on corporations, or whether you put them on machinery or wherever you put them? the consumer pays the taxes, and all these other people are just merely tax collectors; they are not taxpayers. No doubt that is the reason why the electric utilities were exempted in this bill.

Mr. President, electric utilities, as you all know, have a monopoly, and they are entitled under the Public Utility Law to a reasonable return on their investment. If you put a tax on them in addition to their other costs, they would only have to go back to the Public Utility Commission and ask for rate raises, so as to in include the amount of money that they pay out by this tax. Therefore, you would not be saving the average man very much, if any thing at all, if you put a tax on electric utilities which are already paying a gross receipts tax to the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, Senator Dent says that he cannot understand why the people who were against the automobile tax a week or so ago would now be in favor of the sales tax. That is certainly easy enough to understand. The automobile tax was at a greater rate than the sales tax, for one thing. The automobile tax was at two per cent and this is a one per cent tax.

Also, Mr. President, the automobile tax which was being considered a week or so ago did not allow any trade-in for the automobiles which were traded in on the new cars. There would be a great difference between the taxes computed, we will say, on a $3,000 car under this bill and the taxes computed under the other bill. Under the other legislation, the tax on a $3,000 automobile would have been $60, at the rate of two per cent. Today, it is usually the custom for a man who buys a $3,000 automobile to have about a $2,000 trade-in, so all he would have to pay would be one per cent on the difference between the $3,000 and the $2,000, which would be $10 under the sales tax bill. Therefore, you have a difference between $60 and $10 under the provisions of these two bills.

Mr. President, the Senator also said that if you had nine different items selling for eleven cents apiece, the tax would be one cent on each eleven cent purchase, so that out of a dollar the storekeeper might very well collect nine cents and he would only remit one cent. Senator Dent said, Mr. President, that this bill did not provide for the merchant turning over to the State the nine cents, and that the bill only provides that he would have to pay over one cent. If the Senator would look on page 9 of House Bill No. 909,—I do not know what page it is on in House Bill No. 908, but both of these provisions are the same in both bills—he will see that the total amount collected is to be remitted. Therefore, it is impossible, or at least illegal, for the merchant to retain more than he turns over to the State of Pennsylvania. In other words, if he collects nine cents on nine sales, then it is up to him, under the provisions of this bill, to turn over the nine cents to the State of Pennsylvania, and he does not comply with the bill by just merely turning over one cent to the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, much has been said about taxing the poor people under this legislation. Let us see how much the average family has to pay under the provisions of this bill. I want you to remember this also, that all of the money collected under this bill goes for education. In last evening's newspaper, I believe it was the Philadelphia Bulletin, the headline was, "Tax Would Cost Family $11 a Year," and stated as follows:

"Based on federal statistics for 1950, the State's proposed one per cent sales tax would cost the average Philadelphia family just silghtly more than $11 a year.

"The Bureau of Labor Statistics of the U. S. Department of Labor and Industry fixed the annual budget of the average Philadelphia family at $4,443.89.

"All but $1,110.94 of the expenditures would be exempt from the tax.

"Biggest single bite would be for automobiles. The U. S. bureau said the average Philadelphia family spent $354.62 for purchase of automobiles.

"The $71.49 a year spent for gasoline would not be taxed beyond the regular five-cents a gallon State tax.

"Other taxable items include house furnishings and equipment, $276.16; household operation items (paints, soaps, brushes, brooms, wallpaper, linoleum, etc.), $206.79; fuel, $113.12; tobacco, other than cigarettes, $13.58; personal care items, $53.67; books, $5; water, gas and other items, $88.

"Just to keep tabs on your neighbor, here's what the BLS says the average Philadelphia family spends on other items, not taxable:"

The newspaper then outlines several other items which I will not read and which are not taxable under the provisions of this bill.

I also, Mr. President, have a schedule prepared by the Health and Welfare Federation of Allegheny County, representing the cumulative work of a seventy-five man committee of Pittsburgh, who are representatives from the fields of medicine, nutrition, banking, business, education, and so forth, in which they outline a moderate cost of living budget. The items which would be taxable under the provisions of this bill, and this is on an annual basis, are house furnishings, $175.68; personal supplies, $35.64; and household operations, $38.16. Therefore, the average family, living according to this schedule and making that amount of money, would only have to pay $2.49 per year, which is certainly a small enough amount, indeed, to pay per year for the cost of educating their children.

Mr. President, I have received several telegrams from people throughout the State of Pennsylvania who feel that this is definitely a tax on the poor people and takes care of the rich people. It does not, in my opinion. I think these people are laboring under a misapprehension and have not read the bill. The rich man who goes down to the car dealer and buys a $5,000 Cadillac will certainly have to pay more tax than the fellow who goes down and buys a $2,000 or $2,500 Ford or Chevrolet. I think that this does tax those who spend a great deal, and leaves off pretty leniently the poor workman who does not spend a great deal for the taxable items under this bill.

Mr. President, if Senator Dent's amendments were adopted, according to his own statement, this bill would return about $30,000,000 less than it does under the provisions of the bill as written. Where would he get that $30,000,000? He would certainly have to go out and put some other tax on the people of Pennsylvania. He would probably have to pass one of those hodgepodges which we discussed a week or so ago, and at which even the Democrats threw up their hands and said they would not go along with at the last minute. We certainly do not want to put any more hodgepodge taxes on the people of Pennsylvania. We feel that this is a fair tax; this not only taxes the people according to their ability to pay, but it also gets some tax money out of industry.

Mr. President, we feel that the bill, as written, is a fair tax bill and one that, I believe, the people of Pennsylvania are ready to receive and pay. I know that as I go along, I talk to a number of people in all walks of life and they say, "When are you fellows down in Harrisburg going to pass that sales tax bill?" They have read about all these other hodgepodge taxes which we have been considering.

Mr. President, earlier in this Session we threw out the sales tax, and then we started to put taxes on a million other items. Finally, however, we were like the story in the Bible where the man brought the keystone to fit in the arch, and they discarded it and could not understand why a man would bring an odd shaped stone like that to fit in an arch. When the arch was up to the point where it needed the last remaining stone, they looked into the discarded pile and picked up the keystone, which they had formerly discarded, and found that it made a perfect arch. I believe that this sales tax, Mr. President, will make a perfect arch to our tax structure in the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, I cannot understand why the Senator would put in this amendment to exempt religious books and supplies for churches and so on, other than to becloud the issue a little bit more. It certainly would not amount to very much. The average church usually gets their various statues and religious articles, such as Bibles, by gifts from their church members. Usually you give a Bible in honor of your deceased mother or father, or perhaps present a window to the church. The church does not have to pay that tax, but the person who gives the item pays it, and I do not believe that he is going to object very much to it.

Mr. President, when we give a piece of property to a church, or we give a legacy of money to a church, the State taxes it, and there has not been any great howl from the Democrats about the fifteen per cent tax which we now put on legacies and bequests to religious institutions. Therefore, I do not believe that this little bit of tax, that the man who makes a gift to a church has to pay, is going to create any great havoc. If it eventually shows that it is definitely unjust and that there is going to be a great to-do over it, then that bug can be worked out of it in the 1955 Session of the Legislature, if that 1955 Session of the Legislature chooses to re-enact the sales tax.

Mr. President, I feel that there is no use in debating this bill at any greater length. As the Senator from Westmoreland brought out, he feels that the Republicans are going to vote for it as is, and I can assure him that I also share in that conviction that I believe we are going to have thirty-two votes for this bill as it came from the House. If the Senators will just allow us to go along and enact this legislation, as Hiram Andrews did over in the House, without throwing too many roadblocks at us, we will be able to get out of here in very reasonable time today.

Mr. President, I want to conclude by asking my colleagues to vote "no" on these amendments.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I enjoyed very much the brief explanation of the gentleman on the other side. I noted that he reminded me of a doctor I visited once when I was suffering with a little arthritis; there are different names for it, but I call it arthritis.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman yield? This seems to be the day of parables.

Mr. DENT. I went to the doctor and he said to me, "John, I am afraid you are drinking too much." I said, "Well, doctor, I have not had a drink for six months." "Well, then," he said, "It is simple; you are not drinking enough."

Mr. President, that seems to be the answer of the Majority Floor Leader, because he is opposed to taking the tax off of industry because it amounts to too much, and then he is opposed to taking the tax off of the churches because it amounts to too little. Somewhere in between we might find a place where we can come together. I recommend to him, Mr. President, that he read "The Angel's Lily."

Mr. President, I want to say to industry, in all our days when we were more or less accused of giving industry a rough time in this State, we never likened them to a faithless wife. There are other names that they call a faithless wife, but I will not apply them to industry. Mr. President, I want to remind the gentleman over there that we are not trying to take the faithless wife away from her husband right now; it is a slight flirtation. We hope the seduction will culminate next year.

Mr. President, I would also like to go home with the gentleman from Meadville, if he will take me this week, because I am sure that he will be received with bands and open arms. There will be singing in the streets and there will be flower-strewn paths, and I am sure that the confetti will be tossed from the business places because the hero has arrived; at last we are taxed. Never ahve I heard it better said.

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I know they have thirty-two votes and that is maybe as it should be. However, I just want to say again that it is a peculiar situation which finds thirty-two votes solidly for a bill that is more obnoxious than a bill which was presented two years, that no amount of pressure seemed to be able to solidify the Republican votes. Is it because this bill places the burden even more squarely upon the shoulders of the people? I believe it is.

Mr. President, I do not intend to take any more time except to say to the Floor Leader on the other side that when the Democratic Floor Leader, in his caucus, stated that any Democratic Member who would vote for a sales tax would not be allowed to participate in the Democratic Caucuses any more, it was not a threat, Mr. President, that was made to the members; it was just a statement of fact.

He also stated, Mr. President, that this is only a one per cent tax. I wonder if you will sit still long enough for me to put an amendment to this act, providing that it cannot go beyond the one per cent without a referendum to the people. Will you accept that amendment to this tax bill? Will you accept an amendment which places it specifically and definitely at one per cent? You will not, because you must increase it two years from now if you are to relieve the faithless woman, known as industry, from the burden of taking care of her children and reliece her of the $30,000,000 in taxes. You are going to have to place another one-half per cent upon the people in order to relieve industry. I will be glad to present the amendments, and have them ready, to limit this tax to one per cent without a referendum to the people. I will ask you to vote on that next.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I just want to correct the record. I likened industry to a faithful wife, not a faithless wife. It certainly has been a faithful wife. I do not want the Senator to conclude that I am likening industry to what he tried to point out.

There was one argument, Mr. President, which I meant to refer to and I did not. That is the argument that the Senator gave relative to why he could not understand why Senators here would vote for a sales tax and not an income tax.

Mr. President, there is a great difference between a sales tax and an income tax. For instance, one reason why they might very well refuse to vote for an income tax is because so many miunicipalities, under the provisions of Act No. 481, have enacted wage taxes and they did not feel that we should dip into the laborer's envelope and take out and withhold more of his salary. That was the reason some of them gave for not wanting to vote for an income tax in the 1951 Session.

Also, Mr. President, the income tax, under the provisions of our Constitution, could not give any exemptions. We could not exempt anything. We had to tax from the very first dollar that the laborer made. This sales tax does provide for many exemptions. There are very few items that the average family will buy on which they will have to pay a tax. We have exempted groceries and all food items. We have exempted the clothing and the shoes that a person wears. Also, we have exempted drugs and those things which he gets by prescription from the doctor.

Mr. President, what is he going to have to pay a tax on? It was brought out in the paper, in the article which I read a short time ago, that the main thing on which he will have to pay a tax will be the automobile. If he gets an allowance, as he will under the provisions of this bill, for the amount of trade-in on the new car, the amount of that tax will not be a great deal. I would say that it would average about $10 to $11 per year for the average family in Pennsylvania. Those families where the head of the family is only making $4,000 to $4,500 a year, I would say that that family would not have to spend more than about $5 to $6 at the very most for the sales tax under the provisions of this bill.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I do not want to carry the debate any longer. We know the cards are on the table; everybody can see everything but the hole card and we are guessing at that. I just wanted to say that the Majority Leader has said that the tax is hardly on anything that a person uses. In reality, this is a tax from the cradle to the grave. It taxes baby buggies and caskets.

Mr. President, the gentleman said that the reason the income tax would be obnoxious to some of the Republican Members is because districts have placed, under Act No. 481, local income taxes. I wonder if the gentleman knows that under Act No. 481 a great many communities, including our largest communities in the Commonwealth, have placed mercantile taxes which are, in reality, a sales tax at the source. This is a double taxation, because it taxes again those items which are taxed by the mercantile tax.

Therefore, Mr. President, there is no difference in the basic taxation. The people are paying it, and that is the important item in this piece of legislation. The people, the ordinary wage earners, that so many are solicituos about, are paying at the present time the greater share of the tax burden in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I just want to say one thing relative to the mercantile tax. As the Senator brings up these arguments piecemeal, I have to answer them.

Mr. President, he stated that many communities have adopted the mercantile tax. Most communities under the mercantile tax law only assess a tax of $1 per thousand. I do not know of any community that assesses more than $1 per thousand on the retail sales, which tax is usually absorbed by the merchant. In other words, if a merchant has $100,000 worth of sales in a year, his entire tax would be $100. So, it would be impossible for him to pass on that small amount of tax to the consumer who comes in, for instance, and buys a lead pencil or a writing tablet or some item such as that. The merchants pretty well absorb that small amount of tax, and the consumer does not pay any part of it.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I will just make a few brief remarks because I am most anxious to conclude this debate and let the Majority Floor Leader get back to the people, who have been begging for this tax, and tell them that the mission has been accomplished.

Mr. President, I would just like to say that since I have been a Member of this body I have heard, earlier this week and previous thereto, many pople speak about this interest or that interest, or this person or that person in the Commonwealth being hurt by this or that program or this or that bill. The gentleman who grace the aisles and the sides of this body have come to me and have spoken to me about this matter or that matter in which they are interested, and they have spoken to the other Senators about matters in which they have been interested. However, no one, not a single person, has come to this body or has spoken to any of these Senators or any of the representatives here about the people, or what they want or what they are interested in. It looks like the people are being penalized because they have chosen to rely upon the people they have elected to stand up and speak for their rights.

Mr. President, this bill is a further step in passing on the tax burden to the people. Earlier this week we did partially that by taking care of the machinery tax in certain areas. This is just one more step in passing on the greater tax burden to those who are least able to pay.

Mr. President, we had an opportunity in this body earlier to put the cart behind the horse, instead of in front of the horse, by enacting some of the economy bills which everybody said were fine things and would help this Commonwealth. We proceeded to knock every one of those bills in the head. Finally, one did get through and got up to the front office and then was vetoed.

Mr. President, also, the people in this Commonwealth are not receiving the complete information to which they are entitled, because the media of communication is very conservative and sort of tends to lean to different areas or sides in which they are particularly interested. Regardless of whether they tell the story, or regardless of whether they give the complete story to the people or not, it will become clearer and clearer to the people as they have to dig down into their pockets every time they buy something and pay out either a few pennies more or a few dollars more, depending upon the item.

Mr. President, one of the things that we have completely missed, I believe, in this Session is that no one has asked whether the Governor actually needs this money or whether the Commonwealth actually needs this money for which he is asking and which we are now getting ready to supply by this means of taxation. We have not enacted any economy measures, and we have not investigated the budget or cut out the fat.

Mr. President, in Philadelphia alone they have just put on, I believe, about twenty or thirty persons who were fired from the city administration and placed them on the State payroll. This also, I presume, will come out of this new tax measure to take care of some of the faithful.

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I feel that if we enact this tax and do not put in some of these amendments that the Democratic Members of this Senate are asking for, I believe that we will be sorry, and the Republican Party will be sorry and will find that this will come back to haunt them in the coming election.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Will the gentleman inform me whether or not life insurance and other types of fire insurance are taxable under this act?

Mr. MAHANY. I would say definitely not, Senator.

Mr. HALUSKA. What was the answer?

Mr. MAHANY. Definitely not; it is a sales tax. You would not pay any tax on tangible personal property, and not on life insurance policies or fire insurance policies. There is no intent whatsoever to tax those items.

Mr. HALUSKA. Will the gentleman inform me as to what he estimates will be the number of persons added to the payroll to collect this tax?

Mr. MAHANY. I have no idea, Senator, how many it will take. I do not suppose anybody would know the exact number.

Mr. HALUSKA. Do you have any idea at all as to how many it will be? Will it be 1,000, 2,000 or 5,000? How many people will be added to the payroll to collect this tax?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair suggests that the gentleman from Crawford has already said that he has no idea.

Mr. HALUSKA. I asked if he had any idea at all. That is a little different.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman just said he has no idea.

Mr. MAHANY. Any guess that I would make would be strictly a guess. It would just be like picking a figure out of the air, and I do not want to do that.

I will say this, Senator, that we will try to have enough efficient employees to do the job and no more.

Mr. HALUSKA. That will be plenty, of course.

Mr. President, as my colleague from Westmoreland County has stated, we only want to keep the record straight. We know the vote will be 32 to 18. We are happy to note that the Republican Party is unified and solidified, and not even one of them will jump the traces.

Mr. President, we shall carry the issue to every nook and corner of this great Commonwealth. That shall be part of our party platform, the great part of it. We shall carry this message into every hamlet of Pennsylvania, and the people shall decide next year as to whether we are going to have a three per cent tax or no tax at all. That is what it will amount to. You do not have the courage to amend it to provide that the sales tax shall stay at one per cent. It will be two per cent and three per cent, if the Republicans get back in power next year.

Mr. President, I can assure you that next year will be the deciding year, and the people shall have the opportunity to decide whether they want a sales tax or whether they do not. That will be our issue.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

(A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the negative.)

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I want the record to show that the eighteen Democrats are recorded as voting for the amendments.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. May the Chair point out to the gentleman that a roll call was not requested, and that on a voice vote the "nays" had it and the amendments fell.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time, and I desire to make a brief statement before I offer the amendments.

Mr. President, I rise to oppose this sales tax bill, first, because, in my opinion, it is an unfair tax, it is a vicious tax and it is a tax on those least able to pay. I might add, for the record, that in opposing this sales tax, I am complying with the provisions of the Democratic Platform. I might say to the Majority that if they would read the platform of the Republican Party and would abide by its provisions, they, too, would vote against this sales tax because, first, the Republican Platform indicated that no new taxes would be necessary to finance the obligations of the Commonwealth and, second, the Republican Platform stated that if taxes were needed they would not be placed on any special group.

Mr. President, it goes without saying that a sales tax is placed on a special group. It is placed on the rank and file of the people of this Commonwealth.

Mr. President, Senator Mahany, the Majority Leader, attempted to deny this fact in answer to a letter he said he received from someone stating that it was a tax against the poor. In justification of his argument, he stated that the rich man would have to pay a higher tax on a Cadillac that he bought than the poor man would have to pay on a less expensive car.

Mr. President, I suppose that is true, but the argument in itself is just plain silly because there are many items in this sales tax bill where the cost is uniform. Therefore, the poor man will have to pay the same amount of tax on those items as the rich man. As the old saying goes, "God made more poor people than He made rich people, because He probobly loves the poor people better." Since there are more poor people than rich people, it is a tax against the poor, the rank and file of those who earn their bread and butter by the sweat of their brow.

Mr. President, I heard Senator Mahany also make reference to a policy which was adopted by the House Caucus, in which he said that there was some sort of rule that any Member of the Democratic House who would vote for the sales tax would be excluded from the Democratic Caucus. I do not know whether this is true or not. I just want to say, however, to the Majority Leader that the right to invoke the unit rule is not only the right of the Republican Party, but, it is also the right of the Democratic Party. If the Democratic Caucus of the House wanted to get together and adopt a rule that would call for the exclusion of any Member who violated the Democratic Platform, that was their business and not the business of the Majority Leader, just as it is none of our business if the Republican Majority in the Senate invokes the unit rule. After all, all of us are here to vote as we please, and I am sure that if any Member of the Democratic Party felt that he wanted to vote for the sales tax or any other bill there would be nothing to stop him, because this is America and we can vote as we please.

I am opposing this bill for another reason, Mr. President. The bill itself is very, very loosely drawn. It seems to me that the way it is drawn it will set up thousands of tax collectors throughout Pennsylvania, without the proper safeguards to insure that the tax which is paid by the rank and file of the people of this State will actually be paid into the State Treasury. I think that that is a fallacy in the bill. It is open to fraud, it is open to corruption by those who do the collecting without proper safeguards to detect them. I want to say to you here and now that because this bill is as loosely drawn as it is, it is going to present more administration problems than you can think of and, as I said before, open the door to fraud and perhaps it will result in even chaos.

Mr. President, I am also opposed to this bill for another reason. This opposition is represented by my amendments. As I reviewed this bill, Mr. President, I saw nowhere where the Auditor General of this Commonwealth, Which is the auditing agency of the State, has any right anywhere to do the auditing of the accounts of those thousands of tax collectors which will be set up under the provisions of this bill. It seems to me that the Auditor General should have that function delegated to him.

Mr. President, I called up the officials of the State of Maryland, where a sales tax is in force, and I asked them whether the collecting agency was also the auditing agency. The answer was "no."

I think the same rule should apply here, Mr. President. The Department of Revenue is set up in this bill to administer the provisions of this act, and, perhaps, to a certain extent, rightfully so, because it is the collecting agency for the Commonwealth. In all sincerity, I do not believe that the Department of Revenue, which is not equipped to do the auditing, should be assigned the function of auditing the accounts of those who are set up as the collectors and the transmitters of the funds which are collected from the rank and file.

In other words, Mr. President, what you are doing is having the Department of Revenue act in a dual capacity. It collects and then audits itself, or it audits the agents which are set up under the act to collect and transmit the funds. I do not believe that that is a proper safeguard. I do not believe that it is good business practice, and I do not think it will inure to the benefit of the Commonwealth. I do, in all sincerity, think that the bill should be amended, setting up the Auditor General as the auditing agency under the provisions of this bill.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Sec. 406, page 25, line 19, by striking out "department or any of its" and inserting in lieu thereof: "Auditor General or any of his"; Amend Sec. 406, page 25, line 19, by striking out "is" and inserting in lieu thereof: "are"; Amend Sec. 406, page 26, line 3, by striking out "department" and inserting in lieu thereof: "Auditor General"; Amend Sec. 406, page 26, line 7, by striking out "department or its" and inserting in lieu thereof: "Auditor General or his"; Amend Sec. 406, page 26, line 9, by striking out "department" and inserting in lieu thereof: "Auditor General"; Amend Sec. 406, page 26, line 17, by striking out "department" and inserting in lieu thereof: "Auditor General"; Amend Sec. 406, page 27, line 8, by striking out "department" and inserting in lieu thereof: "Auditor General"; Amend Sec. 407, page 28, line 8, by striking out "department" and inserting in lien thereof: "Auditor General"; Amend Sec. 408, page 29, line 4, by striking out "department" and inserting in lieu thereof: "Auditor General"; Amend Sec. 410, page 30, line 6, by striking out "department" and inserting in lieu thereof: "Auditor General"; Amend Sec. 502, page 32, line 6, by striking out "department" and inserting in lieu thereof: "Auditor General"; Amend Sec. 502, page 32, line 8, by striking out "department or any of its" and inserting in lieu thereof: "Auditor General or any of his".

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

MOTION THAT AMENDMENTS BE ADOPTED

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I move that the amendments to House Bill No. 909 be adopted.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I do not believe these amendments are good, because certainly the Federal Income Tax Law does not provide that the Auditor General, or someone in like capacity in the Federal Government, has the authority to examine the books of taxpayers under the Federal law. That job is usually done, and is done, under the Federal law by the Collector or Director, now as he is called, of Revenue. These collectors, who will be out in the field as the agents of the Department of Revenue, will be the ones that should examine the books of the taxpayer they think might be defrauding the State in the matter of remitting the tax collected by him, and that will be their job. Certainly, the Department of Revenue should be the one under our law of Pennsylvania to do the whole job under this legislation.

Mr. President, I want to also answer one argument which the Senator gave relative to the fact that this would be a great tax upon the poor people. I have just received a bulletin from the Department of Public Assistance in Pennsylvania, in which they set up, under table 1 on page 2 of this bulletin, the amount of monthly assistance as being $61 for this adult recipient living alone, and the amount of tax under the items which they set forth would be, for that person receiving $61 from the State, ten cents tax per month. Another case, under table 3, is a parent and two children, age 5 or over, who are receiving $119 assistance from the State, and the tax to that family would be fifteen cents per month. I do not think that we are taxing the poor people under this legislation.

Mr. President, I am going to ask my colleagues to vote "no" on these amendments.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

(A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the negative.)

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I would like to ask unanimous consent to offer the following amendments, and in doing so I want to inform the Majority Leader that these amendments will in no way affect the subject matter in House Bill No. 909 in its present form. What these amendments will do for this biennium, Mr. President and Members of the Senate, is this. They will add a new section, Section 703, which will provide:

"At the general election to be held in 1954, the Secretary of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania shall cause to be printed on the ballott the following question

"Shall any future sales tax be increased by the Legislature beyond the present rate of 1% on tangible property?"

I, therefore, Mr. President, ask unanimous consent to offer these amendments.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend House Bill No. 909, Printer's No. 474, article 7, page 33, by adding after line 15, on said page 33, a new section to read as follows: "Section 703 at the General Election to be held in 1954, the Secretary of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania shall cause to be printed on the ballot the following question Shall any future sales tax be increased by the Legislature beyond the present rate of 1% on tangible property?"

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

MOTION THAT AMENDMENTS BE ADOPTED

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I move that the amendments to House Bill No. 909 be adopted.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

(A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the negative).

And the question recurring.

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I am not going to waste my breath here today, because the Majority Leader stated he thought he had thirty-two votes for this legislation. He knows of what he speaks, and I know that this is the case.

However, Mr. President, I do want this in the record. This is just an additional sales tax, it is a broad base tax which is being put on, and by the rejection of these a mendments it seems to me that the people of Pennsylvania should be forewarned that in all probability at the next biennium there will be an increase in the sales tax, but we do not know just how much.

Just for the record, Mr. President, we now have a sales tax on cigarettes which brings in approximately $92,-000,000; we have a sales tax on gasoline which brings in around $200,000 000 a biennium; we have a sales tax on real estate whereby the real estate transfer tax brings in around $36,000,000; and now we have this one per cent sales tax, which is ultimately going to be passed here today, and the authorities, the powers that be, say it is going to bring in around $125,000,000 in additional taxes.

Mr. President, I want to call your attention to the statements which were made a few days ago when we had an argument on the machinery tax. At that particular time, speakers for the Majority side took the position that if we placed a tax upon machinery, we would force industry out of the State. Here today, they rejected Senator Dent's amendments which would have exempted machinery from taxes.

Therefore, it seems to me, Mr. President, that circumstances alter cases. After this bill is passed, I believe the people of Pennsylvania are going to say it costs too much to live and you cannot afford to die because this sales tax is going to tax baby buggies and caskets, inclusive. I feel sorry for the electorate here in Pennsylvania, but I want you to know that this one per cent sales tax which you are going to pay is just the beginning, because in the bienniums to come I expect this sales tax to be increased as the years go by.

Mr. President, they have solved all of the fiscal problems of the Commonwealth. They say that this is on for a two year period and, yet, my amendments were rejected. The proceeds of this tax are earmarked for education, and it is going into the General Fund. It seems to me that there is a lot of double talk here.

Mr. President, as I said before, I am not going to waste my breath. You have the votes, you pass the bill.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I just want to add to what Senator Lane has said. He said that you cannot afford to die, and I now also find in the bill that you cannot afford to pray. In this bill prayer books, any books used in religion, the crucifix used on the altars, the altar rails, the communion cloth, the collection baskets and everything used in religion is taxed. We are going to have the distinction of being the only State in the United States that believes people should be taxed who are religious. I think that this is a disgrace.

I do think, Mr. President, that this bill should be held up long enough to get the amendments. I just had a telephone call from Pittsburgh, for your information, which notified me—by one of the clerygmen of Pittsburgh—that they have just awakened to the fact that everything used in religion, including the candles on the altar, and the candle holders on the altar, will be taxed. Maybe some of us do not go to church enough to know that they use these things in church, but they do use these things in church and there are people in Pennsylvania who go to church and pray. I do not like to see a tax on the good people of Pennsylvania who, I have no doubt, are praying for our souls today, and God knows we need them.

Mr. President, there is one other thing which you tax. You have not stopped at religion, but now you are going to tax the patriotic people. If I buy a little flag to wave on the Fourth of July, I am taxed. In other words, the great party of patriotism and flagwaving has now changed to the point where we are going to put a tax on everybody who waves a flag.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman yield a moment? May the Chair suggest that there is no tax on the flag he is now waving?

Mr. HOLLAND. Unfortunately, I do not have a flag, but even the flag behind the Presiding Officer will be taxed.

Mr. President, there is one other thing which I would like to point out. I made a telephone call to a friend of mine in the glass business last evening, because I have spent my life in that business. He informed me that when they fix a pot or a tank in a glass factory, they will be taxed. Everybody knows that they do not last long. They fall in, cave in and collapse from use, sometimes they are only in a day or two, or a week. Every time they use a new tank, they are going to be taxed.

Mr. President, I did not know that it went this far, but he informed me that his attorney told him that on every bit of maintenance done in that factory, as well as the maintenance done in the steel mills, a tax will be imposed. If you take electrical wiring and repair it, you have to pay a use tax under this bill. In the steel industry where they use refactories, every time they put refactories in, and they are putting them in all the time around the open blast furnaces, they will have to pay another tax.

Mr. President, I think the amendments were very fair. I think we are wasting a lot of time in the State doing nothing. Now that this bill has started through, we want to push it through in a hurry before we wake up to the things which we are doing.

Mr. President, if the Republican Party feels that they want to tax religious articles, that is up to them. I, as a Democrat, do not want to tax religious articles. I want to encourage people to use religious articles. If you want to tax the churches for every new altar rail they put in, or new altar they put in, that is up to you. I do not want to be accused of that.

Mr. President, I am now drawing it to your attention that you are putting a tax on patriotism, you are putting a tax on religion and, above all, you are taxing the maintenance of every factory in the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I consider this tax a bad tax primarily for the reasons already advanced, that it falls upon the people least able to pay.

Mr. President, perhaps, there is a silver lining to the cloud which is about to burst on the people of Pennsylvania, and that is a greater realization by the people of Pennsylvania, and by their representatives in the House and Senate, that the only solution to the tax muddle in Pennsylvania is an amendment to the Constitution to provide for a graduated income tax, a tax based upon the modern concept of ability to pay.

An the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Section 2 This reenacting and amending act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendment made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, in order to expedite the work of the day so that we can reach the end of the calendar, I would like to make a brief statement of policy which I have explained already to the Majority Leader.

Mr. President, the Democratic Minority refuses to play the role of dog in the manger. It refuses to accept the responsibilities of government without providing its share

Mr. President, these next bills are considered the basic tax bills of Pennsylvania, and provide the greater portion of the amount needed for the current expenses of the biennium. The Democratic Minority wishes it known that it is going on record as voting for all of the old taxes now being re-enacted, except the tax on transportation gross receipts, because it feels that in the final determination of that tax, it is probably more responsible for the bankruptcy of transportation companies because there is little or no relationship which can be measured in the relationship between gross receipts of transportation companies and the net return.

Therefore, Mr. President, we will be recorded unanimously on our side on all the tax bills being called out of order except the transportation tax, which is House Bill No. 816.

An the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, last Sunday afternoon, while watching television, the "Man of the Week Program" was on the air and the National Director of Civil Defense, who was declared the "man of the week," was interviewed by a series of topnotch newspapermen from around the Country. He was interviewed on the subject of preparedness under the civil defense program. He admitted and it was established that there was one thing wrong with the civil defense program, and that is the apathy of the people. They do not seem to realize just how serious the situation is which confronts us.

The head of the civil defense admitted that the Russians had an atomic bomb supply sufficient to come over to this Country and drop atomic bombs on all strategic points in the Country. That statement brought up the question of air raid shelters. It was admitted that this is the greatest laxity in the program. They discussed ways and means of how air raid shelters could be provided. Of course, when they went into the cost, they decided that the cost was prohibitive.

It was my thought, Mr. President, with all of the new construction going on throughout the United States, both public and private, that it might be well as a starting point to make it mandatory for those who draft plans and specifications to include air raid shelters in new construction, both public and private.

Accordingly, Mr. President, I had a bill drafted which I desire to present at this time and which would require the inclusion of air raid shelters in all plans and specifications for new construction both public and private, as a starting point to make ready for any eventuality which might happen in the present or in the foreseeable future.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. YOSKO read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 781, entitled:

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr SILVERT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, on February 9 of this year, a number of Senators sponsored a Fair Employment Practice Bill in the Senate and it was assigned No. 95. This bill was identical with the bill offered in the Senate at the 1951 Session, which bill died by a tie vote in committee. Since the introduction of this bill in the Senate, in April of this year, House Bill No. 1165 has been introduced, a Fair Employment Practice Bill, which has been in committee ever since.

Mr President, I understand that House Bill No. 1165, the Fair Employment Practice Bill, has the support of Governor Fine as well as the support of all organizations interested in FEPC. Now, Mr. President, House Bill No. 1165, as of this moment, is still in committee, although I hear reports of its likelihood of coming out.

Mr. President, I am at this time introducing a Senate bill which is identical with House Bill No. 1165. If the House Bill fails to move, then we will ask the committee to which this Senate Bill is assigned to act on it.

Mr. President, I am not going to make a long speech on FEPC, except to say this. I wish to read a short statement from a message from the Governor's Commission on Industrial Race Relations. This short statement was given by former Senator Sordoni, our present Secretary of Commerce, and read as follows:

"FEPC is good business, 'says Sordoni' employee morale gets a big lift, and employee output shows a big boost when all employees are convinced that they will be judged solely on performance and not on what church they worship or who their parents were."

Mr President, if the House fails to act on House Bill No. 1165, then on this side we will ask for action on this present bill that I am introducing.

Mr. President, this bill is sponsored by my colleagues, Senator Barr and Senator Leader.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERREI

Messrs. SILVERT, BARR and LEADER read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 784, entitled:

Mr PECHAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PPRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, the Church—and I use it to apply to all denominations, Protestant, Catholic and Jewish—has been working incessantly for a revival of religion to secure greater numbers of individuals to take an active part in bringing a better state of religion, not only to America but to the world in general.

The greatest obstacle to atheistic communism is the faith in God on the part of the people, and the desire on the part of the people to have a freedom to worship as their individual consceince dictates.

Mr. President, the government of the United States has always guaranteed the freedom of worship and, to help promote religion, has over the years exempted from taxation the places of worship, the religious institutions and all religious articles used in religious ceremonies. The passage of the sales and the use tax, by the Republican Members of the General Assembly, broke this tradition that has existed since the formation of our Republic and our Commonwealth.

Mr. President, I have been advised by qualified legal authority that with the passage of these two bills by the Republican Senators last Friday, beginning September 1 of this year, all religious articles used in religious rituals shall be subjected to a one per cent sales tax. To be more explicit, a one per cent sales tax must be paid on the vestments used by the clergy, the altar cloths, the chalice, the crucifix, the statues, the candles, the candle holders, the prayer books, the hymnals and so forth. Once again taxes shall be levied on them by the State as the early Christians paid to the Romans of old, and the persecuted Jews paid to the state for centuries upon centuries.

Mr. President, the Republican Senators and Legislators did not stop at a sales tax, but a use tax was heaped upon the sales tax to make the burden of our churches even greater. Beginning September 1, if any church makes repairs to their building or buildings, they will have to pay a one per cent use tax. The very maintenance of present church properties shall also be taxed at one per cent. The building of new churches shall pay one per cent of the estimated cost. For example, St. Peter's Church, in my District, was burned down and a new edifice is being built. The estimated cost is $400,000. Due to the use tax, the members of this parish shall pay $4,000 more because of the action of the Republican Members of the House and Senate.

Mr. President, the fight between religion and godless Russia is certainly not helped by the action of the Republicans of Pennsylvania. Instead of helping religion, we are adopting the communist method of placing greater obstacles in the way of God's work.

Mr. President, I personnally arose in this Senate last Friday and pointed out this grave injustice, but the Republican Senators showed callous indifference to my plea, and merly laughed off the Democratic attempt to amend the bill to exempt churches and religious institutions.

Mr. President, I am requesting that the Republican Majority of the Senate do reconsider their action and request a recall from the Governor's desk of the legislation just passed, and amend the bill to exempt churches and all religious institutions and religious articles.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. KESSLER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, the increasing cost of public education and the great endeavors to equalize public education have lead my colleague, Senator Wagner, and I to introduce this resolution.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS

DIRECTING JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO MAKE A THOROUGH AND COMPREHENSIVE STUDY OF PUBLIC SCHOOLS OF THIS COMMONWEALTH

Messrs. KESSLER and WAGNER offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Education:

In the Senate, July 13, 1953.

Whereas, Appropriations for public school subsidies have represented an increasingly large portion of total appropriations from the General Fund of the Commonwealth; and

Whereas, The sum of $358,000,000 for "support of public schools" is recommended by the Governor in his budget for the biennium 1953-55; and

Whereas, It is estimated that $630,000,000 will be required for Commonwealth subsidies for "support of public schools" for the biennium 1959-61: and

Whereas, These figures do not include substantial amounts which will be required for appropriations on account of school employes' retirement and school building rentals; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Joint State Government Commission is hereby directed to make a thorough and comprehensive study of the public schools of this Commonwealth, such study to include, but not to be confined to, the following:

1. State and local support of the public schools, with particular emphasis on Commonwealth subsidies for school building rentals and closed schools

2. Administration of the public schools on the local level, with particular emphasis upon the administrative relationships between districts under district superintendents and districts under county superintendents

3. Curricula of both elementary schools and high schools, and the methods and criteria employed in connection with the promotion of pupils; and be it further

Resloved, That the Joint State Government Commission shall, from time to time, report the findings of its continuing study to the General Assembly.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR. asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR. Mr. President, the Monongahela Valley, from the point in Pittsburgh to the West Virginia line, in Greene County, has been full of historical events throughout the history of our Nation and before this great Republic was founded.

Therefore, Mr. President, this resolution really brings forth to the Legislature, the House and the Senate, if concurred in by the House, the idea of having the river road along the river through Allegheny County, the great steel center of the world and the great coal fields of Pennsylvania, be known as the "Monongahela Trail."

URGING THAT THE MONONGAHELA TRAIL BE DEDICATED AS A MEMORIAL HIGHWAY

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR. offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Highways:

In the Senate, July 13, 1953.

The old Monongahela Trail in western Pennsylvania has been a part of the history and development of our State since the first Indian tribes moulded it out of the wilderness; the Monongahela Trail that travels along the greatest Valley in the World through the heart of America. During the early 18th century, thousands of Americans moved down the Monongahela River by barge to the great Ohio River at the point in Pittsburgh. On this trail is found the point where General Edward Braddock was mortally wounded during the French and Indian War;the headquarters used during the Whiskey Rebellion; the place where the first inland steamboat was built; and the place where the Flagship of the Texas Navy was built. It passes the famous point in Pittsburgh, the site of historic Fort Duquesne. It follows the Monongahela Rivers, which carry more tonnage in water freight each year than either the Panama or Suez Canals. It winds through the greatest industrial area in the world, the steel capital of the world, one of the greatest glass manufacturers and one of the most famous coal mining areas of the world.

The Monongahela Trails pass the trail to the Ten Mile Creek at Rices Landing in Greene County and travels through one of the most beautiful sections of Pennsylvania, where nature's splendor rivals the scenery of any part of the world, and provides a stunning contrast to the developments of man. It is an area where the majestic hills of Pennsylvania display a magnificence that fills the beholder with awe.

It is tragic that thousands of people travel the Monongahela Trail unaware that they are surrounded by history and a tradition of honest hard labor and devotion to God and Country that is surpassed no where in the world; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the old Monongahela Trail, starting at the great Point on the south side of the Monongahela River across from Fort Duquesne, the great Gateway to the West; thence up through the south side of the City of Pittsburgh. on up the Valley through West Homestead, Homestead,Munhall, Whitaker, West Mifflin, City of Duquesne, Dravosburg, City of Clairton, West Elizabeth, Jefferson, Elrama in Allegheny County; thence up the Valley through New Eagle, City of Monongahela, Donora, North Charleroi, Charleroi, Spears, Allenport, Stockdale, Roscoe, Elko, Coal Center, California, West Brownsville,Vesta, Fredericktown, Millsboro in Washington County; thence up the Valley to Rices Landing in Greene County, on to Crucible, Jacobs Ferry, Nemacoln, Greensboro, Poland; thence to the West Virginia State Line, be dedicated as a memorial highway in commemoration of the many contributions to the progress of America, made in this valley by people of this Valley; and be it further

Resolved, That the Department of Highways shall erect along said highways suitable tablets or markers and shall carry out suitable landscape development to perpetuate this resolution, but shall not replace or change the officially designated route numbers or names or markers thereof of any highway included in the Monongahela Trail.

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr.McCUSKER offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, July 13, 1953.

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, July 20, at three o'clock p. m., E. S. T. and when the Houes of Representatives adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, July 20, 1953 at one o'clock p. m.., E. S. T.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 576, entitled:

An Act defining and providing for the licensing of water well drillers conferring powers and imposing duties on the Water and Power Resources Board of the Department of Forests and Waters and prescribing penalties.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Somerset, Senator Hare.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Somerset,

Mr. Hare, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HARE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Senator Hare, the question has arisen at our caucus as to the real purpose of this legislation. Would you mind explaining, in a few words, exactly what is behind the reasoning which compels this bill to be before us?

Mr. HARE. Senator Dent, as everyone who is at all delving into the problem understands, the water table is creating a terrific situation, not only in Pennsylvania but all over America. The Department of Forests and Waters thought that this was one means they had of determining the condition of the water table in Pennsylvania, by having reports made on all well drilling by authorized and licensed well drillers.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, that is what somebody reported in caucus as being the purpose of the bill. However, when I started to read it, I found that the report contains so much more information that it may endanger the ability of an individual who wants to be a well driller.

Mr. President, some well drillers, as you know, are the old-timers who take a forked peach branch and go out and divine where water is supposed to be, and then sink a well into the ground. That is about all they do about it until the water comes up and they case it and pump it, and that is about the end of it. Now, if they must answer all of these questions that you have contained in this bill, I am afraid that the next thing we will find is that a man has to be a college graduate to be a well driller.

Mr. President, I am suspicious of licensing bills, but I am for the purpose of the bill. Is there any way that the bill can be amended to say that the man reports where he drilled the well, how deep he had to go and what type of water? They all know that much.

Mr. HARE. Mr. President, if it will help the gentleman's position, I will be glad to have the bill go over today.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, let me clarify that. I just do not want to put any more restrictive legislation on the statute books with my vote.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. HARE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 576, Printer's No. 393, on final passage go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

REQUEST THAT BILL GO OVER IN ORDER

(The Senate was at ease.)

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Majority Floor Leader, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Majority Floor Leader, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. YOSKO. Senator Mahany, since this bill is on final passage, will it be possible to present amendments tomorrow?

Mr. MAHANY. It would not be, Mr. President, unless you reconsidered the vote by which it passed third reading.

Mr. YOSKO. Then, may I ask unanimous consent to reconsider the vote by which the bill passed third reading?

Mr. MAHANY. I suggest that you do that tomorrow It can be done then just as well as today.

The PRESIDENT. If the Chair may make a suggestion, the Chair thinks the chances would be as good tomorrow as they are today.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I just want to say that before the bill reached that stage in your routine at the rostrum, I stood here trying to get your attention to make the request which I did make, that the bill go over.

The PRESIDENT. Well, the Chair could only suggest that in the future the Senator could prevent that situation if he resorted to a war whoop in case the microphone does not operate. The Chair just did not happen to be looking. The Chair wishes to assure the Senator it was not by design.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I admit that and I realize that. It is for this reason that I asked for the courtesy.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Northampton. Mr. Yosko, of course, is cognizant of the fact that the Chair is helpless. You fifty Senators must tell the Chair what to do.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

SECOND READING CALENDAR

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 14, entitled:

An Act to further amend Section 1 of the act approved the twenty-fifth day of June one thousand nine hundred forty-seven (P. L. 948) entitled "An act authorizing the laying out and taking over by the Secretary of Highways with the approval of the Governor of new State highways routes in certain cases providing for their laying out opening construction reconstruction and maintenance at the expense of the Commonwealth and making an appropriation" by authorizing the Department of Highways to add two new routes in Cumberland Delaware and Philadelphia counties

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that House Bill No. 27, on second reading, entitled:

An Act to amend section 2 of the act approved the first day of June one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 1340) entitled "An act relating to the financial responsibility of operators and owners of motor vehicles and to make uniform the law with reference thereto requiring owners and operators in certain cases to furnish proof of financial responsibility providing for the suspension of operator's licenses and motor vehicle registration certificates in certain cases regulating insurance policies which may be accepted as proof of financial responsibility imposing duties upon the Secretary of Revenue the State Treasurer and prothonotaries and prescribing penalties" by extending the time within which certain appeals may be taken and providing that such appeals may be taken to the court of common pleas of the county in which the aggrieved person resides be recommitted to the Committee on Highways.

Mr. HARE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Majority Floor Leader, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Majority Floor Leader, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. Mahany, I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. Senator Mahany, as I understand it, this bill was passed by the last Session of the Legislature and was vetoed by the Governor. Am I correct in that?

Mr. MAHANY. I do not know that it was, Mr. President. The Senate History would show that. I do not recollect that it was.

Mr. BARR. Senator Mahany, for your information, the sponsor of the bill told that to me today when we were riding in from Pittsburgh.

Mr. President, this simply gets us in line with the Motor Vehicle Code; that is, if you do not like the decision of the Department of Revenue, you can take your appeal to the court in the county in which you reside. This does the same thing as the Financial Responsibility Act, in that you take your action to the court in the county in which you reside.

Do you not think that this would be helpful to the citizens of our Commonwealth, in that they would not have to come all the way from Allegheny County to Dauphin County in order to appeal a decision of the Department of Revenue regarding anything concerning the Financial Responsibility Act?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I do not want to be in the position of arguing the merits of the bill. As I understand it, a motion to recommit is not debatable.

The PRESIDENT. That is correct.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I did not mean to debate the bill; I simply thought I would give some information to the Majority Floor Leader on what happened to the bill two years ago. Before the vote is taken, perhaps some of the Senators on the Majority side would like to help the people in their counties from having to come as far as Harrisburg in order to appeal a decision from the Department of Revenue in anything concerning the Financial Responsibility Act.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

(A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the affirmative.)

Mr. HARE. Mr. President, I Second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 478, entitled:

An act to amend the act approved the twelfth day of April one thousand nine hundred fifty-one (P. L. 90) entitled "An act relating to alcoholic liquors alcohol and malt and brewed beverages amending revising consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto regulating and restricting the manufacture purchase sale possession consumption importation transportation furnishing holding in bond holding in storage traffic in and use of alcoholic liquors alcohol and malt and brewed beverages and the persons engaged or employed therein defining the powers and duties of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board providing for the establishment and operation of State Liquor stores for the payment of certain fees to the respective municipalities and townships for the abatement of certain nuisances and in certain cases for search and seizure without warrant prescribing penalties and forfeitures providing for local option and repealing existing laws" by requiring a service charge to be collected on bottled wine purchased by the board

And said bill having been read at length the second time,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I have been told that this bill, which is on second reading, Senate Bill No. 478, Printer's No. 384, is to be sent back to committee. In order to be able to make a plea for this bill, I tried to get the attention of the Chair, which I did, prior to the motion being made to send it back, because if the motion were to send it back, I would not be permitted to give the details of this legislation. It is imperative at this time, since it is the only time that we will probably have a shot at discussing this piece of legislation as to whether or not it ought to go back to committee.

Mr. President, I am also further told that it is a matter of caucus action and, therefore, being a matter of caucus action, why, there will not be much difference in the bill's vote after I am finished.

However, Mr. President, I think the people of Pennsylvania ought to know exactly what was in the minds of the sponsors of this bill. When I first took this bill up, I took it up with the Attorney General in an offhand conversation because, at the time, we were discussing the various means of raising revenues or raising finances for the Commonwealth.

Mr. President, in searching through the law books, I find that many States in the Union have different types of legislation dealing with liquor beverages, wines and beers. I find that certain States, Mr. President, in order to protect themselves in this particular business, have developed sets of laws which seem to work pretty well. I discussed the matter and found that under certain provisions and certain technical arrangements, this type of legislation would be constitutional in Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, I took it up, of course, with the Majority Leader and he and I discussed the possibilities, and then when we met with the Governor, in trying to work out a program for Pennsylvania, this bill was given consideration and the Budget Director came up with the following figures. The Budget Director said that this bill, if passed, would yield about $7,200,000 in revenue to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by way of a service charge being charged to wine bottlers.

Now, Mr. President, the misapprehension has been put out by some persons that this bill would be a barrier bill and, therefore, would invite retaliation on the part of other States. That is not true, Mr. President. The reason for this bill coming into existence is one that is based upon the economics of this great Commonwealth of ours. For instance, the bill calls for a fifty cent tax per gallon on wine bottled outside of the Commonwealth, by an outside corporation. It calls for a twenty-five cent tax per gallon on wine bottled in the Commonwealth, by an outside corporation. It calls for a twenty-five cent tax on wine that is bottled outside of the Commonwealth by a corporation that belongs in the Commonwealth, and five cents a gallon on wine bottled in the Commonwealth by an in-State corporation.

The reason behind all of this, Mr. President, is very simple. We provide for all of the wine sellers in the country the finest State stores system in the United States. We provide the facilities, and the employment and all the of the rent-free properties for them to come into Pennsylvania and compete with Pennsylvania corporations. Then we discover, Mr. President, that a great many of the wine bottlers have left Pennsylvania, because they can cheapen the bottling outside of the Commonwealth. They have no charge whatsoever against them and, therefore, they can compete unfairly with Pennsylvania wine bottlers who must bottle their wine under Pennsylvania laws, and must pay the Pennsylvania taxes and have to pay for the upkeep of these Commonwealth stores through the taxes that they pay in the Commonwealth.

Mr. President, the bill is entirely constitutional. All of a sudden we find a unanimous vote against it on the part of the Majority side. I have lived long enough not to live or die by the passage or defeat of any piece of legislation. It does not matter to me one bit whether you chase all of the wine bottlers out of Pennsylvania or not, except that it does destroy, and helps to destroy, the economy of this State. If you allow these outsiders to compete unfairly with our insiders, you are getting to the point where sooner or later you will not have one bottler left within the confines of this Commonwealth, and that day will not be too far distant. You cannot keep adding all kinds of taxes upon your statute books and expect your Pennsylvania corporations, where they can sneak out from in under, to stay here and do business in this Commonwealth.

Mr. President, I, personally, and maybe we as a political party, would be better off on the Democratic side if you did not get the $7,200,000. However, I do believe that it would serve two purposes. I do not think they would pay too much of this $7,200,000, Mr. President. I believe the companies that ran out of Pennsylvania would come back, and I believe the other companies who are bottling now in other States,—right across the border and shipping it right over, and just handling it over the present borders of this Commonwealth—that they then would move into the Commonwealth and give employment to the people who provide the market for the product that they produce. I believe that the time will come, and it will not be too far distant, when this kind of legislation and this type of legislation and this piece of legislation will be passed by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, the State of Ohio is at the present time considering an eighty cent per gallon charge on all wine, because they have a State Store system, bottled outside of the State of Ohio. Michigan has had this enforced for many, many years. Michigan has not been retaliated against. There is no such thing as stopping the sale of wine in the State of Michigan. It has not increased the price of the sale. All it does is, somewhere along the line, equalize the cost of production so that your Pennsylvania bottlers will have an opportunity to bottle on a competitive basis.

Now, Mr. President, if I had been in touch with the Pennsylvania bottlers, whom I do not know, with the exception of one or two of them whom I have known for years, I would have asked them today to present to me in this Senate all the samples of all the wines bottled outside of this Commonwealth, and samples of the wines bottled in the Commonwealth, and I would have shown this Senate of Pennsylvania a very graphic description of what I mean. I would have taken from the shelves the bottles which are now bottled outside of the State, which used to be bottled in Pennsylvania, and I would have shown you what has happened to Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, it is too bad that we cannot offord to do those things, because too many of us do not realize when we are in this Senate how much we can and how much we cannot do to help Pennsylvania. If you really want to help Pennsylvania, you will consider this legislation very seriously. If we had not received the sales tax vote, in all probability this bill would have been voted on and passed.

Mr. President, there has been a great deal of talk about who was interested in killing this bill. I warned the Governor at the conference or the meeting, and if they want to tell the names of the persons who defeated this legislation, I will leave it up to them. I am not in the mood to get to that point where I want to bring in the individuals who are more personally interested than they are patriotically interested in Pennsylvania.

Therefore, Mr. President, as the motion is made, I want it recorded that I, personally, protest the bill being sent back to committee and ask my Democratic colleagues to vote with me.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr President, as the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent, knows, he did, perhaps, inadvertently, say that this put a tax on out-of-State wines. As he also knows, any tax measure must originate in the House of Representatives and not in the Senate. Therefore, we should look into the fact as to whether or not this is a tax, and the committee, no doubt, will examine that feature of it and also as to whether or not this would invite retaliation by other States.

Mr. President, as the Senator knows, there are a lot of States today who are trying to pass retaliotory legislation against out-of-State manufacturers and industries. I do not believe that the fathers of this Country intended that we should put up tariff barriers around the various States.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. MAHANY. Therefore, Mr. President, so that this committee may re-examine this legislation in those lights, I move that Senate Bill No. 478, Printer's No. 384, be recommitted to the Committee on Law and Order.

Mr. HARE. I second the motion, Mr. President.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I know that I cannot debate the question after the motion is made. However, I do not believe the impression ought to be put upon the record that this is in any way a revenue measure. It will yield certain finances to the State of Pennsylvania but the question is one of service charges and not revenue It has nothing to do with the bill being introduced in the House.

Mr. PRESIDENT, other States have it; I think there are seven States in the Union that now have it. In so far as it being retaliatory, the retaliatory features of the measure have been answered by the action in the other seven States. This is nothing but a bill that would equalize the cost because of the higher cost of doing business in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, the Senator, himself, in his main address, referred to it as a tax.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I did not. I do not want the record to be read, but I know I did not say "tax." If I did, I was wrong. I have been wrong before, and I will be wrong again. It is not a tax.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

(A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the affirmative.)

An Act authorizing the State Highway and Bridge Authority upon government with the Department of Highways and approvel of the Governor to erect and maintain a bridge over the Ohio River between a point in or near the Borough of Shippingport Beaver County and a point in such county on the opposite side of the Ohio River and to provide the necessary approaches and connections with State highways authorizing the collection of tolls and charges providing for designation of such bridges approaches and connections as State highway routes and their maintenance as such routes thirty years after construction.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. HOLLAND offered the following amendments:

Amend Senate Bill No. 598, Printer's No. 398, page 2, section 1, line 3, by striking out the words "is hereby authorized to", and adding after the word "Governor", on line 2, the word "shall", and after the word "erect" the word "and".

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. MAHANY. I object to the amendments, Mr President.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

MOTION THAT AMENDMENTS BE ADOPTED

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I move that the amendments be adopted.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. HOLLAND. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

Mr. SILVERT. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HOLLAND and Mr. SILVERT

and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—18

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The second, third and fourth sections and title were read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL ON SECOND READING,

AMENDMENTS OFFERED

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 599, entitled:

An Act authorizing the State Highway and Bridge Authority upon agreement with the Department of Highways and approval of the Governor to erect construct and maintain a bridge over the Ohio River in or near the Borough of Aliquippa Beaver County and the Borough of Baden Beaver County to connect with State highways and to provide the necessary approaches and connections with such State highways authorizing the collection of tolls and charges providing for designation of such bridges approaches and connections as State Highway routes and their maintenance as such routes thirty years after their construction.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. HOLLAND offered the following amendments:

Amend Senate Bill No. 599, Printer's No. 399, page 2, section 1, line 3, by striking out the words "is hereby authorized to", and adding after the word "Governor" on line 2, the word "shall", and after the word "erect" the word "and".

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I object to the amendments on the ground that this would be discretionary with the Department of Highways as to whether or not they construct these bridges.

For instance, Mr. President, if both of these amendments were adopted, they would make it mandatory that the Department of Highways put in both of these bridges. Both bridges are quite near each other, and I think we should leave that up to the discretion of the Highway Department. I am sure that they are going to use their best discretion, and I hope that at least one of these bridges will be constructed.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I ask that the Senate accept these amendments because, after all, the bill without the word "shall" does not mean anything. It does not compel the Highway Department to build these bridges One of these bridges must be built. The people of Beaver County have been promised these bridges for years, and I feel that this is one time to demand that the Highway Department and the Administration fulfill the many promises which they have made to the people of Beaver.

Mr. President, I have been requested to put these amendments in by the Local Steel Workers Union of Aliquippa, who have played an important part and have also donated money in connection with some engineering on the highway which is concerned with the building of these bridges.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

MOTION THAT AMENDMENTS BE ADOPTED

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I move that the amendments be adopted.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. HOLLAND. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

Mr. SILVERT. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HOLLAND and Mr. SILVERT

and were as follows, viz:

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. YOSKO asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, one of the bills which I am about to present proposes to transfer the ten medical-surgical hospitals from the Department of Welfare to the Department of Health. The other bill, a companion bill, sets up a procedure for the administration of these hospitals, as well as a system of collection.

Mr. President, I do not want to take up the time of the Senate in reviewing the need for this legislation. I have informed the Senate from time to time on the manner in which these ten medical-surgical hospitals have been operated and pointed out the inefficiencies involved. I also pointed out from time to time the amount of write offs that were involved in these hospitals, totaling millions of dollars each biennium.

Mr. President, I was in the hope that it would not be necessary to present these bills. It was my opinion, and I had a right to believe, that the Legislature was economy-minded; that the bill which passed the Senate and went to the House, which bill would have merged the Department of Welfare, Department of Public Assistance and the Department of Health, would be passed in the House. However, since that bill died in the House, I believe that the transfer of these ten medical-surgical hospitals from the Department of Welfare to the Department of Health will result in greater efficiency in the operation of these hospitals, as well as saving the taxpayers of this Commonwealth millions of dollars heretofore written off. The transfer of these hospitals will also remove the reasons for the criticisms involved from time to time in the conduct of these hospitals.

Mr. President, I will be happy to appear before the committee to which these bills are referred and give them such facts and figures that I have at my disposal. I do hope that the committee will report these bills from committee, and pass them before we adjourn.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce bills at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. YOSKO read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 788, entitled:

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION URGING THE PENNSYLVANIA STATE BOARD OF MEDICAL EDUCATION AND LICENSURE TO PROMULGATE RULES AND REGULATIONS RELATING TO INTERNSHIP AND LICENSURE OF GRADUATES OF FOREIGN MEDICAL SCHOOLS

Mr. DENT. Mr. President. I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. DENT and MAHANY offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Rules:

In the Senate, July 15, 1953.

Whereas, Before World War II medical doctor diplomas granted by the Italian medical schools were recognized as sufficient to pass the licensure examinations of all the states of the Union, in accordance with an international agreement between the United States of America and Italy, which terminated at the beginning of the hostilities; and

Whereas, After the end of World War II and the resuming of friendly relations between the two countries, now bound by a common alliance in the N.A.T.O., many states of the Union have again recognized medical doctor diplomas of the Italion medical schools, among which are: New York, Connecticut, New Jersey, Illinois and California. Two of the aforementioned states are border states to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; and

Whereas, The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, through the State Board of Medical Education and Licensure, by action taken on December 13, 1951, and officially communicated to the Italian Consul General in Philadelphia on December 17, 1951, ruled to "accept for internship and licensure in Pennsylvania only graduates from foreign medical schools that are recommended for approval by a recognized accrediting agency such as the American Medical Association. The credentials of each applicant, however, must be evaluated and approved by the Board even though the medical school has been recommended for approval by the American Medical Association"; and

Whereas, Italian medical schools cannot be recommended by the American Medical Association for at least two years because officials of the Association will have to make an inspection of said schools and the inspection will not be made prior to next year. A further delay will be occasioned in awaiting final action of the Board of Directors of the American Medical Association, after they study the results of the survey; and

Whereas, Italian universities do admit to the medical schools, American students only after a very careful screening through the local Italian Consulate, an advisory board of New York, named by the Board of Medical Examiners of the State of New York, the Italian Foreign Ministry and finally the academic board of the Italian medical school chosen by the American applicant; and

Whereas, There are, at this moment, about ten young Americans from Pennsylvania studying in medical schools in Italy and, of these, two or three will receive their medical doctor diplomas in 1954; and

Whereas, The actual ruling of the Pennsylvania State Board of Medical Education and Licensure will oblige these new doctors to spend another year away from their familities so as to obtain the licensure in one of the border States of New Jersey or New York, after which they will be automatically licensed also for Pennsylvania. This imposes further financial burdens, hardships and many inconveniences to the future doctors and to their families; and

Whereas, It would be extremely suitable and proper that the Pennsylvania State Board of Medical Education and Licensure should follow the example of New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Illinois and California, and admit directly the doctors licensed by Italian medical schools to take their licensure in Pennsylvania through direct evaluation and approval by the aforementioned State Board of Medical Education and Licensure; and

Whereas, There seems to be no point in maintaining the rule approved in December 1951, when two of the border states of Pennsylvania have again recognized the Italian medical schools, and in as much as the Italian medical schools have been rebuilt and re-equipped after the war damages largely through the financial and technical assistance of the United States Government through the E.C.A. and the M.S.A.; therefore be it

Resolved (If the House of Representatives concur), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania protests the regulation, relating to acceptance for internship and licensure of graduates of medical schools in foreign countries, made by the Pennsylvania State Board of Medical Education and Licensure on the thirteenth day of December, one thousand nine hundred fifty-one, as being unreasonable; and be it further

Resolved, That the Pennsylvania State Board of Medical Education and Licensure is hereby urged to promulgate rules and regulations relating to internship and licensure of graduates of foreign medical schools in foreign countries after evaluation and approval by the said Board of Medical Education and Licensure.

An Act to amend the act approved the second day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-five (P. L. 448) entitled "An act relating to fish and amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating to fish in the inland waters and the boundary lakes and boundary rivers of the Commonwealth" is hereby amended by adding at the end thereof a new article to read as follows

Chapter II

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. FARABAUGH. Mr. Speaker, this Senate Bill 96 in my opinion is a very unjust bill.

This bill pertains solely to farm ponds which have been constructed by the farmers themselves for their own use, in most cases for fire protection, and they have seen fit to stock some fish in those ponds. I see no reason why anyone should interfere with the use of these ponds in any way they see fit to use them so long as they do not interfere with anyone else.

This is an imposition upon those people who have, at their own expense, constructed those ponds for their own use. There is no reason, in my opinion, why they should be under the jurisdiction of the Fish Commission or anyone else.

Mr. McCULLOUGH. Mr. Speaker, this bill has been kicked around a whole lot and I think it is just about the way we would like to have it. I am a farmer, and there are about 3000 other farm ponds in Pennsylvania, and it is just as near like we would like to have it as we think it can be made.

The Secretary of the Fish Commission likes this bill and I have a letter in my pocket from the Western District Vice President, and he is for it 100 percent. If the gentlemen would just know, there is no creel limit in those seasons for the farmers to fish in their own ponds.

We think it is a good bill, and would like to have a lot of Members of the House to help us pass this bill.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate Mr. McCollough.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lawrence permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCULLOUGH. Mr. Speaker, I shall.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know what the purpose of this bill is, since the farmer builds his own pond, stocks his own fish, does all the other work pertaining to this fish pond, and if you will agree with me, the State Department has asked these farmers to go to the expense of constructing these ponds for water conservation and use around the farm.

At the present time they are trying to regulate what the farmer can do on his own property. It is just the same as telling him not to take the eggs that the chickens are laying in the hen-house.

Now, I would like to have Mr. McCullough explain just what the purpose of the bill is.

Mr. McCULLOUGH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inform the gentleman that as the law now stands there are creel limits, and I can only fish in my farm pond during the season. If this bill passes, I can go out and catch a mess of fish whenever I like, and if I have a few more than my family that day I can catch a few more for them, and there is no creel limit. We think it is a good bill.

I would like to inform the gentleman that our ponds are not all constructed by the farmers alone. The federal government has assisted materially in building these farm ponds through their conservation program.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I may be in error. Does the gentleman imply that the state has contributed something toward building these ponds, these fisheries, and so forth?

Mr McCULLOUGH. The federal government has, through their conserveation program.

Mr. FILO. The United States Government.

Mr. McCULLOUGH. Yes.

Mr. FILO. The state has nothing whatsoever to do with these ponds, is that right?

Mr. McCULLOUGH. Well, they assisted materially in constructing them, but not in paying for them.

Mr. FILO. Is the gentleman saying that they are helping them but not financially or materially.

Mr. McCULLOUGH. They help in supervising.

Mr. FILO. Then why should the State Department impose such a bill on the farmers?

Mr. McCULLOUGH. There is another thing. When I have a farm pond I can not tell what is in it. The Fish Commission does not allow me to fish, but I have to get the Agricultural Extension, and they can come and tell me the condition of my pond. The law will not permit me to fish.

Mr. FILO. I thank the gentleman. I feel that we should oppose this measure.

Mr. STIMMEL. Mr. Speaker, I have no personal interest in this bill. However, I think there are some things that should be pointed out to the membership of this House.

This bill, or a similar bill was passed in this House I believe almost unanimously last Session. Unless my impression is wrong, the farmers themselves are in general agreement on this bill. There may be some who are not, but there are things permitted under this bill such as Mr. McCullough has mentioned, plus common-sense regulation to which few people would object, that makes this bill one which will continue these ponds and do it in an orderly fashion. I might say that the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen wholeheartedly endorse this bill as well as the Fish Commission.

In recent years there has been some disposition to breaking down creel limits, season limits and permit a general open season for fish. This would give, I believe, the farmer reasonable fishing and still keep it within bounds.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rather imagine that the agriculturists most enthusiastic in their opposition to this bill are perhaps not familiar with the present regulations.

Representative McCullough is absolutely right when he says that this bill liberalizes the existing statutes regarding the use of ponds on the farm properties of the Commonwealth.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GOODLING. Mr. Speaker, this bill proposes to amend an Act that was first passed in 1949, I believe. For a long time prior to that sportsmen and conservationists throughout this entire state wanted a similar bill, but for some reason or other Members of this House hesitated to sponsor such a bill. Finally, in 1949 the bill was sponsored by two Members of this House and almost unanimously, as I remember, passed the Senate and was signed into law by the Governor.

Since that time it has been working most satisfactorily and has been approved by practically every sportsman in Pennsylvania. There were two main reasons for the bill at that time. First and foremost, it was strictly introduced as a conservation measure. You cannot take fish from the streams and hope to have them in the years to come.

It was aimed at one particular species of fish at that time, and they always confused the bill more or less. The opponents of the bill said it was strictly a trout fisherman's bill, which it definitely was not. It was the thought of the sponsors and those who advocated this bill that other fish should also be protected during this period.

This bill, if it were passed in its present form, would place a tremendous burden on the Pennsylvania Fish Commission. It would require the Fish Commission to publish a list of all the streams in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania which would be open to fishing at this particular time. It would also cause tremendous enforcement problems. At the present time during this thirty day closed period if a fish warden sees any man along any stream wth any fishing equipment, he knows he is violating the law.

My heart bleeds for the poor fisherman. At the present time he can fish only twenty-four hours a day, 335 days in the year. If a fisherman cannot get his two dollars worth in that period of time, I submit to you Members of this House that he cannot get it in an additional thirty days.

In recent years there has been some talk about it in other states, and they have done it in other states— they have liberalized their fishing laws. They are finding out now that they made a grave mistake in doing that. One of our neighboring states liberalized its laws considerably just a few years ago. Today I understand they are very sorry they took that step, and they are planning to go back to their former method of catching fish.

I would like permission of the House to read what was done in connection with this bill in 1949. I believe the gentleman who made the remarks at that time is in this House at the present time. I hope he is, because he and I have discussed this bill on several occasions. When the gentleman made these remarks four years ago he was very, very much in favor of the bill. In speaking with him recently I understand he wants to now vote for the bill which proposes to amend the 1949 Act. It will not take very long and I am not going to read his entire remarks, but I would just like to read a few remarks that are pertinent to this question.

> Mr. Speaker, this is a very happy moment for me. I have waited for about ten years to say what I am about to say.
> I will take you back a few years first, however, back to 1873 when the Fish Commission was first formed in this state by the Legislature. About twenty years later the Game Commission was formed in 1895—two very important legislative years.
> On these two years of this Legislature is based the beginning of Pennsylvania's hunting and fishing prestige. (And this is the part to which I want the Members of this House to pay strict attention) We have become the first state in the Union, bar none in the United States, according to the figures of the Department of the Interior. There are more hunters and fishermen in the state of Pennsylvania than in any other state in the Union.
> However, we ran into a problem as time went on. At first there was plenty of game and fish and the regulations were liberal. We used the game and we have used the fish and then we abused the game and abused the fish. Finally, for the past fifteen years, we have reached the end of the golden age of hunting and fishing in this state, an age, I would say that extended over approximately from 1910 to 1935, but since game and fish were covered by natural laws, we did nothing or practically nothing over the years to obey or assist nature in maintaining a supply of game and fish adequate enough to provide suitable sport for a growing army of sportsmen.
> However, Mr. Speaker, it remained for this Legislature, and I am serious in this, this Legislature has the honor, and the House of Representatives can take credit for having already passed in the House the greatest and most important game and fish legislation in fifty years.

Then the speaker went on to elaborate on the bills that we passed and one of the bills on which he elaborated was the one which we now propose to amend and pass. I am going to skip part of his speech there and conclude with what he concluded.

> Mr. Speaker, I say that this is important for another reason, that is that this class Legislation, all these bills passed this House almost unanimously. There were only a few votes against a few measures, and I think this shows that the Members here appreciated the importance of what the program was designed to do.
> I want to say finally that the state of Pennsylvania, in being the number one state in the Union in hunting and fishing, if this program is properly carried out by the Game Commission, the state will still maintain its position as the foremost state in the Union.
> Gentlemen, I as one of you do wish certainly from my heart to congratulate you because I feel that this question of hunting and fishing should go beyond party lines, and being thoroughly acquainted with the hunting and fishing picture for well over ten years, I believe that we do realize the importance of this program will be evidence when you are old and gray and talking to your grandchildren, you can point to the year 1949, when this legislation was before the House in regard to hunting and fishing and say: "Sonny, I helped to do that!"

I should now like to ask what we are going to say to our grandchildren if we continue to bleed our streams by continually liberalizing our fishing laws. I think this is a bad bill and should be defeated.

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to add a few remarks to what my friend George Goodling, the gentleman from York said, perhaps not in the same vein as his but if there is going to be a roll call on the vote— are the Committees still out?

The SPEAKER. The Chair understands, for the information of the House, that the Committees are still out.

Mr. BRETH. Will it be all right to pass this over temporarily?

The SPEAKER. Without objections the chair can pass the bill over.

Mr. BRETH. I would appreciate it.

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, well if it is all right with the sponsor we will debate the bill now. I understand it is all right with Mr. McCANN.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Clearfield, Mr. Breth.

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, I listened with a great deal of interest to the remarks of the gentleman from York. He is correct in practically everything he has said with a few minor amendments.

This bill is an amendment to a bill that we did pass in 1949 which closed the trout streams in the state, or the streams stocked with trout, for a month before the trout season opened.

However, there was considerable confusion all over the state and a good number of fishermen were arrested under the provisions of the bill because they did not understand which waters were open and which waters were closed.

The bill as originally written stated that all waters were closed except rivers, lakes and ponds, which meant streams that were not stocked with trout and yet were known as creeks or runs or anything except rivers, if a fisherman fished them, he was liable to arrest. In a great many cases he was arrested and paid $20 fine.

I want to remind the gentleman from York that before the Session was over in 1951, we changed the penalty provisions of the original bill so that for the first offense instead of being fined $20, the fisherman was fined only $5 because there was great room for error, mistake and misjudgement by fishermen who had no intention of fishing a closed stream.

All this bill does, Mr. Speaker, is to give the trout in trout streams the same protection they had under the original bill. All it does in the last analysis is to give the Fish Commission the right to print a list of streams by counties, listing the streams in which you can fish and those that you cannot fish during that closed period.

I think this bill is a very good bill. I want to say, too, that I was one of the proponents of it when it was originally before this House in 1949, and my understanding of the bill and my interpretation of it and my idea in backing the bill was not to close for 30 days all fishing, sucker fishing and other kinds of fishing, bass fishing, but only to protect the trout streams that were stocked with trout from outlaws who had made it a habit, as soon as they were stocked with trout, of fishing them presumably for suckers but taking trout out of them before the season opened.

My understanding of this bill—and it has been well discussed; it was released by Committee and discussed in Committee—is that it does not do any harm to the original idea behind the original bill. I think it is a good bill, and I think we should pass it.

Mr. GOODLING. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Clearfield is trying to confuse this House just the same as it was confused back in 1949.

It was not the intention of this Legislature in 1949 to close trout streams. It was the intention of this Legislature—and it stated that specifically in the bill—that all streams with the exception of lakes, rivers and ponds not stocked with trout were closed under this bill.

I insisted that it was a good bill then and I insist that it is a good bill today. I want to reiterate what I said before. We are going to continue to fish 365 days a year, as we can do under this proposal and sooner or later we are not going to have any fish to take from our waters.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, regarding this bill, I would like to clarify one remark that the gentleman preceding me stated in his first speech. This bill, I believe he stated, was opposed by the Sportsmen's Organizations.

I would like to state to the gentleman and to the Members of this House that this bill, the present bill, came from a resolution which the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's Organizations in convention here in Harrisburg approved unanimously.

As you know in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania there are eight particular counties that are classified as warm water or warm stream counties, of which my county is one.

We do not argue about the closing of the game or fish season nor the trout streams, and this bill does not have anything to do with those streams. They will remain closed, because in the bill it says that a list shall be furnished by the Fish Commission as to the streams that will be permitted to be fished or be opened for the period designated.

I would like to say also to the opponents of this bill that I do not believe you are weakening or that you are hurting the stream program or the fish program of Pennsylvania.

I would also like to remind the gentleman that in some of the areas in Canada and other states they have found that if they remove almost all of the inbred or stunted fish and then restock the stream in its proper proportion, they will have better fishing. This will only permit fishing in the streams designated by the Fish Commission.

The Fish Commission has no objection, nor have they stated when they were in Committee that they had any objection to this bill. They were satisfied with it in every respect.

Mr. Buehler, who is in charge of the fish hatcheries, believes that there will be no trouble in the policing of this bill.

I would like to know where the objection rises to the statements that have been made on the floor. This bill has been cleared with all proper responsible people. They believe that it is a good bill, a bill that is a benefit to the fishermen, to those people from small areas that are not able to go for game fish and who do not have game fish in their territory.

I sincerely urge the Members of this House to go down the line and support this type of legislation as the type that the fishermen of Pennsylvania have approved and want enacted into law.

Mr. GLEASON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to make a few remarks on this bill. The particular complaint I have with the present law, is the bait fisherman at the beginning of the trout season.

Under the present law that you can only fish in rivers, lakes and ponds, it also restricts the taking of any kind of minnows from streams that are not stocked with trout. The bait fishermen have to go out before March 14 or by March 14, in order to have their minnows for the 15th of April when the trout season opens.

I know plenty of fellows who go out and catch their minnows, and I think they are doing more damage by catching their minnows early because a lot of them die, and maybe they will have a few of them left when the trout season opens. They are taking more of the bait fish out of the little streams that are not stocked with trout than they would ordinarily take out.

I think this is a good bill. It is still protecting the trout streams in Pennsylvania. It is going to allow the bait fisherman to go out any time in the early part of April and get this bait out of streams that never have trout in and never will. But they have lots of red fins and shiners and even some of the streams have suckers so that people can go out and fish during the latter part of March and the first part of April.

I would like you to go along and vote for this bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

On the question,

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cameron permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TOMPKINS. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire of the gentleman whether Bills 1480, 1481, and 1482 are based upon the recommendations of the Devers Committee.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I am unable to state whether they are based on those recommendations or not. They are bills, however, that originated with the Department of Justice and were put in by me at their request.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. Speaker, I would ask the gentleman whether it is not true that these bills were submitted prior to the final report of the Devers Committee.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I think these bills were introduced simultaneously with the Devers report over in the Senate, which bills are today on the third reading calendar in the House.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman.

NOT VOTING—2

Kline,	Watkins,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House of Representatives has passed the same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 669, entitled:

An Act to repeal the act approved the seventh day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-five (P. L. 188) entitled "An act authorizing and empowering the Department of Welfare to sell surplus products of prison industries to the Government of the United States including all departments bureaus commissions and other agencies thereof existing under acts of the Congress of the United States and to the Government of any state or commonwealth of the United States and to any county city borough township or other organized subdivision of any state or commonwealth of the United States and to any institution maintained by or receiving aid from any state or commonwealth of the United States or any organized subdivision thereof."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. READINGER, I believe the next group of Senate bills are all related to each other and after third reading I desire to request that Mr. Tompkins, of Cameron County explain these bills for the information of the Members.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, Senate Bills 669, 670, and 672, which appear on page 52 of the calendar are really bills which repeal prior acts of the Legislature.

Senate Bills 673, 671, 676, 677, 675, 674, 686, constitute a package carrying out recommendations of the Devers Committee.

Senate Bill 673. This bill carries out recommendation No. 14, found on page 8 of the Devers report. It establishes a Bureau of Correction in the Department of Justice, headed by a Commissioner of Correction. It also provides for a deputy commissioner for treatment who shall be in charge of and responsible for the administration of the Eastern and Western Correctional, Diagnostic and Classification Centers. The Deputy Commissioner for Treatment shall have the sole responsibility for the transfer of such persons from said Diagnostic and Classification Centers to State Institutions, and the transfer of persons from one State Institution to another.

The bill also provides for establishment of industries in state penal and correctional institutions in the manner formerly carried on by the Department of Welfare.

Senate Bill 671. This bill transfers the Board of Trustees of Eastern State Penitentiary, Western State Penitentiory, State Penitentiary at Rockview, State Penitentiary at Gratersford, State Penitentiary at Huntington, Pennsylvania Industrial School at Camp Hill, and State Industrial Home for Women, to the Department of Justice from the Department of Welfare.

Senate Bill 676. This bill carries out recommendation No. 17, found on page 10 of the Devers report, by establishing two correctional and diagnostic centers at the Eastern and Western State Penitentiaries.

Senate Bill No. 677. This bill amends the Act of March 24, 1921, P. L. 48, by providing for the transfer of convicts from state penitentiaries under the direction of the Deputy Commissioner for Treatment.

Senate Bill No. 675. This bill creates new boards of trustees for the state penitentiaries at Rockview, Gratersford, and Huntingdon, and authorizes the Commissioner of Correction to formulate a state-wide plan of operation of the penal and correctional institutions within the Department of Justice, provides that each institution shall have a separate warden or superintendent, and that the practice of having branch institutions shall be abolished, such as the Rockview branch of the Western Penitentiary. This provision was a highlight of the Devers report which will be found by reference to recommendation 20 on page 10 of the report.

Senate Bill 674. This bill creates two districts in the Commonwealth for the administration of the state penal and correctional institutions.

Senate Bill 686. This bill amends the Fiscal Code, the Act of April 9, 1929, P. L. 343, by substituting the Department of Justice for the Department of Welfare in Section 302, which provides for the disposition of funds arising from the industries established and maintained in our penal institutions.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Cameron explain the purpose and intent of Senate Bill 652?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, Senate Bill 652 merely repeals the present Act as it is now in force.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, what is the purpose of repealing the present Act? What is the end result?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, apparently it conflicts with some of the recommendations which are contained in the bills following.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker why should prisoners not be transferred to Rockview Penitentiary?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I believe if I am correct in my assumption on this—I do not have the bill before me, the details—but I think this makes Rockview a separate institution and not a branch institution of the Western Penitentiary.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, in the proposed setup what function is Rockview designed to perform?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I am afraid I cannot answer that question unless I would refer to the Governor's report, which I do not have before me.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, would there be any objection if we did not pass this particular bill today? It would not interfere with the general structure, would it, to take a little more time to it?

The SPEAKER. If agreeable to the House, the Chair would suggest that this package of bills be held over for the day.

Mr. TOMPKINS. That would be agreeable to me, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, these bills are probably very well drawn and will accomplish a fine purpose, but in view of the major changes being made, may I suggest to the gentleman from Cameron that tomorrow or at the time these bills are brought up for final passage, he obtain from the Department of Justice or the Department of Welfare a clarifying statement which will tie them all together. The gentleman has explained what each one does, but I doubt very much if any of us here understands the major objectives being sought by these bills, and I would suggest that he obtain a statement clarifying the matter for us at a later time.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I will do that, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Without objection the Chair will withdraw its decision as to this bill having been agreed to on third reading. The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. STIMMEL. Mr. Speaker, just a brief word or two about this bill. As the Members probably know, this is a free increase on the fishing license in the Commonwealth.

The reason this is necessary is because the employes of the Fish Commission starting with the warden and up to but not including the Fish Commissioner are desperately in need of more money if we are to keep the capable personnel in our hatcheries and the men that police our streams. Because this affects so many individuals, I asked that the bill be called up at this time and I trust that you will be patient with me for a moment.

We have had in the Commonwealth no increase in the fishing license fee except in the 1947 Session at which time we earmarked a portion of that for the purchase of land and improvements.

It is now necessary that we spend about $800,000 on our fish hatcheries if we are going to continue to have good fishing in the Commonwealth.

It is even more important that we pay the average person who works for the Fish Commission, fellows who I like to say must love this business or else they would not be in it because they certainly are not very well paid presently.

The Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs have met with the Fish Commission, and there is an understanding that the complete salary scale will be evaluated and job personnel will be reclassified so that after we pass this bill—I sincerely hope we do—we will be able to pay these people a living wage. That is the average fellow that does the job out in the field.

I would like to submit as part of the record in that respect a letter which I will not tire you by reading. This letter was written to me as Chairman of the Fish Committee from Everett G. Henderson, the Legislative Chairman of the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs, which outlines the purposes for which the 50 cent increase in the fee and is to be used, as I explained to you.

I solicit your vote on this bill.

The Honorable Reginald P. Stimmel,
Chairman Fish Committee,
House of Representatives,
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania

Dear Mr. Stimmel:

It was my pleasure some days ago, at your invitation to meet with your Fish Committee, and discuss joint legislation affecting conservation; particularly, with regard to our Federation Resolution for a $.50 increase in the resident fishing license fee.

Following that meeting, the Board of Directors of the Federation met with the Pennsylvania Fish Commission, at their Administration Building in Bellefonte, at which time we very thoroughly discussed the proposed increase in the fishing license, and it was mutually agreed that a committee of three directors of the Federation, and three members and representatives of the Pennsylvania Fish Commission meet and further discuss in detail the entire salary schedule of the Commission, and the reclassification of the Commission employes.

The Commission mutually agreed that an adjustment in the salaries of their employes should be made in order that they keep and attract qualified men to their service.

The two committees have been appointed and I might say that the Fish Commission has spent considerable time on the preliminary studies of reclassifying their personnel, and I feel of a certainty that there will be no difficulty in the Commission, and the Federation mutually agreeing upon these adjustments.

The Commissioners agreed with our Directors that as much of the $.50 increase as would be necessary, would be used for the salary increases and that any revenue in excess would be used in the rehabilitation of the hatcheries and facilities of the Commission.

I have seen a detailed report made by the Fish Commission of the necessary hatchery rehabilitation and expansion work which must be done at the various fish hatcheries, if the Commission is to do the kind of job they they are asked to do for the fishermen of Pennsylvania, and this program will cost in excess of $800,000, if it were to be completed today. The Commission does not have the money to do this work, and it will be necessary for additional funds for the Fish Commission if they are to expand and improve fishing generally in Pennsylvania.

As you probably know, the Federation has in two consecutive conferences adopted a resolution providing for a $.50 increase in the fishing license, principally for salaries of the Commission employes.

If there is any further information that you desire from the Federation on House Bill Number 1218, please feel free to contact me any time.

Very sincerely,

EVERETT G. HENDERSON, Chairman
Legislation Committee
Everett G. Henderson
Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, this bill as the gentleman from Lehigh has stated, is an increase in the fishing license fee from $2 to $2.50.

This bill might be looked upon as sort of a scale you might say, that is, of some of the works of the Commission with that of the salary increases of the employes. If it were not for the fact that they propose to evaluate and sort of harmonize the salaries of the Fish Commission with others doing like duties in the Fish Commission on this Hill, I would be against this bill.

On April 28 of this year we asked for figures in connection with this evaluation, and those figures have not as yet been forthcoming.

I have been kidded for ten years on this very issue by the Fish Commission and as yet I see nothing concrete laid on our desks. In the hope that they will carry out not the promises of the Federated Sportsmen's Club, because they have no power to grant these salaries to the employes, but in the hope that the Fish Commission, who has that power, will carry out that mandate that the employes be taken care of, I am going to vote for this bill.

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, I understand that the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Stimmel, sponsored this bill because of the necessity for raising the salaries generally of the Fish Commission employes.

I would like to ask the gentleman if in addition to the wardens it also includes the hatchery employes?

Mr. STIMMEL. It does, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, I understand that the gentleman from Lehigh has been in close touch with the Fish Commission in regard not only to the wardens, but especially in regard to the employes at the nine state hatcheries and the increase with which a new system of evaluated services are concerned, is that right?

Mr. STIMMEL. That is correct.

Mr. BRETH. I understand that the gentleman from Lehigh is certain in his mind that the Fish Commission will carry out especially the increases due to hatchery employes, is that right?

Mr. STIMMEL. To my mind I am certain of it.

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, I am interested in securing more funds in the fish fund for three reasons.

First of all, we should be proud of the job the Fish Commission has done in the past 15 years. Pennsylvania was the only state in the Union that did not curtail its fish hatchery program during the war years, since 1940. Pennsylvania was the only state in the Union that actually increased its production of legal sized takable fish which were stocked in the state's streams.

In trout alone the production of legal size trout through the war years gradually increased from 1,300,000 a year up to 1,500,000, 1,800,000 and over 2,000,000 legal size trout.

Furthermore—and I believe this will interest the Members greatly—the Pennsylvania Fish Commission, while other states were curtailing hatchery operations and stockable fish, set aside upwards of a quarter of a million legal sized trout from 10 to 15 inches long as a serviceman's reserve. There were more than a quarter of a million nice trout kept back in the hatchery ponds to be available for the boys in the service when they came out after 1945. They did that because they were advised by the men who know health and therapeutics that if fishing could be offered to many of the boys who came out of the service, it would be of utmost therapeutic value in their rehabilitation, and especially servicemen who bore the brunt of the fighting.

My second reason is that the Pennsylvania fish hatchery system has not kept pace in its repair program. There are many, many ponds that need to be modernized, and unless those ponds are modernized, the fish program must suffer.

Another thing as far as production is concerned. The price of fish food has gone from 11 cents a pound to 30 and 40 cents a pound. When it is noted that about 800 tons of fish food are required for a single hatchery program, you can see the cost involved.

The primary reason is this, and this is why I wanted to have the Members of this House fully advised. There are certain hatchery employes, in fact there are over 700 of them, working in the nine or 10 state hatcheries. Some of those men are working for less, and much less than a dollar an hour, yet those men have been with the Fish Commission hatchery program for 10 years, 15 years and 20 years.

In the past year or so a critical situation has come about and it is this. Those employes who are used to rearing fish, who know how to rear fish, have been gravitating away from the hatcheries to take other jobs which pay them $1.25, $1.50 and $1.75 an hour.

The sportsmen of this state are vitally concerned about the entire hatchery program, but especially of those 724, nine-hatchery employes who must have their standard of living raised or they cannot exist.

It is also my personal opinion in voting for this bill that only because those 724 forgotten fish hatchery employes are going to get a higher wage, which will make a better standard of living for them and have them remain in the employ of the Fish Commission, to continue the Fish Commission's fine program of fish production and fish stocking, that I am for this bill, and that I would personally request all Members to vote for it.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Stimmel.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lehigh permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STIMMEL. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman stated that these employes involved being at the hatcheries and the field force would also involve the office force with adjustment of their salaries with similar work on the Hill?

Mr. STIMMEL. I had hoped I made myself clear. It would evaluate all the jobs from the job of the Fish Commissioner down, but not including Mr. French's job, but everybody's job in the office, in the field, in the hatcheries, from there on down, and would result in an increase for all the employes in my opinion.

Mr. TOMPKINS. What is it estimated that the annual amount that the increase of 50 cents will produce? Not biennial, but the annual amount the 50 cents increase will produce?

Mr. STIMMEL. Well, annually, it should be approximately, at 50 cents, we sell 600,000 licenses, that would be approximately $300,000.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Is there any indication how much it will take annually to adjust an employe's pay over and above what their present scale amounts to.

Mr. STIMMEL. Until these jobs are completely evaluated and agreements reached, certainly it would be a rough estimate, but let me say that about $100,000 would go to increases in salary, or more.

Mr. TOMPKINS. That is $100,000 a year.

Mr. STIMMEL. That is correct.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. WALLACE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate Mr. Stimmel.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lehigh permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STIMMEL. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WALLACE. Mr. Speaker, we have heard so much about salaries, and you have heard the figure that Mr. Stimmel gave, over $100,000 for an increase to the personnel. If it only takes over $100,000, why shouldn't the remainder of the money go for more fish. I am satisfied to go along with this bill if the rest of the money would go for more fish.

I come from up in Luzerne County and I discussed the increase with the fishermen, and they are not in accord with this increase.

Now, what strikes me is the fact that it took so many years to give the men working for the fisheries department an increase in salary. I have not heard yet as to what these men are being paid per hour, and I would like to ask that question. What are they being paid per hour at the present time?

Mr. STIMMEL. That is a question I am not qualified to answer exactly. I can say that it has been mentioned that they were paid under a dollar an hour in some instances.

Mr. WALLACE. Do you not think this body should know just what they are getting paid? I am interested to know what they are getting paid.

Mr. STIMMEL. I regret that I do not have that information. I know that they are grossly underpaid. We have a warden in our county, for instance, who has been there for many years, who, I believe, earns under $3200 a year.

Mr. WALLACE. I thank the gentleman. Mr. Speaker, I ask each and every Member of this House;—they have neard it stated that all the money they need is $100,000. I do not know what they are going to do with the rest of the money; neither does any one of you. Therefore, I say that I do not think we should pass this extra fee on to the fishermen. I think they are paying enough. I speak for the people of Luzerne County. We are not getting the fish.

Mr. STIMMEL. Mr. Speaker, just this one brief remark, so that it may be clearly understood.

A portion of this money will go into the raising of salaries. I do not want to get into a lengthy discussion of the condition of our hatcheries, but our hatcheries are in a deplorable condition. That is part of the reason why you are not getting more fish. We have got to rebuild those hatcheries; we have got to have some new equipment. We need new motor equipment, new tanks, new trucks, a hundred and one odd things. I could not put in the bill how all this money should be spent. Certainly I have every reason to believe, from my discussions with the Federation of Sportsmen and with the Fish Commission, that this money will be spent in good faith, and more certainly I would be one who, if they did not spend it in good faith, should I be re-elected, would censure them, come the next Legislature.

I have every reason to believe that this money will be spent in the best interests of the sportsmen, and certainly some of those employes need a well-deserved raise.

Mr. ANDREWS. I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Stimmel.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. STIMMEL. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, is there any way known to modern science of catching all of the fish—all of them? Then there will not be any more fish, and then there will not be any occasion for fish legislation.

Mr. STIMMEL. Mr. Speaker, that is a trick I would like to know myself.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Be It Further Resolved that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Governor and the Secretary of Property and Supplies.

REQUEST THAT RULE 39 BE SUSPENDED

MEMORIALIZING CONGRESS TO ADOPT PROPOSAL RELATIVE TO THE ESTABLISHMENT OF A NATIONAL NONPARTISAN COMMISSION ON INTERGOVERNMENTAL RELATIONS

Mr. YOSKO offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, July 14, 1953.

Whereas, there is now pending before the United States Senate bills sponsored by the Senators Taft of Ohio, Hendrickson of New Jersey, and Humphrey of Minnesota, relative to the establishment of a Nation Nonpartisan Commission on Intergovernmental Relations, and

Whereas, it is the purpose of this commission to study and examine all aspects and phases of National, State, and local governments with special attention to the serious fiscal problems which confront governments at all levels, and

Whereas, under the provisions of the proposed legislation, a commission of 25 members is to be appointed giving representation to all parties at interest, both public and private, Federal, State and local; legislative and executive, and where necessary, judicial, and

Whereas, the President of the United States, the Honorable Dwight D. Eisenhower, in his Message to Congress said in part:

The present division of activities between Federal and State Governments, including their local subdivisions, is the product of more than a century and a half of piecemeal and often haphazard growth. This growth in recent decades has proceeded at a speed defying order and efficiency. One program after another has been launched to meet emergencies and expanding public needs. Time has rarely been taken for thoughtful attention to the effects of these actions on the basic structure of our Federal-State system of government,

The maintenance of strong, well-ordered State and local governments is essential to our Federal system of government. Lines of authority must be clean and clear, the right areas of action for Federal and State Governments plainly defined. This is imperative for the efficient administration of governmental programs in the fields of health, education, social security, and other grants-in-aid areas.

Therefor be it resolved that the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby memorializes the Congress of the United States to adopt the proposal indicated herein, to the end that the Commission on Intergovernmental Relations can solve and properly recommend the allocation of functions to be administered by governments on all levels, and thus possibly eliminate the present confused system of taxation, as well as reduce total governmental expenditures consistent with the efficient performance of essential services, activities, and functions.

And be it further resolved, That copy of this resolution be transmitted to the President of the United States, to the Majority and Minority Leaders of the Congress and United States Senate, to the Presiding Officers of both Houses and to the Members of Congress and the United States Senate from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

REQUEST THAT RULE 39 BE SUSPENDED

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I object.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. FLEMING, from the Committee on Highways, to which was referred resolution offered by Mr. Kopriver, Jr., on July 13, 1953 reported the same without amendment as follows:

URGING THAT THE MONONGAHELA TRAIL BE DEDICATED AS A MEMORIAL HIGHWAY

In the Senate, July 13, 1953.

The old Monongahela Trail in western Pennsylvania has been a part of the history and development of our State since the first Indian tribes moulded it out of the wilderness;—The Monongahela Trail that travels along the greatest Valley in the World through the heart of America. During the early 18th century thousands of Americans moved down the Monongahela River by barge to the great Ohio River at the point in Pittsburgh. On this trail is found the point where General Edward Braddock was mortally wounded during the French and Indian War, the headquarters used during the Whiskey Rebellion; the place where the first inland steamboat was built; and the place where the Flagship of the Texas Navy was built. It passes the famous point in Pittsburgh, the site of historic Fort Duquesne. It follows the Monongahela Rivers, which carry more tonnage in water freight each year than either the Panama or Suez Canals. It winds through the greatest industrial area in the world, the steel capitol of the world, one of the greatest Glass manufacturers and one of the most famous coal mining areas of the world.

The Monongahela Trails pass the trail to the Ten Mile Creek at Rices Landing in Greene County and travels through one of the most beautiful sections of Pennsylvania, where nature's splendor rivals the scenery of any part of the world, and provides a stunning contrast to the developments of men. It is an area where the majestic hills of Pennsylvania display a magnificence that fills the beholder with awe.

It is tragic that thousands of people travel the Monongahela Trail unaware that they are surrounded by history and a tradition of honest hard labor and devotion to God and Country that is surpassed no where in the world; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the old Monongahela Trail starting at the great Point on the south side of the Monongahela River across from Fort Duquesne, the great Gateway to the West; thence up through the south side of the City of Pittsburgh on up the Valley through West Homestead, Homestead, Munhall, Whitaker, West Mifflin City of Duquesne, Dravosburg, City of Clairton, West Elizabeth, Jefferson, Elrama in Allegheny County; thence up the Valley through New Eagle City of Monongahela, Donora, North Charleroi, Charleroi, Spears, Allenport, Stockdale, Roscoe, Elko Coal Center California, West Brownsville, Vesta, Fredericktown, Millsboro in Washington County, thence up the Valley to Rices Landing in Greene County on to Crucible, Jacobs-Ferry, Nemacoln, Greensboro, Poland; thence to the West Virginia State Line, be dedicated as a memorial highway in commemoration of the many contributions to the progress of America, made in this valley by people of this Valley; and be it further

Resolved, That the Department of Highways shall erect along said highways, suitable tablets or markers and shall carry out suitable landscape development to perpetuate this resolution, but shall not replace or change the officially designated route numbers or names or markers thereof of any highway included in the Monongahela Trail.

Laid over for one day under the Rules.

Whereas, The sum of $358,000,000 for "support of public schools" is recommended by the Governor in his budget for the biennium 1953-55; and

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I object to the amendments.

MOTION THAT AMENDMENTS BE ADOPTED

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I move that the amendments be adopted.

Mr. BANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

(A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the negative.)

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I oppose this bill and request the other Members of the Senate to agree with me and to also oppose it.

Mr. President, I am sorry I must take the time of the Senate to review the situation that is before us. As I have said on a number of occasions, I spent about fourteen years with the State Government. One of the great fallacies I found in its operation was the accounting system and the lack of control of expenditures and proper accounting.

Mr. President, when I was elected to the Senate, my first Session was in 1949, and at that Session I presented a resolution calling for a survey by the Joint State Government Commission of the accounting system of the Commonwealth, with the view of establishing a uniform system. In the 1949 Session, the resolution was adopted and the Joint State Government Commission made its survey.

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, the Joint State Government Commission made an extensive survey. It employed, without compensation, for which we should be grateful, the Institute of Certified Public Accountants of Pennsylvania. After an exhaustive and complete examination of the functions of the Commonwealth and its accounting system, the Joint State Government Commission came up with a report, and I have this report before me. I have read it, I have studied it and I agree with its recommendations and its findings.

Mr. President, as a result of this report, the Joint State Government Commission prepared elaborate charts, plans and specifications, as well as a series of bills, to correct the undesirable situation that existed in the State Government accounting system. These bills were reported from committee, and they appeared on the Senate Calendar. After two readings, as I understood it at the time, they were returned to committee at the request of the Governor's Office.

Mr. President, then came the interval between the 1951 and the 1953 Sessions. The Governor apparently realized that there was some merit to the findings of the Joint State Government Commission, and he appointed what we know to be the Chesterman Committee, which made a series of recommendations to remove the various inefficiencies and the hodgepodge that is presently existing in our State Government.

Mr. President, I am going to read from the report which the Chesterman Committee made on the accounting system, or read a portion of that report at least, to indicate to you the importance of the amendments which I just presented, in lieu of the bill that is now on the Calendar.

Mr. President, the Chesterman Committee Report stated in part:

"The common weakness of the various accounting systems now in use by the State is the fact that they are designed to show only cash receipts and disbursements. They do not distinguish between expenditures for operations and expenditures for permanent improvements. They do not include proper accounting for non-cash assets nor for obligations incurred but unpaid. They do not relate the measure of benefits derived to the cost of producing these benefits for comparable fiscal periods.

Consequently, it is virtually impossible to obtain an accurate picture of the financial condition of the Commonwealth. The Governor, the Legislature and the people are deprived of adequate means by which to manage, to control and to judge the cost or effectiveness of the conduct of the State's affairs."

Mr. President, there are other passages in that report which should be read, but since the report I have before me is a part of the record, I will refrain from going into it any further.

Mr. President, the Governor of this Commonwealth also recognize dthe various inefficiencies in the State Government because, in his Address to the Joint Session of the Legislature, on February 23, 1953, among other things he said:

"The structure of your State Government has for some time outgrown efficiency and has promoted extravagance. Shortly after assuming office it was obvious to me, as it must have been to you, that much could be done to eradicate evils in your government, and that the field was expansive for improvement of the State services.

"How and when to proceed with improvements were the only questions before us; the necessity of proceeding with a survey of government was never clouded in any doubt. How such survey as the one before us could have been overlooked and been delayed until this Administration is quite confounding."

Mr. President, this observation was made when the Governor addressed the Joint Session on the Chesterman Committee Report.

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, you will recall that after the Chesterman Committee made its report, a committee was appointed to conduct hearings on the various phases of that report. After one or two hearings, the procedure was disbanded and it was decided to discontinue the hearings and, in lieu, prepare bills on each recommendation for submission to the Legislature for consideration.

Mr. President, the distinguished Majority Leader said that bills would be prepared, and bills were prepared on practically every phase of the Chesterman Committee Report except on the report on accounting. I questioned the Majority Leader on numerous occasions as to when this bill would be presented, in keeping with his promise not only to the Legislautre but to the people. He told me and told the Members of the Senate, which is a matter of record, that the bill was being prepared by the Attorney General's Office and would forthwith be presented for the consideration of this body, as well as the House.

Mr. President, I have waited a long time for this bill to make its appearance, but, lo and behold, it has not made its appearance to this date. What they give us is a mere scrap of meaningless paper in the form of Senate Bills Nos. 752 and 753.

Frankly, I more or less hesitated to oppose those bills because they bore the name of a very distinguished Member of this Senate, Senator Diehm, whom I have always found to be a man of high caliber, a man who is sincere in his dealings and in his consideration of legislation. The bills which they gave to Senator Diehm for us to consider here, as I have said before and I wish to say it now, were nothing more than a scrap of paper. What the bills propose to do can now be done under the provisions of The Administrative Code.

Mr. President, I called the Legislative Reference Bureau and I asked them for the section of The Administrative Code which provides for those features which the bill proposes to enact into law, and it would be nothing more than a duplication. For that reason, I say the bills are meaningless and are only a scrap of paper. I said this as soon as I looked at the bills.

Mr. President, the Attorney General's Office, which drafted these bills, must think we are a bunch of dopes over here. I just want to say to the persons who drafted them that if they think we are dopes, they are bigger dopes than we are for thinking we are dopes. I am really angry that they would send something over here that was absolutely meaningless, in an effort to deceive us and deceive the people of this Commonwealth by making us believe that we were going to get a new accounting system in this Commonwealth, which is needed, by these scraps of paper.

Mr. President, I will tell you how important it is for us to have an accounting sustem in this Commonwealth. A short time ago, I introduced a bill here calling upon the departments, boards and commissions to lapse whatever surpluses, unexpended surpluses, existed in appropriations. When I made an inquiry as to what the surpluses were, I was told that although they were on the books it was impossible to make an accurate determination, because nobody knew what the commitments were against those balances. That is just the way it is going to continue under the system that we have right now.

Mr. President, what do these bills propose to do? They propose to set up, in all of the departments or agencies of the Commonwealth, comptrollers and a series of employees under the comptrollers. If you will check, you will find that those comptrollers exist now, right at this moment. What are you going to do, just fire them and then rehire them? That would be just plain silly. Even to hire, to fire and rehire them would not cure the condition that exists in the State Government at the present time. What we need is not thirty-five or forty comptrollers; we need one comptroller. We need one comptroller who will approve expenditures, that will make collections due the Commonwealth, that will give periodic reports to the Legislature and to the people indicating the true financial condition of the Commonwealth.

Mr. President, I defy anybody in this State Government, as I said before, to tell us what the taxes payable are. By year or by taxpayers, I defy anybody in this Commonwealth to tell us what the accounts receivable are or what the accounts payable are. I defy anybody to tell us what the surplus from this biennium or from any other biennium might be. It just cannot be done, because of the accounting system under which we operate.

Mr. President, I went up to the Budget Bureau the other day and I asked the Budget Bureau, for instance, to give me a breakdown of the totals which appear in the appropriation bill that I understand is now before the House. Let me call your attention to that bill. Frankly, I think it is a disgrace not only to this Legislature, but to the Commonwealth as well. They introduced an appropriation bill in the House without a figure in it. Where the figure should be, there is a blank space waiting for the figure to be inserted. What sort of a Budget Bureau do we have? What sort of a fiscal policy de we have? When is the figure going to be inserted? When I asked the Budget Office to let me have a breakdown of the totals to be appropriated to each department, I was told that would be a big job.

Frankly, Mr. President and Members of the Senate, the Budget Bureau ought to have such a statement at its finger tips. It should not say that it is a big job, because they either computed the totals that go to each department from subtotals, by an object classification that was submitted to the Budget Bureau, or they got the totals out of the air as nothing but a guess figure. If we permit such a condition to continue, the tax situation, the financial condition that confronted us at this Session, the last Session and the previous Sessions, will continue for an indefinite period.

As I said before, Mr. President and Members of the Senate, what we need is a revised accounting system. The amendments that I presented would have given us just that. Those amendments would have set up the Office of State Comptroller or State Accountants, whatever you want to call it. They would have defined his qualifications, as well as the term for which he would have served. They stipulated the purposes for which his services could be terminated and the method by which his services could be terminated, that is, the procedure. The amendments would fix the State Comptroller's salary. They would prescribe the duties and functions of the State Comptroller relative to the approval or disapproval of expenditures, and require the submission of monthly estimates of expenditures by the agencies of the Commonwealth. They would require the State Comptroller to maintain all accounts of the Commonwealth, the funds, securities and claims and to render accounting reports. They would provide a method for collecting bills due the Commonwealth, for treatment in State institutions and from persons who do business with departments, boards and commissions. The State Comptroller, under these amendments, would install a modern system of accounting to reflect the operation of the Commonwealth on an accrual rather than a cash basis. He would submit quarterly statements, indicating the true financial condition of the Commonwealth at any given period.

Mr. President, I might add that copies of these statements would be made available to the General Assembly while it was in Session and, when not in Session, to the Joint State Government Commission. The reports would be made available for the general information of the public. They would require the State Comptroller to examine and approve all requisitions for the payment of money out of the State Treasury. A detailed statement of money receivable by all agencies of the Commonwealth would be prepared and made available by the State Comptroller. Finally, he would approve all requisitions for the payment of any money before the requisitions were transmitted to the Treasury Department. In other words, he would preaudit all State expenditures.

With that sort of a system, Mr. President, you would know at all times just what condition your budgets were in, just what commitments were made against appropriations, what debts were due the Commonwealth, and in that fashion you would be able to determine the true financial condition of the Commonwealth at any given period. It would also assist in the preparation of a true and correct budget.

I just want to call your attention to one more thing, Mr. President, before I close. At the end of this biennium,the Governor issued a statement of receipts and expenditures and, of course, he tells you about the actual collections for the period ending May 31. However, nowhere does the Governor tell us of the taxes, collections, that are receivable which have not been paid as of May 31, but should be paid at some time.

Mr. President, how do you or I know how much money was collected since May 31, which is applicable to this biennium? That is an important factor for the Legislature to know when it places a total figure in the appropriation bill, which is to come before us within a short period of time. We have a right to know just what the financial condition of the Commonwealth is. We do not know it and we never will know it under this bill. It is a joke, it is nothing but a mere scrap of paper, it is an insult to the intelligence of the Members of this Senate and to the people of this Commonwealth.

Mr. President, I ask that this bill be voted down and that a bill be considered proposing to do what the Chesterman Committee recommended we do, what the Joint State Government Commission recommended we do, and what Mr. Heyburn, when he left office, recommended we do in a report that he submitted to the people.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I believe the Senator spent about eighty per cent of his time talking about a bill that is not before us.

Mr. President, this bill, I believe, is a step in the right direction. Under the present setup, the comptrollers are appointed by the heads of the departments, and they are responsible to the heads of the departments. It was felt that inasmuch as the comptroller has to approve or disapprove of the expenditures of the department heads and the employees in that particular department, that they should not be employed or supervised by the heads of the departments but should be responsible to some other power. All that this bill does is to provide that the Governor shall have the power and the authority to appoint these comptrollers in these various departments, and no longer will they be subservient to the heads of the departments, but they will be under the direct supervision of the appointing power, the Governor.

Mr. President, I believe that this is a step in the right direction, and that it will accomplish quite a bit of good in the operation of the State Government. I ask my colleagues to vote for the bill.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Majority Floor Leader, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Majority Floor Leader, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. YOSKO. Is it not a fact, Senator Mahany, that in all departments in the State Government, except the Auditor General, State Treasury and Secretary of Internal Affairs, which are exempt from the provisions of this bill anyway, all other employees come under the jurisdiction of the Governor?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I do not understand that that is the case. I remember that Attorney General Woodside told me that his comptroller was employed by him and was responsible to the Attorney General. He thought that this was wrong, and that the comptroller in each department should not be under the supervision and control of the head of the department but should be more or less independent.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I desire to further interrogate the Majority Floor Leader, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Majority Floor Leader, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. YOSKO. Is it not a fact that if the Governor wanted to, he could dismiss the Attorney General's comptroller, or any other comptroller or any other employee in the Commonwealth outside of the State Treasury, the Auidtor General's Department and the Secretary of Internal Aflairs?

Mr. MAHANY. Well, if he could it has not been done. This bill does provide specifically that the Governor shall have that power. Perhaps, under the law there may be some implication that the Governor might have that power, but it is not so generally understood.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I just want to say to Senator Mahany that if he will read the proper sections of The Administrative Code, he will find that what I say is correct.

Mr. President, since the power to fire is the same as the power to hire, the Governor would have and does have, under The Administrative Code, the power to fire or hire anybody in the State Government, outside of the three departments I named. The best example of that is when he fired Mr. Brown here a short time ago, or asked for his resignation. If he could fire Mr. Brown, he could fire anybody who worked under Mr. Brown. Since the Governor appoints his own Cabinet Members and the Cabinet Members are the heads of the departments, he certainly could fire, if he wanted to, the employees who work under them.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 32, entitled:

An Act to further amend Section 2 of the act approved the seventeenth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirteen (P. L. 507), entitled "An act to provide revenue for State and county purposes, and, in cities coextensive with counties, for city and county purposes; imposing taxes upon certain classes of personal property; providing for the assessment and collection of the same; providing for the duties and compensation of prothonotaries and recorders in connection therewith; and modifying existing legislation which provided for raising revenue for State purposes," by further regulating the returns of taxable property and the payment of taxes by certain taxpayers under the provisions of this act.

And said bill having been read at length the third time.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate either of the sponsors of the bill.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Minority Floor Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DENT. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I desire to inquire of the Minority Floor Leader whether he is familiar enough with Senate Bill No. 32 to be interrogated regarding the contents thereof.

Mr. DENT. Yes, I think so, Mr. President.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I desire to ask the gentleman from Westmoreland if there is a provision in this bill which will prevent estates, that might come under the provisions of the amendment, from being taxed twice.

Mr. DENT. I think that the natural provisions of all of our laws disallow taxation twice on the same subject. The money is not deposited in the central bank; it is deposited in the local bank. The court ruling in Pittsburgh has taken from the local districts, where these branch banks are situated, the personal property taxes on moneys that are deposited in the branch banks in the respective counties, and it gives to the county of Allegheny, let us put it that way, verly clearly, the right to take the personal tax on moneys which are resting in the depositories of the branch banks in contiguous counties.

I cannot say whether there would be any taxing authority that would try to take a tax on the same sum of money at both places.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I wish to call the gentleman's attention to the fact that in an illustration such as he has suggested to the Senate, where the trust might have originated in Westmoreland County and then, through a merger with a Pittsburgh bank or an Allegheny County bank, the trust might be transferred for any number of reasons to Pittsburgh, where it would be subject to the personal property tax levied by the city of Pittsburgh and the school board of the city of Pittsburgh, there is nothing in this bill which will prevent the county of Westmoreland, under this amendment, from levying a tax on the same personal property because it originated in Westmoreland County.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I think that under the personal property tax, when you fill out your form and state the amount of personal property that you own, which comes under the taxing features of the Personal Property Tax Act, you must state where the money is deposited, or if the money happens to be transferred, as you say, through a merger of the two banks and if the account is then removed and taken to the central bank, there is nothing in this bill which would allow Westmoreland or any county to tax that sum of money which is no longer in the county.

Mr. WALKER. Well, Mr. President, the gentleman from Westmoreland must understand that under this amendment, even if the trust were originated in Westmoreland County and then through a merger the Westmoreland County Trust Company would become a branch bank of a Pittsburgh bank, and the trust were removed for accounting purposes to Pittsburgh, it would be subject to a personal property tax in Westmoreland County.

Mr. DENT. Yes, it would because the only thing which has been removed is the file for accounting purposes, and that is exactly what we are trying to stop.

Mr. WALKER. If the actual securities involved in the trust were transferred to Pittsburgh, does the gentleman from Westmoreland suggest that they would not be subject to the tax in Westmoreland under this amendment?

Mr. DENT. I certainly do, because the only thing that determines where the trust resides is the administrative office of the trust. If the present administration of that trust is in Westmoreland County, then the trust ought to be taxed in Westmoreland County, regardless of the accounting features of the parent bank.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I certainly do not want to prolong the argument on this bill, but the amendment very clearly states that if the trust is created in the branch bank, regardless of where the accounting books are kept or if the books and the trust entirely were removed to Pittsburgh under this amendment, Westmoreland County could levy a personal property tax on that personal property even though it has been removed to Pittsburgh.

Mr. DENT. When the trust administration has been removed to Pittsburgh?

Mr. WALKER. Yes.

Mr. DENT. It would not be taxed in Allegheny County. That is the understanding I have from Senator Lane, who was the originator of the bill, because of a court case arising out of a trust in Washington County.

Mr. WALKER. May I respectfully suggest to the gentleman from Westmoreland that there is no provision in this amendment which protects the trust from being taxed in Pittsburgh and in Westmoreland.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I would suggest to the gentleman from Allegheny that I will gladly go along on any amendment to protect the trust against dual taxation.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I am not the sponsor of the bill. I am merely concerned about not taxing the trust in Westmoreland County or not taxing it in two counties. I respectfully suggest to the members of the Bar, who are in the Senate, that I think the Dorrance Estate established the fact that you cannot tax property in two separate jurisdictions.

Mr. DENT. Well, what does the gentleman want me to do?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I would suggest to the sponsors of the bill that they make a determination as to whether or not it is possible for trusts to be taxed twice under this bill. If such a danger might exist, I would suggest that a saving clause be put into the bill, as an amendment, to protect trusts from being taxed in two separate counties.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I took this very matter up with the Attorney General's Office and was advised that if, for example, a trust were created in Westmoreland County or in Washington County, or any county in the State for that matter, and deposited in a branch bank, it would be the duty of the branch bank to notify the parent bank that the fund was taxable in the branch bank. Therefore, there would be no possibility of the fund being taxed twice.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I know that Senator Walker is serious and is very much disturbed over the possibility of dual taxation. If Senator Walker will accept the Attorney General's word, as it has been transmitted by Senator Mallery, I will ask that the bill be acted upon today.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, that places the gentleman from Allegheny in a very embarrassing position.

Mr. DENT. I know.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I have nothing but the highest regard for Senator Mallery, the distinguished gentleman from Blair. I do not know at this point who, in the Attorney General's Office, gave the opinion. I had the privilege and the pleasure of serving for three years in the Department of Justice and I have nothing but the highest regard for every deputy that the Attorney General has, but I say, in all fairness, I am not apprised as yet of the fact that the bill has been studied by the Department and an opinion actually rendered.

As one lawyer to another, Mr. President, may I suggest that a fast opinion on a thing like this, when there is a vast difference of opinion among lawyers—I have had some lawyers, I might say, Mr. President, say to me, "I do not think you would be in any danger of being taxed twice." Other lawyers have said, "I think there is a very grave danger without a saving clause." It is so simple to be safe with a saving clause, so that you are not taxed twice.

Mr. President, I have no objection to the bill, if the saving clause is put in there so that the estates are not taxed twice. How embarrased we would be, Mr. President, if we passed this bill and then, in all of these areas where branch banks happen to be located,—fortunately for Allegheny County and the contiguous counties we have a branch banking system there that is functioning with marvelous efficiency in service to the public—these trusts were subjected to a dual taxation.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I am sure that the sponsors of the act had no intention of dual taxation. I am sure that the Attorney General, whomever he was, gave the opinion on the law as he read it. However, in face of the doubt which still exists in the mind of the gentleman from Allegheny, I am sure that we can wait until tomorrow to clarify it.

I might add, Mr. President, that I believe every member of the Senate, who is not a member of the Bar, realizes there would not be any act passed if we had to get unanimity of opinion from the lawyers on just what the contents of the act will be.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 32, Printer's No. 389, on third reading, go over in its order, and we will work with the gentleman to get the proper amendments in order to protect the trusts against dual taxation.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 110, as follows:

An Act to further amend the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I object to amendments being offered at this time.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, inasmuch as one of the sponsors of this bill did not as much as extend the courtesy of an opportunity to present amendments to the bill, I must rise to oppose it.

Mr. President, this bill is nothing more than a redraft, to some extent but only worse, of Senate Bill No. 35, which was on the calendar and considered by this Senate for quite sometime and finally returned to committee. When that bill was on the calendar, I objected to it and gave my reasons for my objections, which involved a number of safeguards as well as the broadness of the investments that could be participated in involving schoolteachers' money and State employees' money. It was a redraft of the bill which is now before us. There is some improvement in it in so far as the safeguards are concerned, except for the fact that there is no provision for publicizing the investments that are to be made.

Mr. President, I said, when Senate Bill No. 35 was on the Calendar, from my experience with State Governments and fiscal affairs involved, that the State of New Jersey set up an investment commission and that commission has been used as a model all over the United States. As a matter of fact, it so impressed the Secretary of the United States Treasury that he asked Mr. Margetts, who is the State Treasurer of New Jersey, to invite all of the financial officers of the States to a meeting in Washington to review the system now in force in the State of New Jersey, with the view of going into the matter of investing State funds.

Mr. President, I want to say at this time that I am now in the process of arranging a convention, and a program for that convention, of the National Association of State Auditors, Comptrollers and Treasurers, which will be held in the city of New York, at the Hotel Commodore, from September 16 to 19. I have set aside one full day for a discussion on the establishment of investment commissions, as well as the general investment of State funds.

The Secretary of the Treasury of the United States has been designated to lead that conference.

Mr. President, I note from this bill that an investment council has been set up. However, it does not include any Members of the Legislature. One of the amendments which I propose here was legislative representation; two Members from the House and two Members from the Senate, one representing the Minority Party and the other representing the Majority Party.

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I think that is important because the Members of the Legislature ought to know what is going on in the State Government, so that when the Legislature meets in Session it can go to one of the members who serve on these boards and commissions and get proper information to guide them.

Mr. President, so far as the advertisement feature is concerned, I just want to read a passage from a letter I received from Mr. Margetts, who is the State Treasurer of the State of New Jersey. When I submitted Senate Bill No. 35 to him for his appraisal, he said this in part:

"Nowhere in your Bill do I find provision for publication of the transactions had with respect to such a program. From my experience, it is absolutely essential to have full and complete publication with respect to all transactions, whether purchases or sales. This is set forth in our Act in Section 14, page 7."

Mr. President, I think it would be interesting, to those of you who are interested, that I read this passage from the New Jersey law setting up this investment commission. This is what it states:

"Monthly Report of Investment Council

"Not later than fifteen days after the close of each month, the Secretary of the Investment Council shall cause to be prepared and made available to the members of the Council, the press and the public, a report of the operations of the Council during such month. Each report shall include a detailed summary of investment, reinvestment, purchase, sale or exchange and transactions, setting forth among other things the investments bought, sold and exchanged, the dates thereof, the prices paid and obtained, the names of the dealers involved and the statement of the funds or accounts affected."

Mr. President, I am sure you will agree that this is very important, especially so since the greater amount of the funds to be invested are trust funds, custodial funds, which belong to the schoolteachers of this Commonwealth and the State employees.

Mr. President, the other amendment that I proposed here, and which I think is important, calls for some safeguards in connection with the type of obligations this council could invest in. I just want to read a section of Senate Bill No. 650, which authorizes the council to invest in certain types of funds. It says at the bottom of page 5, section (b):

"To invest such funds in any bonds"—any bonds, just think of that; any bonds, good, bad, indifferent, it does not make any difference—"or other obligations real estate ground rents interest bearing deposits common trust funds mortgage investment funds and preferred stocks which are legal investments for fiduciaries under the provisions of the 'Fiduciaries Investment Act of 1949.'"

It seems to me, Mr. President, that with these school funds and with these State employees' funds, this investment council can invest in almost anything. I, therefore, look forward to the wolves marching on Harrisburg to dump their bad and indifferent securities and investments, or to make an effort to dump them, on the Commonwealth with school employees' and State employees' funds. I do not think it is fair.

It may be all right, Mr. President, under the Fiduciaries Investment Act to authorize investments, but there is one thing you must bear in mind. A fiduciary who invests funds under his jurisdiction is under the jurisdiction of the court. He is under bond and if he makes a bad investment, he can be surcharged and you can collect for that bond. There are any number of safeguards, but that is not true here. I believe, and I say this in all sincerity, we are stepping on thin ice when we pass a bill such as this.

One of the amendments on the investments, Mr. President, in so far as bonds are concerned, stated that they should be confined to State municipal bonds, for which the full faith and credit of the State or political subdivision is pledged. Then you have some assurance, at least, that the investment is a good investment.

Mr. President, as the bill is drawn now, it is too broad, it is too dangerous and I do not think we should gamble with schoolteachers', school employees' and State employees' funds.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, the bill which is presently before us, and which is sponsored by Senator Wade and myself, is the result of an endeavor to enlarge the investment powers of the various funds, the Employes' Retirement Fund and the schoolteachers' Retirement Fund, which at present are considerably restricted.

The gentleman will recall, Mr. President, and the Senate will recall, that there appeared on the calendar for some days a bill designated as Senate Bill No. 35. This was a bill which suggested by one of the State departments, having to do with these investments, in order to permit the funds to invest in securities that would net them somewhat more of a return than those in which they are presently allowed to invest.

I consulted at length with Senator Yosko, on that, and incorporated in that bill a number of amendments which he suggested, but was unable to satisfy him unless I went the whole way and put in everything that he wanted, which was not acceptable to the department. Many of his suggestions were excellent and, as I say, were incorporated.

However, Mr. President, in order to get a bill which would appear to accomplish something in the direction we intended, we prepared Senate Bill No. 650. I want to correct the impression which appears to have been given in the discussion of this bill by the Senator from Northampton, that these funds could invest in any bonds, or any other obligations, or any real estate, any ground rental, interest bearing deposits, common trust funds, mortage investment funds and so forth. Mr. President, they can invest in those things only if that type of security is a legal investment for securities under the provisions of the Fiduciaries Investment Act of 1949.

Mr President, I submit that that restriction is a perfectly reasonable one, and one which has grown around investment funds in banks, trust companies and others having to do with the funds of other persons, and I believe that the invesment council, which is provided for in this bill, will be able to make proper investments within the scope of the Fiduciaries Act of 1949.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, Senator Berger said that one of the departments asked that this bill be drafted. About the only department that I know of which would make such a request would be the Treasury Department. I, too, contacted the Treasury Department and I was not given to understand any such thing. I know who is lobbying for this bill, without going into names, and let me assure you that it is not the State Treasury Department.

Mr. President, I think the Commonwealth would be on the safer side if it assumed the attitude, for instance, that New York State assumes on the return of investments. This is what the State Treasurer of New York has to say about that. He says:

"Apparently the New York State Legislature have been more concerned regarding the preservation of the principal amount of the fund instead of the income which might be obtained thru the investment in lower grade securities. In my opinion, this policy is sound." I think it is, too.

Mr President, if the Legislature has in years back guaranteed certain funds, a percentage of interest as a return for the money the State has custody of, I, for one, would rather see this Legislature reduce the amount of guaranteed return, which I now understand is four per cent, and the investments do not earn anywhere near that. I have no hesitancy in saying that they will not earn it under this bill here.

However, Mr President, to stay on the safe side, I think we would be better off if we assumed the attidude which is assumed by the State of New York, and other States, in the investment of funds for which the Commonwealth is the trustee and the custodian. They are moneys that are paid into those funds by employees, or taken from their pay, and they are sent here and they should be guarded with everything at our command. I say this bill will not do that thing.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1254, entitled:

An Act to add subsection (5) to Section 2 of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of July one thousand nine hundred thirteen (P. L. 965) entitled "An act defining commodities regulating the sale thereof and providing penalties for violation hereof" by providing for the transportation sale and delivery of manure

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I wanted to catch your attention before the bill passed third reading because, after reading this bill, I think that the bill requires some amendments. There are those who suggest that some of us are better qualified to talk about the subject matter of this bill than others. I do not, at least not wih pride, point to the fact that I know something about the subject.

The bill, Mr. President, intends to protect the mushroom growers, particularly down around Chester County, from fraud in the purchase and sale and delivery of manure. It is a very serious bill, in spite of the fact that it comes before us without much opposition from any part.

Mr. President, I have looked the bill over very carefully and I have talked to the farming gentleman from Chester County, and I believe that you would agree with me that if you are going to pass a bill to protect these farmers, then do not just put a bill in which creates a nuisance more than anything else. All this bill does is set up rules and regulations on the weighing of the trucks and so forth, and the carrying of tare sheets and weight slips in order to protect the farmer against getting a different weight than what he purchased.

Mr. President, the truth of the matter, and I think the President of the Senate probably knows a great deal about this, is that the question which arises in the delivery of manure is that there is a great deal of adulteration of the manure going on. The real protection for the farmer would be an amendment to this act. Protect him, if you wish, with the weight slips. That is perfectly all right, but also protect him against the thing that is being done down there which creates the fraud. What they do, Mr. President, is take a load of dry manure and turn a hose on it, and wet it down good and increase the weight of the manure. Of course, the mushroom grower who buys it does not need to buy water, but that is what he is getting.

If I remember rightly, Mr. President, they once had a bill in the House, back in 1935, and I do not like to even talk about it because it seems to be more of a laughing subject than a serious matter. However, it must be serious because it was almost twenty years ago when this bill was first called to our attention in the House.

Mr. President, if the Senate will agree, I would like to try to write some amendments protecting the mushroom grower against the adulteration of the manure he uses.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WATKINS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I thought it would be most interesting and of importance to the Senate to advise this body of just what happened to a State Senator, as reported from Paris. The heading of this article reads as follows:

"Cannibals Eat Their Senator

"The French Overseas Ministry today officially listed an Ivory Coast Senator, Biaka Boda, as dead—eaten by cannibal constituents.

"He has been listed as 'missing' since January 28, 1950 when his personal belongings were found near a heap of bones soon after he set out on a tour of his district."

Mr. President, I thought that this might be of interest to the boys, because I know that twenty-five of us have to run again for the Senate. I think that they should take warning and be careful, in view of what happened in Paris, and see to it that it does not happen here.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair had no idea that the carcass of a State Senator could be so palatable.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Wednesday, July 15, 1953, at 10:30 o'clock a. m., Eastern Standard Time.

Mr. HARE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

Amen.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. GOODLING asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, there have been some outstanding middlemen in double-play combinations, men whose names are indelibly inscribed on sports records.

To mention a few, we had, Tinker to Evers to Chance; Baker to Collins to Maginnis; Crisetti to Lazzeri to Gehrig.

More recently we had, Reese to Robinson to Hodges.

In the Pittsburgh Press, page 18, section 1, column 1, under a Harrisburg date line of July 11, a new combination appears to have been formed. I read the following:

> The bill was counted out on what the truckers labeled a double play—Byoir to Goodling to Royer.

By implication at least the integrity of two Members of this House has been questioned, and I want the Membership and the gentlemen of the Press to know we resent the implication which is entirely without fact. I want to assure you further that I have and shall continue to do my own thinking and reach my own conclusions.

I believe the gentleman from Lancaster is also in the same category.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. WATERHOUSE. Mr. Speaker, there have been developments that I am afraid would embarrass the Members on both sides of the House, regardless of amendments that would be offered. Out of courtesy to these Members on both sides, I move that this bill 1097, Printer's No. 485, be recommitted to the Committee from which it came.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman, Mr. Waterhouse.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Erie permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WATERHOUSE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Would the gentleman care if I asked him to give the names of those who would be put on the spot by the amendments that are about to be offered to this bill?

Mr. WATERHOUSE. Mr. Speaker, in answer to that I think it would be rather general. Some who would possibly vote for the amendments would antagonize some factions, they would antagonize others if they did not. I am afraid the amendments have little or nothing to do with this particular piece of legislation. This legislation was offered as an emergency measure to try and give some degree of relief to the movie industry.

At the same time I believe the amendments would kill the bill. There would be no chance of it ever becoming law. So for that reason Mr. Speaker, I think the only thing to do is to recommit it.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman. If I may note the motion to recommit states that it is a measure in the interests of the moving picture industry in Pennsylvania. The amendments I was going to introduce to this bill were in the interests of the working people of Pennsylvania who will be very much affected by a sales tax and other taxes under 481.

I think the emergency is just as acute there as it is in the moving picture industry.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to support the motion to recommit. I consider that an amendment to complicate the moving picture house situation with wage taxes and other taxes is contrary to sound parliamentary practices. If any Member desires to raise the issue of the wage taxes the proper procedure is to introduce the bill, and not try to make an alien issue ride along with a wholly different proposition.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1133, entitled:

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 The first paragraph of Section 2502 of the act approved the tenth day of March one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to House Bill 1349, Printers No. 336.

By the terms of this bill the reimbursement which the several school districts in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania are now receiving from the Commonwealth for the instruction of children in kindergartens will be cut in half. The kindergarten reimbursements are now based upon two classes per day, two instruction classes, therefore two reimbursements per day.

Now, the school districts which have set up their kindergarten programs based upon this reimbursement will lose the effect of one-half of their reimbursement and as we all know, the school districts are not in a position to take this cut.

I, therefore, ask each and every one of you coming from your several school districts to vote "No" on this bill.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. Speaker, the kindergarten movement in education is a very old one, starting about the beginning of the 19th century, but for a long time, although the advantages were recognized by educators, it was only available to the children of the well-to-do, the wealthy. It has only been recently that it has been introduced as a part of the public schools.

Several years ago the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania offered the present method of reapportionment on behalf of kindergartens as an inducement to local districts to open kindergartens, and many local districts did. The kindergartens are running for about four years. In that time the people have been accustomed to that service, and have approved of it very much.

This is the situation the state has got the local districts into. If they remove this appropriation, they face one of two possibilities. Either they must retrench the program, abolish it or partially abolish it, or else they must raise more local tax money in order to take care of it.

I say the Commonwealth should make up its mind on a policy of this sort. They have gotten many of the local districts into the kindergarten business, and now they are withdrawing the inducement they gave to get them into the business, thus leaving the local district in a very embarrassing situation.

Let us face this frankly. This is simply one way of cutting appropriations to local districts. If it had been necessary to make large cuts in the amount of money you are going to give for education in the local district, then I would say this would be a logical place to begin. There is no doubt about it that this does represent a cut in the appropriation which the State is making to the local districts. I think every one should face that fact. I believe under our present fiscal situation there is no necessity for such retrenchment, and therefore, I would urge that the Members vote against this bill.

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, I am afraid I cannot let the remarks of the two previous gentlemen go unanswered.

This bill does not cut the amount of the appropriation for kindergartens when you base it on the number of teachers employed in the teaching of kindergartens. I think it was the intent to reimburse for each teaching unit of kindergarten. Because of overcrowded conditions in some school districts, it has been necessary to teach kindergarten on the basis of half-day sessions, and they do teach, in many places, two classes by the same teacher. So actually, the one teacher who is teaching kindergarten only does one day's work. We reimburse on that basis.

What is behind this, Mr. Speaker, is that we stand here on the floor of the House and preach economy. This bill is pure economy, and an evil which should be corrected. It seems the only time we are against economy is when it starts to affect our own district.

Mr. Speaker, this bill will save the Commonwealth of Pennslyvania $4 million. I Say that is real economy in education. It is an evil that should be corrected and therefore we should pass the bill.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Armstrong permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HELM. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman how much money in state appropriations will the school districts of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania lose if this bill is passed.

Mr. HELM. Four million dollars.

Mr. SEYLER. How much will the city of Philadelphia lose?

Mr. HELM. I cannot answer that question.

Mr. SEYLER. Can the gentleman tell me how much the County of Allegheny will lose?

Mr. HELM. I cannot.

Mr. SEYLER. Can the gentleman tell me how much his County will lose?

Mr. HELM. I cannot.

Mr. SEYLER. Does the gentleman agree that every one of the counties of Pennslyvania will suffer a substantial loss in state appropriations?

Mr. HELM. I certainly cannot say whether every county will suffer, because I do not know if there are any counties that do not teach kindergarten.

Mr. SEYLER. Would the gentleman maintain that the salary of the teacher is the only expense incurred by a school district in maintaining a kindergarten?

Mr. HELM. No, I will not.

Mr. SEYLER. I would ask the gentleman this: In view of the gentleman's superior knowledge to mine of the fiscal situation in the Commonwealth, now that the majority party has resolutely pushed through a tax program, would the gentleman say that retrenchment in expenditure for education is necessary at this session?

Mr. HELM. I do not think that retrenchment is necessary, and I do not think this bill will cause any retrenchment. I think the districts will still continue to teach kindergarten, but I think they will get their reimbursement on a fair basis.

Mr. SEYLER. Is it not true that the districts will receive less actual money from the Commonwealth as a result of passage of this bill?

Mr. HELM. That is right, to the tune of $4 million dollars.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, so that there is no misapprehension, or misinformation as to the situation as it now exists, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the Department of Education have been well aware of the fact that the kindergarten system throughout the Commonwealth has been conducted on a half-day basis. That is, most of the kindergarten classes have been one-half for one group of children, and then in the afternoon another group of children attend. These youngsters are not subjected to a full day of classes in school. All that is known and has been the case in the school system.

It has also been known that these school districts have been for years reimbursed on the basis of two separate teaching units per day. The fact that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania now sees fit, or suggests that this be changed was because of the fact that there was a question of whether or not adequate funds would be raised by taxation. We now have these funds, and they are available as they were in the past biennium, and we are in a position to reimburse the school district on the same basis that we have done in years past.

The result is going to be, if this bill passes, that the difference, or the burden, will fall upon the local school districts, though each and every one of us knows at the present time that there is a struggle going on within our own school district in the search of additional funds to maintain our school system. We know that we have a problem in the City of Pittsburgh. We are trying to work it out to get additional funds and we cannot figure that we are going to lose these funds in Pittsburgh. Under the set-up if this bill passes, the city schools of Pittsburgh will lose $300,000 in the next biennium, by reason of this loss of reimbursement to the kindergarten classes. Likewise, in proportion, Philadelphia will lose, and through-out the Commonwealth, each school district, no matter what class it may be, that conducts kindergarten will lose their reimbursement.

I say to each and every one of you, before you decide your vote here today, determine whether or not the school district, the district which you now represent can take upon themselves the additional burden of reimbursing their school system for the funds which they will not receive from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I find that I cannot agree with my learned colleagues on this side in this matter. I do not think it was ever the intention of this House to allow the school district. in a sense, to profit by setting up kindergartens. Certainly we wanted to induce districts to have kindergarten classes,but I believe it was the thought in everyone's mind that the same philosophy of reimbursement would be followed in connection with the kindergartens as in connection with the regular class room teachers.

What the present law which the bill seeks to amend does is put a premium on setting up kindergartens. I do not think the question is whether or not our districts are going to lose some money; I think the question is, is it fair to move away from our philosophy of how they should be reimbursed in this instance, or should we not.

For example, I believe we should reexamine the manner in which the city of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh are reimbursed. Perhaps we are not being fair to those districts; and if we are not, we should certainly seek to save money wherever we can in order that we might give a more liberal allowance to those districts. If we refuse to save $4 million by doing this, then we are certainly not in a very good position to say to Philadelphia and Allegheny later when we decide they should be given more liberal allowances, "we are going to give them to you." Because by admission they are getting $300,000 in Allegheny under this present setup which they will lose under this bill.

I do not think the approach should be made by killing this bill I think this one should be passed, and if we are not being fair to those districts we should pass other legislation which puts them on a fair basis.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, I find I must disagree with Mr. Readinger. I dislike a bill like this going through without some provision being made at the same time to make up for the loss of revenue that all these school districts throughout the Commonwealth are about to experience.

I think this is bad legislation because the money that is gotten through these kindergarten classes is certainly used in the school districts for the teaching of pupils. Nobody grabs that money and puts it in their pockets.

In view of the fact that we have just passed the sales tax,—Mr. Speaker, I take that back. I yield to my Republican colleagues, they passed the sales tax—in view of that fact and in view of the fact that this particular tax is earmarked for education we certainly should not pass this type of legislation to retrench at this time.

Mr. Speaker, I am very happy to hear that my colleagues on the other side are listening so intently.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Aggreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr Speaker, here we have a very pecular bill, destined I have no doubt for passage by this House. It has very able sponsors and has a very interested constituency, and the people interested in this bill have a lot of friends in this Chamber.

This bill is designed specifically to establish certain firms in the wine business in Pennsylvania. It seems that as a result of competition California has been able to bottle wine, certain grades of wine, cheaper than Pennsylvania bottlers have been able to bottle it. And so the bottling business of wine has departed from our midst and most of the bottling is being done in California.

We have various of our friends who want to bring the wine bottling business back, they want to establish some of our friends in business in Pennsylvania, they are very good friends. Incidentally from information I have no doubt, from past records, that the people we want to establish in the wine bottling business will be very substantial contributors to both political parties.

As a matter of principle I am opposed to legislation designed to interfere with commerce between the states and with the magnificent attribute that we boast about so much here in America, "free enterprise".

If Pennsylvania cannot bottle wine in competition with the national situation, that is too bad. But these people want to bottle wine. Whether we ought to rush to their recue and arbitrarily establish a wine bottling business in Pennsylvania is a very serious problem.

This bill would establish certain minimum prices for wine. The wine, according to the bill, is regulated by alcoholic content. You can get an awfully bad wine that has a high alcoholic content. You can get a wine that has a lower alcoholic content that is good wine. This is a bill designed to bring our friends back into Pennsylvania to bottle bad wine at a minimum price. If that is the way you want to do business, establishing these minimums and placing barriers on interstate commerce, why that's what you want to do.

Incidentally, I have no doubt that 97 percent of the Members on this side of the House will vote for this bill. I had to make a special plea in my caucus to be permitted to oppose it. They agreed that I could oppose it, but they also agreed that I might oppose it from four o'clock until seven, and they would still vote for the bill.

Anyhow, I think it is a bad bill. I think it is bad practice. I am against the bill and I have said my say, and thank you.

Mr. VAUGHAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to defend this bill for one real good reason, I think, and that is that it helps the workers in Pennsylvania because Pennsylvania industry buys all their bottles here. They hire men in this state; they bring in this wine from California, as Mr. Andrews has said, but in California they do not pay the corporate tax that we do here, therefore they can bring it in and undersell these fellows.

In Ohio and Michigan they have this same particular law which we are trying to pass here, and on top of that it will bring in approximately $4 million to the General Fund of the state of Pennsylvania, and the Lord knows we need the money.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I am not going to debate the bill, I am just glad to hear that my friend, the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, is such a connoisseur of wine.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would not claim to be a connoisseur of wine, but I am tired of drinking muddy, Pennsylvania port.

On the question, recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

NOT VOTING—1

Watkins,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1511, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article nine section one of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to exempt blind paraplegic and double or quadruple amputee veterans from the payment of personal and property taxes.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I hesitate to rise in opposition to this Joint Resolution, but I feel I must.

This would, by constitutional amendment, remove from taxation of any kind on a state or local level blind persons and other persons who have lost limbs as a result of being in the service of the country.

I think it would be much wiser not to pass this bill and to have a new one drafted which would allow the Legislature to enact laws relieving these people from taxation.

I repeat, Mr. Speaker, I think this is an unwise Resolution to pass. If the Legislature were by this Resolution authorized to make laws exempting certain persons from taxation, something we cannot now do for the reasons set forth in this Resolution. I think we would be taking a step in the right direction. I refuse to let my sympathies—and my sympathies are certainly in favor of the people involved in this Resolution—I refuse to let those sympathies blind what I consider my good sense.

I can conceive of some persons who are blind or who have been subject to the loss of limbs, and so forth, having great amounts of wealth. It is easy to conceive that a person who is blind or who has lost a leg might be worth a half million dollars; he mights have a $50,000 home. For us to say by a Constitutional amendment that that person should be completely beyond taxation, to me does not make sense. There are many instances where we could, by legislation, relieve these people, but this is not the way in my opinion.

I think this Joint Resolution should be voted down.

Mr. GEER. Mr. Speaker, I have approached this thing in just about the same way that the gentleman from Berks Mr. Readinger, has.

In addition I would like to point out that I think it is getting very, very specific in our Constitution to put a thing such as that in it. It really is writing that one would ordinarily see in a statue, and it is going pretty far to put it into the fundamental law.

I agree there should be some Constitutional permission to allow the Legislature to permit such discrimination in regard to tax obligations.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Municipal Corporations.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection,

House Bill No. 1530, Printer's No. 500, was passed over at the request of the Speaker.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1535, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 905) entitled "An act for the protection of the public safety regulating the use of highways and the operation of vehicles tractors street cars trackless trolley omnibuses bicycles pedestrians and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth providing for the titling including liens encumbrances and legal claims registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof upon payment of prescribed fees prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue the Department of Highways peace officers mayors burgesses magistrates aldermen justices of the peace the courts and the clerks thereof owners of vehicles and garage keepers providing that records are admissible as evidence imposing upon owners counties cities boroughs incorporated towns townships within the Commonwealth liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles imposing penalties imposing certain costs upon counties providing for the disposition of fines forfeitures fees and miscellaneous receipts making an appropriation and providing for refunds" by further regulating the issuance of an operator's license.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. GUTHRIE. Mr. Speaker, at the request of the sponsor I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Motor Vehicles.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1537, as follows:

An Act to further amend Subsection (b) of Section 2511.1 of the act approved the tenth day of March one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 30) entitled "An act relating to the public school system including certain provisions applicable as well to private and parochial schools amending revising consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto" by providing for the approval by the Department of Public Instruction of leases heretofore entered into by school districts with Municipality Authorities and nonprofit corporations prescribing the powers of the department as to such leases and the payment of reimbursement moneys to the school district and validating certain leases and approvals heretofore made

Section 1 Subsection (b) of Section 2511.1 of the act approved the tenth day of March one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 30) entitled "An act relating to the public school system including certain provisions applicable as well to private and parochial schools amending revising consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto" as amended by the act approved the twenty-first day of January one thousand nine hundred fifty-two (P. L. 2195) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 2511.1 Payments on Account of Obligations to State Public School Building Authority and on Account of Rentals Payable to Municipality Authorities and Non-profit Corporations

* * * * *

(b) The Commonwealth shall also pay commencing with the school year one thousand nine hundred fifty-one one thousand nine hundred fifty-two (1951-1952) and annually in each school year thereafter to each school district which shall have entered into an approved lease with a municipality authority or with a non-profit corporation for the rental of a school building or buildings or providing education equipment an amount to be determined (1) by multiplying the school district's standard reimbursement fraction by fifty one-hundredths (50-100) and by the rental or share thereof paid by the school district during the prior school year under its [leave] lease with such municipality authority or non-profit corporation or (2) if the district's standard reimbursement fraction is greater than five thousand nine hundred ninety-nine ten-thousandths (.5999) by multiplying the standard reimbursement fraction by itself and by the annual rental or share thereof paid by the school district during the prior school year under its lease with such municipality authority or non-profit corporation No payment shall be made to any school district on account of any lease entered into with any municipality authority or non-profit corporation unless such lease is approved by the Department of Public Instruction [The] Except as hereinafter provided the Department of Public Instruction shall give its approval to any lease heretofore or hereafter entered into if it shall find that the leased project is in conformance with general county and State plans for an orderly development of improved attendance areas and administrative units and for the improved housing of public schools in the Commonwealth that the school building will conform with standards and regulations prescribed by the department with respect to educational design location usefulness for community activities safety comfort and convenience and that the school district or school districts to which the project is to be leased will have the ability to meet from current revenues the rental or their respective shares of rental to be paid to the municipality authority or non-profit corporation under the proposed lease and to defray the cost of their respective shares of the cost of operation and maintenance of the project The department shall have the right to disapprove or approve with reservations a lease because of any failure on the part of the Authority or school district to comply with the provisions of the laws of the Commonwealth relating to such Authority or school district only to such extent as will prevent the school district from paying a greater sum as rental because of such noncompliance with law For that purpose the department may require a modification of the lease if not at that time executed or may approve the lease with the reservation that the department will pay the reimbursement on that amount only which would have been determined by reason of the lower rental.

Section 2 In all cases where leases referred to in this act have been entered into by any school district with a Municipality Authority or non-profit corporation and approved by the Department of Public Instruction prior to the effective date of this act such leases and the approvals thereof are hereby ratified and made valid to the same extent as if they had been entered into and approved subsequent to the effective date of this act

Section 3 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SARRAF. Mr. Speaker, this is a chiropractic bill, and the medical profession is one hundred percent for it if the Board of Chiropractics wishes to have this particular legislation passed.

It is evidently one of their own ideas, and we are glad to go along with them. Although I personally feel that it may be injurious, I am going to vote for the bill because the Board insists upon it and needs it.

I would ask the Membership to vote "aye" on this bill.

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 9 Powers of an Authority An Authority shall constitute a public body corporate and politic exercising public powers of the Commonwealth as an agency thereof which powers shall include all powers necessary or appropriate to carry out and effectuate the purposes and provisions of this act including the following powers in addition to those herein otherwise granted

Section 3 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, may I ask someone familiar with this bill to explain exactly what it does?

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Centre desire to answer the gentleman's question?

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, the reason I will try to reply to the gentleman is because this bill came from my committee, and it was the judgment of the committee that it was perfectly all right.

It is a validating act in which the Redevelopment Authority, which I believe took over the blighted area in the triangle section of Pittsburgh, if I am not correct on that particular location perhaps some one from Pittsburgh can correct me.

In the purchase by the Redevelopment Authority, in the purchase of the land they took more land than they actually bought. Then the development was taken over, or was sold by the Authority to a private interest, to an insurance company, which developed the real estate.

Now they find that that development, some of it, is on land that the Authority did not own, but had been deeded from the Authority to the insurance company.

I suppose it will be a question to get the titles straightened out with the particular owners, but where the Redevelopment Authority enters in, is in the nature of a quit claim deed. In other words they deeded something they did not own. Yet they must now give a quit claim deed for it.

I think it is perfectly all right. It passed the Senate forty-eight to nothing, if that means anything to the House. I think it is perfectly legitimate and perfectly all right.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

NOT VOTING—1

Watkins,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House of Representatives has passed the same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 632, as follows:

An Act authorizing minors to open and maintain bank accounts and fixing the rights and duties of minors the minors' parents or guardians and the depository bank with respect thereto

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Any minor may open and maintain a bank account in any bank bank and trust company national bank savings bank trust company or private bank and make deposits therein in his name and any such institution is authorized to accept such deposits and shall pay the same and any interest thereon to any such minor who is fourteen years or more of age without the assent of his parent or guardian and without any liability or obligation with respect thereto other than the ordinary liability or obligation to a depositor who is of full age All actions of any such minor with repsect to any such account the deposits therein or the withdrawals there from shall be binding upon such minor with like effect as if such minor were of full age The parent or guardian of such minor shall not in his capacity as parent or guardian have the power or right to attach or interfere in any other manner whatsoever with such account the deposits therein or the withdrawals therefrom except when the minor is under the age of fourteen years the parent or guardian shall have the right to give or withhold assent for withdrawals from the account

Section 2 All acts and parts of acts are hereby repealed in so far as they are inconsistent with the provisions of this act

Section 3 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GLICK. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny who has some information about this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. COOPER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GLICK. Mr. Speaker, under the provisions of this bill with reference to minors who are fourteen years of age or more, does that mean for the purposes of this type of legislation that minors over fourteen are emancipated?

Mr. COOPER. Mr. Speaker, I do not quite understand what the gentleman means by emancipated?

Mr. GLICK. Just for clarification, emancipation would be more or less of a technical term, meaning that they are free from the custody and control of their parents.

Mr. COOPER. The only provision this bill has is that minors over the age of fourteen may open bank accounts with banks and have specific control of those accounts for themselves.

Mr. GLICK One further question, Mr. Speaker, does that in any way affect the contractual obligations and duties of minors, or does it in any way alter the contractual laws that exist today.

Mr. COOPER. It pertains only to the bank accounts which exist in the minor's name with the bank.

Mr. GLICK. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I suggest that under this bill you could now borrow the money from your kids instead of from the bank.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TOLL. Mr. Speaker, In connection with this bill I want to call the attention of the House to opposition which has come in from several organizations which have been concerned for many years with the problem of the discharge of prisoners and their rehabilitation.

Although this bill has sponsorship on both sides, I feel that the view of these organizations should be presented before a vote is taken.

First, I want to call your attention to this pamphlet which is frequently deposited in your post office boxes called "Social Legislation" and is published by the Pennsylvania Citizens Association for Health and welfare.

In the issue of June 27th, the bill is referred to as a bill which provides that, "The Board shall release on parole"—that is the Parole Board—"at the expiration of the minimum sentence any such convicts who have had a good institutional record."

The editor of this pamphlet refers to this as an "amendment which drastically reduces the authority and discretion presently exercised by the Parole Board."

In the same connection, I call your attention to a letter from the Pennsylvania Prison Society, which operates largely from the eastern part of Pennsylvania, in which the Secretary, Edmund G. Burbank, writes on June 19th when the original bill was on the calendar in this state, with the exception of the amendment which was made the other day, that in his observation after a careful reading of the bill, "it represents a basic difference from the philosophy of the Gordon Commission in 1938 whose comprehensive and profound thinking is at the basis of the present parole law."

I am not going to read the entire letter. I am going to offer these letters for the record, but I just want to read a line or two to show you the thought that he had in mind.

> "I would hope that such a fundamental shift from prevailing thought and practice would be made only after a commission's investigations and state-wide hearings."

He is referring at the bottom of the letter to the nine

Devers bills which were just passed over by the Speaker, Senate Bill Nos. 669 to 677.

He said in this letter:

"It would be unwise to tear down the state parole system by leaving the decision to release on parole to individual institutions. It seems to me a further irony that this decentralizing move is made at the same time the Senate is considering legislation to centralize the administration in accordance with the recommendations of the Devers report."

The Devers Report Senate Bills 669 to 677, were passed by the Senate practically unanimously and are now on third reading which were passed over, I guess, until tomorrow.

I also have here a letter dated June 22, 1953, from Ralph C. Busser, one of the outstanding criminologists in the state of Pennsylvania who says:

"My opposition is based on the philosophy behind this bill, which would limit the power of the Parole Board and put the Warden and his staff in a position to determine a man's parole ability.

I am firmly of the belief that centralization is essential. . . . To strip the Board of these powers as the bill proposes would, in my opinion be a step backwards."

I am not going to read a long letter which is dated June 29th addressed to the Honorable Paul F. Jones and signed by Leon T. Stern, Director of the Philadelphia Advisory Commission on Commitments, Detention and Discharge of Prisoners.

This bill was recently amended to apply only to first offenders and not second and third offenders.

I have a letter dated July 10th which is directed to the last amendment and which calls attention to the fact that 50 percent of the men in state prisons are first offenders, and, Mr. Stern is still opposed to the bill because he feels it is a step backward and would seriously cripple the spendid Pennsylvania state parole service which is cited throughout the country as an example of what a parole service should be.

I am going to ask the Speaker if he will permit that a letter dated June 19th, 1953, a letter dated June 22nd, 1953, and a letter dated June 29th, 1953, and a letter dated July 10th, 1953, be spread upon the record, otherwise I will be obliged to read them.

The SPEAKER. Without objection, the gentleman's remarks will be extended upon the record. The Chair hears none.

(Extended remarks of Mr Toll).

June 19, 1953

Hon. Herman Toll
1420 Walnut Street
Philadelphia 2, Pa

Dear Mr. Toll:

My attention has been drawn to House Bill 168 introduced by Mr. Vaughan, February 9, 1953 and amended by Mr. Paul F. Jones. June 9, 1953, Printer's Number 370.

It is my observation after careful reading of the bill that it represents a basic difference from the philosophy of the Gordon Commission of 1938 whose comprehensive and profound thinking is at the basis of the present parole law. Section 21, lines 12 to 19 on page 4 and lines 1 through 10 on page 5 of House Bill 168 illustrates this difference. It seems to me that this legislation requires the Parole Board to release a man from prison at the expiration of his minimum term if "such a convict has a good institutional record." It is common knowledge that a man who is a menace to himself and the Commonwealth is ofttimes prison-wise and maintains a good institutional record. As I read the proposed legislation, it leaves the final judgment on a man's parole ability to the warden and his staff. Now it may be that's what Pennsylvania wants. But I would hope that such a fundamental shift from prevailing thought and parctice would be made only after a commission's investigation and statewide hearings.

It seems ironic to me that parole, the last phase of the whole correctional process, is the sole phase yet on a statewide, uniform basis. It is the belief of Prison Society that much of the discontent with parole is a direct result of failure to integrate the other parts of the correctional system by introducing a modern correctional program in every institution in the state. It would be unwise to tear down the state parole system by leaving the decision to release on parole to individual institutions. It seems to me a further irony that this decentralizing move is made at the same time the Senate is considering legislation to centralize the administration in accordance with the recommendations of the Devers Report.

You are already familiar with my opposition to the provision on page 7, lines 14 and 15 eliminating the sponsorship requirement, for I was granted the courtesy of a hearing before the Judiciary Committee and I spoke to that point.

I bring this matter to your attention, Sir, in the hope that you and your colleagues will wish to reconsider very carefully the wisdom of this piece of legislation.

Very sincerely yours.

Dear Mr. Toll:

I am opposed to House Bill 168 which was introduced by Mr. Vaughan February 9, 1953, and amended by Mr. Jones June 9, 1953, Printer's Nunber 370.

My opposition is based on the philosophy behind this bill, which would limit the power of the Parole Board and put the Warden and his staff in a position to determine a man's parole ability.

This decentralization move is completely at odds with the centralization program proposed by the Devers Committee and implemented by nine bills introduced within the last ten days into the Senate.

I am firmly of the belief that centralization is essential if we are to have a sound penal administration in Pennsylvania. A vital part of such administration is the Parole Board with the powers it now has. To strip the Board of these powers as the bill proposes, would in my opinion be a step backward.

Your interest in this vital problem will be very much appreciated.

Very truly yours,

Hon. Paul F. Jones, Representative
Pennsylvania Houes of Representatives
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania

My dear Representative Jones:

I am writing to you in reference to the House Bill No. 168, Printers No. 370, introduced by Mr. John J. Vaughan. Those of us who have been long conversant with the parole field feel it is an undesirable and unnecessary measure. I wrote to you as one who has participated in many changes which have occurred in the parole set-up of Pennsylvania. This connection goes as far back as 1928, when I made a report on parole for the Parole Commission appointed by the General Assembly and headed by Charles Edward Fox of Philadelphia. I also made a study for the parole Commission headed by Attorney General Margiotti in Governor Earle's administration and testified before the Commission headed by Judge James Gay Gordon of Philadelphia in the next year. As a result of the activities in the years 1928 to 1941, the Pennsylvania Board of Parole was finally established.

As a result of the recommendations of the two Commissions of 1941, an independent parole board was established, free of all entanglements, and with power to set up a state parole system honestly and impartially. The new system has maintained a relationship between the institutions and the paroling authorities and has also conducted a helpful liaisson with the Pardon Board in the commutation of sentences.

May I draw your attention to the fact that the Parole Board is bound by the act of 1913 which forbids holding a man in prison for want of a sponsor. The act provides as follows: "Section 1. From and after the passage of this act, no prisoner, who has been sentenced to a minimum and maximum imprisonment after such prisoner has served the minimum sentence, shall be detained in any penal institution because of the inability of such prisoner to procure a sponsor who shall be satisfactory to the board of inspectors or trustees of such penal institution; and that, in any case in which such prisoner shall be unable to secure such satisfactory sponsor, the board of inspectors or trustees of such penal institution may procure a sponsor for such a prisoner, or may require reports from such parole prisoner in lieu of a sponsor, as the board of inspectors or trustees may see proper. Section 2. All acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed."—Act of May 28, 1913, P. L. 363.

When the Parole Board was established in 1942, this act was not repealed and therefore it is binding upon the Parole Board which inherited the responsibilities of the Boards of Prison Inspectors and trustees of the penal institutions. No prisoner can be retained in prison for lack of a sponsor.

Sponsors, which are often appointed, are citizen guides in helping the parolee to make contacts in the community. They are found either by the individual prospective parolee, by the Parole Board, or by private organizations. They are most helpful in the rehabilitation of individuals. Their action and appointment is purely voluntary. They aid the parole officers and help men find homes and get jobs for men.

The fine record of the Parole Board in its investigatory work in getting information about the offenders background, his previous crime record, his experience not only in the institution in which he was last incarcerated, but his behavior in other institutions where he may have been an inmate, gives a valuable composite picture to be used for the protection of the citizens of Pennsylvania. We need only to turn to the reports of the Parole Board which show us a low rate of recidivism of repetition of offenses by men on parole to understand the value of the splendid work of the Pennsylvania Board of Parole.

We know that the State Assembly is a thoughtful body of citizens who wish to consider all aspects of this problem and not take action that will seriously effect not only the parolees released from prison, but all the citizens of the State. For it is a striking fact that every prison empties itself in ten years and that most of the men released from these prisons are on parole. That means that parole plays a universal part in our administration of crimmal justice and that the power of parole should be in the hands of a group of the highest standing of the highest caliber.

I hope very much indeed, that you will agree with this point of view and oppose the placing of parole in the hands of the wardens and their staffs who do not have the responsibility to the rest of us which the Parole Board has been given by citizens directly and has so ably carried out.

Sincerely,

LEON T. STERN, Director

Herman Toll, Esq.
Representative, Pa. State Legislature

My dear Mr. Toll:

I understand that the bill concerning parole is being amended to provide that first offender may be released on his minimum based on his record in the institution. I think this would be very bad indeed.

The whole conception of parole is that the Parole Service should not be hampered in its work by having any one group get preference. If first offenders are given preference, that means many offenders will be released without the investigational work and consideration of the Parole Board. Many first offenders indeed require much more attention than some repeaters that have often been bad actors and undesirable citizens. Fifty per cent of the men in State Prison are first offenders.

The fact that a man is a first offender, therefore, does not mean that the Parole Board should not exercise its prerogative of studying the case before liberation. The institution judgment should not be the sole judgment. There are many other factors besides conformity to institutional rules that should go into the consideration. There are the questions of the man's personality, his mental makeup, the sort of home he has, and his ability to work in the community, and his associates.

A man does not make himself fit for return in the community by automatically serving a portion of his sentence as would be the case if he were released at his minimum. The effect of the prison experience of a man should be a matter of judgment based on study and investigation, not only by the institutional authorities, who usually do not have the staff for the purpose, but by the Parole Board which employes seasoned experts and investigators to judge the eligibility and always considers institutional record.

We have long discarded the idea that a man should be released on his minimum and on his institutional record alone. We have minimum and maximum sentences because we never know when a man is ready for release until we consider all factors. I am sure this would be a step backward and would seriously cripple the splended Pennsylvania State Parole Service which is cited throughout the country as an example of what a parole service should be.

I am enclosing three copies of this letter for you to use for Mr. Jones, Mr. Vaughan and Mr. Readinger.

Sincerely yours,

LEON T. STERN, Director
Philadelphia Advisory Commission
On Commitment Detention and Discharge of Prisoners

LTS: dap

Mr. TOLL. Mr. Speaker, therefore, in view of the summary which I gave you as to the views of these gentlemen who are concerned with the parole system, you are asked to follow the suggestions of the Bureaus and Commissions and vote against the bill.

Mr. PAUL F. JONES. Mr. Speaker, House Bill 168 presents a very simple proposition. I think it is significant at the outset to state to you that there has been a minimum of opposition to this bill which has been brought to my attention.

My colleague from Philadelphia, Mr. Toll, has read into the record certain communications which have come to him. I might say to you frankly it is my opinion they came to him because there exists in the City of Philadelphia a community fund sponsored agency that has for its program the sponsorship of men who have been released from this institution, and who fear that the passage of this bill might reduce somewhat the importance of that particular organization, that situation is not necessarily true.

The bill simply does this. A sentencing judge gives a prisoner a term of from three to six years for a particular offense. That means that if that man enters the institution, obeys the laws, violates none of the rules of the institution, satisfies the authorities in that institution that he has made a successful adjustment, that man, as a matter of record and in accordance with the opinion of the sentencing judge, has the right after he has served his minimum to be released on parole.

Mr. Toll seems to suggest that the moment a man enters an institution he automatically comes under the supervision of the Parole Board. This is not the case at all. The only time the Parole Board or the parole authorities come into the question or have anything to do with the release of an inmate of an institution is after his release. They do not set up any rules that he must follow in the institution. They do not supervise his rehabilitation while there. The only time they come under the supervision of the Parole Board is after their release.

The judges of Allegheny County have asked us to reconsider this bill. If you will remember, it was out once with just the provision of doing away with sponsorship. The bill in its present form now retains sponsorship if they can be found.

A man who has a good record, if he cannot obtain a sponsor, there is no reason why he should be kept in the institution. We want him released: we want him to come under the supervision of the Parole Board so that they can determine whether or not that man has made the adjustment and whether or not he has the supervision on the outside that he could not get from the Parole Board while he was in the institution.

We permitted the bill to remain on the calendar for many, many days in an effort to satisfy all opposition, and I was afraid there might be some suspicion raised in somebody's mind that there was something drastically wrong with this bill.

It is very simple, fundamental proposition. We put a man in jail because he has violated the law. That is the reason he is there. This bill says to him, "All right, after you are in the institution, if you make an adjustment, if you obey the rules of the institution, if you become a model prisoner after you have served your minimum, you are permitted to come out, after which time you will be under the supervision of our Parole Board." There is nothing wrong with that.

On the other hand, the opposition seems to suggest that by keeping a man there longer, that in itself is the answer to the problem. This does not answer the problem. Remaining in the institution does not do him any good. The parole authorities have no supervision over him while he is there. They can only supervise a man after he is released.

What we are trying to do here very, very simply is to reward those prisoners who do effect a rehabilitation and have demonstrated that they are able to return to a productive life on the outside. We say to them that if they cannot find a sponsor, the state parole system gives them a sponsor in the nature of the parole officer to whom they are answerable. "If you have another friend who is willing to sponsor you, willing to give you a job, well and good; but if you have been a good prisoner, if you have obeyed the laws of the institution, if you have made your adjustment, the judge wants you out in three years."

If that is not the intent of the judge, the court of original jurisdiction so to speak, all the judge has to do is to say to the man, not three to six, but six years flat, and he would stay there.

The situation is not as Mr. Toll suggests. I have pointed out to you before, and for the sake of emphasis I want to repeat it, the only time that an inmate comes under the supervision of the parole authorities is after his release.

What happens to a man who gets six years flat? He does not come under the supervision of anybody. The parole authorities have no interest in him at all, but the man who has been a model prisoner has to stay there whether or no until the Parole Board finds him a sponsor and decides that he is to be let out.

I say to you, in view of the things that have happened in our institutions this will demonstrate to the men who have been confined there that in the judgment of the Members of the Legislature we are putting a premium on those men who make an honest effort to rehabilitate themselves who while confined to the institution, obeyed the rules and who have been model prisoners. We say to them that as a matter of right you are entitled to get out after you have done your minimum.

I ask you ladies and gentlemen to vote for this bill. It is a constructive piece of legislature. Criticism on it has been at a minimum. It represents the sober thought of our judges in Allegheny County. Unlike Philadelphia, we do not have a community sponsored organization over there that will furnish sponsorship to these inmates as they are released from the institution. We have to go out and beg for them.

I can say to you, if you will pardon the personal reference as I said in our Committee, when I fail to find a sponsor for a man that I have represented and been responsible in a measure for his being in an institution, there have been numerous instances where I have served as his sponsor myself and I am still serving. I say to you that if that man had not convinced the institution, the authorities there who supervised him day to day during the period of his confinement, if they had said that that man was not ready to come out, he in all probability would have had a record there that would have been so bad that the Parole Board would not pass on it. That is the same situation here in this bill. If a man does not have a good institutional record, he is not entitled to be released.

Now for the second offenders we put that in. We might have a fellow who by character and by inherent nature is just a criminal and ought to stay in the institution for the proteceion of society. He cannot get out if he has been a previous violator and if he has been a second offender. All of that was taken into consideration by the judge when he put him there. If the judge wanted him to do from three to six years, I think we ought to leave the door open so that when he has done those three years, has built up a record there, has made the adjustment, as a matter of right he ought to be entitled to his freedom.

I ask you to go along and vote for this bill.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker. I merely rise to concur in the remarks of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Jones. Also to advise the House that a public hearing was had on this bill.

The work of the various organizations in Philadelphia is very commendable. This bill in no way is in derogation of the good work they have done and which they are doing.

It is found however, in certain areas of the state to which they do not reach their services. I certainly want to concur with Mr. Jones, that if a man has rehabilitated himself, I cannot see any good reason why he should continue to be retained in the penitentiary just because he cannot find a sponsor.

By inference the Devers report indicates that some of the troubles that arose in our prison riots came from men who were in institutions, who were unable to find sponsors, and who are still retained in the penitentiary for that reason.

Therefore I think this is a good bill, a good humanitarian bill for those who have rehabilitated themselves.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. FILO asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, from today's Evening News I would like to read an article as follows:

DOG LICENSING DRIVE STALLED.

WILLIAMSPORT—Dog owners are enjoying a respite from the long arm of the law that reached temporarily all the way from Harrisburg.

Several weeks ago the state sent four dog law investigators, headed by Fred Kehrli, into the county to check on dog licensing.

They reported that Lycoming County had approximately 9,000 dogs, 7,000 of which were not licensed. Then the trouble started.

Several hundred summonses were issued and many persons were fined for not obtaining dog licenses. The county treasurer's office at Williamsport looked like a land office as owners sought licenses.

Yesterday 35 hearings were scheduled before Alderman Richard H Merrell. When the state agents failed to appear, charges were dismissed.

Alderman Merrell said he would not hear cases scheduled for today or tomorrow, ending, for a while at least, the dog drive in this area.

What I want to bring out are the inequities of law enforcement throughout the state of Pennsylvania.

In Allegheny County a week, or maybe two weeks after the dog licensing law was in effect, these men came from throughout the various districts and boroughs, and I tell you those who did not have licenses were fined.

While in this article here, I think those men should be censured for not appearing before the magistrate. In my county and in my district they do appear before the magistrate, and those that violate the law are fined.

Mr. ROYER asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Highways to meet during the session of the House.
